FRENCH PROTESTANT COLLEGE,
BEDFORD, ENGLAND.
DIRECTRICE: MADAME DE MARCHOT.
In his Report for 1882, the Examiner sent by the Oxford and Cambridge Board says:—"I have examined the French Protestant College in Divinity, Latin, Euclid, Algebra, History, Geography, English Grammar, and Literature. The general results of both oral and written Examinations were highly satisfactory. I would especially commend the neatness of the writing and the correctness of the spelling in all the papers; and in the viva voce examination I was much pleased with the brightness and intelligence of the girls. The Euclid was very well done by most of the girls; the average marks in Algebra were much higher than what usually finds in boys' schools for Elementary Algebra. I am very glad that Mathematics are thus so successfully studied by the girls. I am sure it helps to make them more ready, more accurate, and more thoughtful in all their studies. The Latin shows much improvement from last year and is fair throughout. The History papers were very good, showing much mental grasp, besides a full knowledge of facts. The Grammar paper proved really too easy a test; all the girls showed a careful acquaintance with Analysis as well as Elementary Grammar. I also set a paper on Shakespeare with most satisfactory results. I am greatly pleased with the thoroughness of the work all round, and I can well judge from the appearance of the girls that they combine with their studies a due amount of recreation. I know that the College is famed for its French education, but I am glad to find that so much attention is devoted to other subjects."
The Examiner in French and German, sent by the same University Board, says:—"I am glad to report so favourably of both languages. It was really a relief, after the usual stumbling and blundering so common among boys' schools, to find such good pronunciation and such bright answering. The papers are most excellent; while everything shows great conversational acquaintance with the language. Throughout the school the goodness of the pronunciation and fluency of expression are very striking. It is rare to find such good results attained in an English school."
The List of Honours gained by the Pupils at the Cambridge Higher Examination for Women, the Oxford and Cambridge Public Schools Leaving Examination, Girton College, Cambridge Local Examination, Oxford Local Examination, Royal Academy of Music Examination, South Kensington Science and Art Examination, St. John's Ambulance Association, &c., can be had on application.

THE following REPORT on RIVIERE COLLEGE, Nelson-street, Woollahra, was given by the Oculist, Dr. B. SCHWARZBACH, the members of whose family have a European reputation in scholastic matters:—
"Sydney, March 30th, 1873.
"To Professor George.
"Dear Sir,—It affords me great pleasure to express to you my appreciation of the able manner in which you combine a sound method of mental education with principles of a rational hygiene. The site of your College is, in a sanitary point of view, most favourable. The schoolrooms and dormitories are lofty and not over-crowded; in regard to ventilation and light nothing better could be wished for.
"Your arrangements and contrivances for a physical culture, which is to counteract any evil effects of mental strain, deserves to be imitated by all schools, as also the instruction in natural sciences, and especially in the laws of health. I think with pleasure of the lesson which you gave in my presence to the young ladies on a subject which has been and still is my favourite study, namely, 'The Eyesight.'
"The method of tuition which I recognised during my visit at Riviere College is such as has been recommended and adopted by the best educational authorities in Germany, &c., &c.

COAL BAGS, of superior quality, for SALE. A. ROBERTS, 505, Kent-street, near Bathurst-street.

TO ECONOMICAL HOUSEWIVES.—Your Grocer can purchase inferior Soaps 8s a hundredweight less than he can buy Allen's No. 1 Crown Soap, and he charges for them the same price per bar. He reaps the benefit and you pay for it. You lose 8s a box, your clothes last no time, and their colours are destroyed by the adulteration. To avoid all this see that your bar of soap is stamped "ALLEN'S No. 1 Crown."

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS.
Correspondence is solicited by the undersigned with regard to the introduction of their publications in Australia.
This is an opportunity for a trustworthy Australian house, whose exclusive business is to sell books through canvassing agents, to secure the exclusive control of the sale in Australia of a line of books of great merit and fast-selling qualities.
We wish to communicate with parties who are established in the business, and whose facilities could enable them to push the sale of a book with vigour.
The most liberal discounts will be allowed.
We publish a large line of Bibles, in many varieties of bindings, and with superb illustrations, that are superior to any English Bibles published, in point of excellence of material used and mechanical execution, at far lower prices.
We are also the most extensive manufacturers of PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS in AMERICA.

WHETHER YOU LIVE in SYDNEY or SUBURBS or COUNTRY, you cannot find a more ECONOMICAL ESTABLISHMENT to LAY OUT YOUR MONEY IN than HORDERNS' in PITT-STREET.
Even as Hanlan Challenges the Rowing World, so do we CHALLENGE COMPETITION in the DRAPERY and SOFT GOODS WORLD.
You can get GOOD and STYLISH THINGS at HORDERNS' in PITT-STREET.
Not only are the Articles dealt in GOOD, of REALLY STERLING QUALITY, nothing akin to Shoddy Manufactures (the importation of which is studiously avoided), But as the Pick of the Manufacturers of Europe and Great Britain are open to HOME BUYERS, you get REALLY, TRUTHFULLY, and HONESTLY, THE VERY PINK OF FASHION and MODE.
What are shown in the establishments of London, in the Creme de la Creme of Haut Ton, Regent-street, and also in the windows of La Belle Paris, are reproduced, and have their facsimiles in our importations.
Again, whereas the GREAT MANUFACTURERS often (although extremely wealthy as a rule) are very glad to see COLONIAL GOLD in preference to English or Continental Promissory Notes, Bills, and paper money, and as the former, viz., {THE SOLID, THE SOLID, THE SOLID,} is invariably our way of paying, we are enabled TO GET THE GOODS so as to sell to you at LESS PRICES than the drapers residing within five miles of the factories can sell.
A TRIUMPH CERTAIN for SOUTHERN WORLD.
15,000 AGAINST 5.
THE PROOF (however, after all said and done) OF THE PUDDING is IN THE EATING, SO COME TO-DAY, and EXAMINE, PROVE, and TRY for YOUR RESPECTIVE SELVES.
HORDERN BROTHERS, 170a, 172a, 174, 174a, 176, 176a, 178, 209, and 211, PITT-STREET, SYDNEY.
LETTERS ATTENDED TO AT ONCE, whether from the CITY, the SUBURBS, the COUNTRY, or the ADJOINING COLONIES.

THE EXTENSION OF THE Renowned CITY BOOT PALACE at the Corner of George and Market streets, SYDNEY, is COMPLETED, and JNO. HUNTER, having, at an enormous outlay, FITTED UP AND STOCKED with the CHOICEST GOODS obtainable in the world, offers the Public a Selection which no firm either London, Paris, New York, or Sydney have hitherto done, and at PRICES STARTLING FOR CHEAPNESS!
The reason of JNO. HUNTER'S Selling Cheaper than others in the BOOT TRADE is his Buying his GOODS FOR CASH. Hence the SUCCESS of the RENOWNED CITY BOOT PALACE.
Ladies will do well to visit the NEW EXTENSION.
Special Departments have been fitted up for their COMFORT and CONVENIENCE.
Remember, all Goods Marked in PLAIN FIGURES.

These proprietors have agreed to dispose of the lease of Block K 921, consisting of one million acres in one compact block (about 1562 square miles), to this company on the following terms, viz.:—They reserve 20,400 shares paid up to 7s and £4500 in payment for their interest in the lease (which includes this year's rent), and for all expenses of forming the company.

The expenses connected with the stocking and managing a cattle station are very moderate, and the proposed capital is considered ample for this purpose, while the character of the promoters will be a guarantee of the bona fides of the undertaking.

There are several valuable reports of explorers in this district, extracts from which will be found in the appendix, more especially those of the O'Donnell party, as reported in The Argus of 12th January last, describing the country to the south and east of this station to Cambridge Gulf, and their report is that the land is highly favourable for pastoral occupation, being extremely well watered and richly grassed. These reports entirely corroborate information published by the West Australian Government of the land between this station and the west coast, describing numerous large rivers flowing through this country, having rich valleys, with tropical growth of grasses, while the higher lands are lightly timbered, and a great variety of grasses suitable for grazing either cattle or sheep.

The climate is described as one of the finest in the world.

It is proposed to stock the station first with cattle, which can be driven overland from North Queensland. The directors of the Kimberley Investment Association Limited have offers at reasonable rates to purchase and drive overland the cattle and horses required. There is a well-defined track to the telegraph line and thence to the westward, within 20 or 30 miles of the station, while the men and stores can be sent round by sea from Port Darwin in a few days to Cambridge Gulf, the new Government town site (within 50 miles of eastern side of this station). There is a proposal to connect this town site by telegraph with Port Darwin, thus bringing the station within a few hours by telegraph with Melbourne. There is also a regular steam service organised by the W. A. Government between London and Perth, calling at the Kimberley and other west coast ports, and it is in contemplation to extend this line of steamers round the coast to Port Darwin, and thus connect with the Torres Straits line of steamers.

As there are no less than three harbours closely adjoining the station, all suitable for large steamers, it is confidently anticipated that as soon as stock is ready the export of fat cattle to Europe and the East will prove a lucrative trade. Cattle have been landed in good condition in London from Melbourne, while these harbours are 14 days' steaming nearer to London, avoiding the stormy passage round Cape Leeuwin.

It is proposed that as soon as the manager reports the station ready that sheep shall be sent via Torres Straits, and as already there are nearly 50,000 sheep in Kimberley reported as thriving well, there can be no doubt this will prove equally valuable for sheep as for cattle.

The China Company's steamers have agreed to carry sheep to Cambridge Gulf from Sydney at 9s per head.

The leases have 10 years to run, and by recent despatches from Lord Derby the home Government has sanctioned the right of present leaseholders to receive, on application, a renewal of their leases for a further term of 14 years; thus, in all, the tenure will be 24 years.

All recent advices from Western Australia show that the local Government have a desire to grant every facility to bona-fide settlers, and the Colonial Office (this being a Crown colony) have in every case ratified the concessions in favour of settlers.

The enormous wealth realised in pastoral pursuits proves the lucrative nature of the occupation when judiciously managed, and the country and climate are favourable; and this company is inaugurated on popular lines, so as to enable investors with small means to secure a share in this profitable business.

As soon as 30,000 shares are subscribed for, the company will be registered, and the shareholders will be called together to elect directors.

The present proprietors have applied for a number of shares, so that early application will be necessary.

Application for shares and prospectuses may be obtained at the office of Mr. J. C. Lloyd, 32, Queen-street; Mr. St. J. A. Biggs, the secretary of the Kimberley Investment Association, Limited, 13, Flinders-lane West; David Ham, Esq.; T. H. Thompson, Ware Copeland, Ballarat; W. F. Ducker, Geelong; Herbert Stace, Ararat; or G. Fosdyke, Echuca; Messrs. Findlay and Baynes, 7, Gresham-street, Sydney.

APPENDIX.

Extracts of Reports Published by Authority of the West Australian Government at Perth.

There are "three of the finest harbours in the world in 50 miles of coast." Georgewater:—"A magnificent harbour, with 15 fathoms water; entrance from the bay, not more than a quarter of a mile wide."

The Glenelg River is navigable for 50 miles.

Camden Harbour is another fine port, a little north. Port Frederick is the third, further north again, and river navigable within a few miles of this station.

Prince Regent's River "is a great navigable river. The land in neighbourhood of the river is most excellent, consisting of rich meadow plains."

Six or seven miles inland from Camden Harbour "a magnificent scene burst on the view—a fertile plain, broken by conical peaks and rounded hills, very richly grassed to their very summits. The plains and hills are both thinly wooded, and curving lines of shady trees mark out the course of numerous streams."

The writer says:—"Since I have visited this spot I have traversed large portions of Australia, but have seen no land, no scenery equal to it. The horses and sheep revelled in the pasture."

"From the size and number of the streams, it must be as well-watered as any region in the world. 125 degrees longitude and 16 degrees latitude the Glenelg River was quite full, and running at more than five knots an hour. The trees bordering it were of gigantic height and size. Kangaroos abounded. I could not but wonder where so great a body of water could have its source."

Ten miles further to S.E. they found "the river 250 yards wide, with elevated sandstone ranges to the eastward."

Another party in July, 1865, on the Glenelg, describe "any quantity of grass for hay can be had for cutting, and is of good quality and in such profusion all around that ships might obtain cargoes of it as quickly as it could be cut, made, and pressed into bales."

Grey found the country thence to Camden Harbour "magnificently grassed downs, gently undulating, elevated 240 feet above the sea, possessing abundance of feed and water, together with timber in far larger quantities than will be ever wanted for building and fencing purposes."

"The depot camp of the North Australian Exploration Expedition was established in longitude 127 degrees 50 min.," viz., on the opposite side of the station. It is described as a magnificently grassed country. They state—"It may be reasonably inferred that the same conditions of climate, temperature, and country will be found to exist in the intervening space of 350 miles in a W.N.W. direction to Doubtful Bay," viz., right through this station. "N.W. Australia is a grassy country—not only a great abundance of grass, but remarkable for the luxuriance and variety of the grasses, and in most instances afford excellent pasture."

REPORT OF W. F. O'DONNELL.
From the Argus, 12th January, 1884.

"I have, beyond doubt, proved that a vast area of magnificent pastoral lands exists in the hitherto unexplored portions of the Kimberley district, and as I have had considerable experience in Queensland, I can safely say that these lands will compare favourably with the best parts of that colony. It is suitable for any description of stock, horses, cattle, or sheep. I have never seen anything to approach it with regard to its waters, as we daily met with several watercourses, many of large size, and nearly all contained running springs, the whole of the country being made available thereby. With respect to the timber, I found it most suitable for all purposes, and everywhere plentiful. I made it my particular duty to look carefully for the presence of poison plants, but failed to find any. I also noticed that there were no injurious grass seeds. The animals which inhabit this country are not numerous, being chiefly kangaroos, and very few wal'aby. Native dogs are also very scarce, as we saw and heard very few during the trip. Owing to these facts, combined with the delightfully cool climate which we enjoyed, I am convinced that before long this will become a great wool-growing district. From the telegraph line (Northern Territory) we have proved that a good stock route can be made to the Ord River. The natives with whom we came in contact proved perfectly harmless. They will, no doubt, become very useful to future settlers."

This opinion of the natives is borne out by the late Henry Dariot, Esq., who has several employed on his station on the Upper Murchison.

Baron von Mueller, who with Gregory in 1855 and 1856 traversed much of Kimberley district, says:—"This country was traversed by myself personally, and I noticed the grasses, herbage, and saltbushes to be good, and the water in several places to be permanent. Poison herbs are absent. The winter season is cool, and therefore the fleece will be heavier than in the hotter regions of Australia."

TO NEWSPAPER PROPRIETORS, ENGRAVERS, AND OTHERS.

THE PATENT ENGRAVING COMPANY, Limited, (Proprietors of the Australian Graphic), having now practically demonstrated the commercial utility of their process (for which purpose the Australian Graphic was initiated), and having larger interests in other parts of the world requiring their attention and capital, invite tenders for the Purchase of the COMPANY'S PATENTS in Victoria, New South Wales, South Australia, Queensland, New Zealand, and Tasmania for the exclusive right of engraving on glass for typographical and other purposes by the Company's process, by which the Australian Graphic is entirely illustrated at less than one-fourth the cost of wood engraving, and of the AUSTRALIAN GRAPHIC. This high-class illustrated intercolonial newspaper contains seven full pages of illustrations, and has a large circulation in the Australasian colonies.

Full instructions in the use of the Company's process will be given to the purchasers, and the services of a staff of skilled artists may be obtained.

The small plant necessary for engraving, blocks, and sundries may be taken at a valuation.

Further information will be supplied on application.

Tenders for the whole or any part of the above, enclosing cheque for 5 per cent of tender, addressed to the Chairman of Directors, at the Company's Office, 30, Collins-street East, Melbourne, will be received until the 28th April, 1884.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

March 5, 1884. ROLAND WOODWARD, Secretary.

Stock, Shares, and Money.

HALF A MILLION OF MONEY.
£500,000.
TO LEND. TO LEND. TO LEND.

Many an anxious eye is cast over the advertisements of persons who advertise money to lend. Some pretend to be solicitors, others are promoters of bogus sweep swindles, and others are ashamed to advertise their names. Some style their establishments banks, and pretend to have a board of directors to govern affairs, when, in reality, the institution is run by Shylock himself, assisted by a little boy (the secretary), who receives 5s per week for his name. The cunning Israelite knows well that if his own name appeared the public would shun him.

HOME WRECKERS I HAVE KNOWN.
I have known money-lenders, when seizing furniture under a bill of sale, to remove the bedstead from beneath the corpse of the unfortunate borrower.
IN ANOTHER CASE to remove the furniture, food, and clothing, and refuse to leave their victim's FAVOURITE DOG.
A miserable father, tortured by the screams of his little children and the hysterical fits of his wife, rushed from the house in a state of semi-madness, and PLUNGED INTO THE WELL.
Space will not permit me to describe other harrowing scenes; but I trust the foregoing will be sufficient to warn the borrowing portion of our community against applying for money from some of the Shylocks who infest our city. In many instances the usurers' gross cruelty passes unnoticed by the arm of the law; but there is some satisfaction in knowing that they incur the hatred of their fellow-men.

READ ON.
I have been honoured with a commission to invest the handsome sum of FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS
at a moderate rate of interest upon the following securities, viz. Mortgages, Household Furniture, Bonded Goods, Merchandise, Jewellery, Reversionary Interests, Life Policies, Promissory Notes, or anything tangible.
MY CUSTOMERS consist of
Gentlemen of Rank, Members of Parliament, Bank Managers, Barristers, Solicitors, Doctors, Mayors, Aldermen, Architects, Auctioneers, Merchants, Military Men, Tradesmen, and others
REMEMBER
Gentlemen holding positions of trust can obtain money without security, and there are no fines and no fees. You are treated with the utmost courtesy, and the most profound secrecy is observed.

I SHALL NOT DETAIN YOU MUCH LONGER.
A gentleman obtained assistance from me last week, who informed me that his house was besieged by duns and infested by bailiffs; when he took a nap after dinner he would dream of money-lenders and the gaol; but when he entered my office he put his care where his cash ought to be—in his pocket—and wore an easy smile of happiness. He demanded the loan of Three Hundred Pounds as though he was requesting a glass of brandy and water, in fact he assumed the careless indifference of one to whom money was no object. However, at the termination of our interview, he stated that for months past he could never blow his nose without pulling out a writ along with his pocket-handkerchief. There are thousands of persons in Sydney at the present time similarly situated, who keep afloat until they have exhausted all their friends, and they find rest in a suicide's grave.

IMPORTANT TO LAND SPECULATORS.
After you have satisfied yourself that paying £3 per foot for land 100 miles from Sydney is a mistake; after you are tired of feeding a lot of hungry auctioneers; after you are convinced that the money you have squandered at land sales has only been represented by a tram ticket, a litho., and a beef sandwich, and you require a little money to satisfy the demands of the sharks who sold it, call and consult me.

CONCLUSION.
I have endeavoured to warn the borrowing portion of our community against the many dangers which surround them, and after many years' experience in the business I pretend to be an authority. Should my remarks be the means of rendering a service to my fellow-men, the object of this announcement shall have been obtained.

TO FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, SPECULATORS, and Others.
CHOICE DAIRY and AGRICULTURAL ESTATE.
WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street,
have been instructed to offer for Private SALE one of the most desirable Properties in the county of Cumberland, within 20 miles of the metropolis, and about 2 miles from Liverpool Railway Station, to which there are several trains daily, including a mid-day train, an important item to dairymen. The area is about 500 acres, of which about 150 have been cleared, stumped, and made fit for the plough, including flats fit to grow anything, the remainder being well timbered, the timber itself being worth a large sum. There is a permanent water supply from a creek, which is never dry; and the fences are all nearly new and in thorough repair. The improvements are considerable, including a newly-built and comfortable dwelling-house of four rooms with detached kitchen, galvanised iron tank, large barn, hayshed, and one 3-stall stable. Also the usual outhouses, such as man's room, cart and buggy shed, tool-house, fowlhouse, &c.
The Auctioneers would direct special attention to the above property, as it is seldom that such a desirable block comes into the market. And setting aside the value of the estate for dairy or agricultural purposes, it is certainly only a question of a few years, when (so marvellous is the growth of the suburbs of Sydney) the property can be subdivided and sold in small suburban homesteads of from one to five acres in extent, when an immense advance will be obtained upon the present money value.
A Public School adjoins the Estate on one boundary.
The Title is Torrens' Act. Terms of Sale are liberal, particulars of which, and any other information, with cards to view, can be obtained upon application to the auctioneers.
WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street.
The Farm Implements, Stock, &c., can be taken at a valuation.

CHISWICK.—For SALE or to LET, Parramatta River, full view of great boat races, close to Dr. Fortescue's, a charming Brick COTTAGE VILLA, drawing-room, bay windows, blinds, and folding-doors; dining-room, large hall, two bedrooms, bathroom, pantry, kitchen, washhouse, &c., verandah back and front, slate roof; land 56 x 200, nicely fenced in. £75 deposit, balance on Building Society terms; Torrens' title. J. Davies, Guildford, or Watkin and Watkin, Pitt-street, Sydney.

GUILDFORD.—For SALE or to LET, 5-room COTTAGE, one minute from station; £75 deposit, balance £350 on Building Society terms. J. Davies, builder, Guildford. Apply at station.

FOR SALE, PEMBROKE VILLA, Fletcher-street, Bondi. Apply on the premises.

FOR SALE, 2 COTTAGES, Summer Hill, 3 rooms, hall throughout to each; brick on stone foundation; splendid supply of water; the ground has a frontage of sixty feet by a depth of one hundred and thirty-five. This property may be purchased by paying twenty-five per cent. deposit; the balance in two years, bearing seven per cent. interest. Apply H. R. Montgomery, Missenden-road, Camperdown.

HOUSES and LAND for SALE, near station. Apply John S. Baker, Lackey-street, St. Peters.

TOXTETH PARK ESTATE,
GLEBE POINT.
THE UNSOLD PORTIONS

PRIVATE SALE.
MILLS and PILE,
130, Pitt-street.

PRIVATE SALE.—BALMAIN.—A Brick HOUSE on stone foundations, standing on land having a frontage of 30 feet to Collingwood-street, by a depth of 98 feet; would let at 13s a week. Torrens' title. Good water. Apply to MILLS and PILE, 130, Pitt-street.

FOR SALE, a FARM of 58 acres, on Bellinger River. Full particulars, apply R. Langley, 92, Sussex-street.

GLEBE POINT.—For Private SALE, in Toxteth-road, 2 new semi-detached RESIDENCES, each 7 rooms, kitchen, bathroom, washhouse, &c. For particulars apply John Waugh, Mansfield-street, Glebe Point.

WINDSORVILLE, Croydon.—Brick COTTAGE, 4 rooms, hall, kitchen, pantry, washhouse, and copper; corner LOT, 40 x 150, close to station, airy and elevated position; Torrens; terms. H. M. Deakin and Co., 130, Pitt-street.

FOR SALE, detached TERRACE, on corner piece of land, paying over 12 per cent., 6 houses, brick on stone, new, 4 rooms, washhouse, balconies, verandah, back entrance, well let, rental £187 4s, Torrens' title, £1550. W. Chader, 6, Inglewood-terrace, West-street, North shore.

CHEAP LAND. TORRENS' TITLE.
AVOCA PARK, FAIRFIELD.—A few blocks left, 120 feet by 180, vineyard soil, high ground, well timbered, close to station. £30 cash; corners, £35; or 48 monthly payments of 15s or 17s 6d. Smaller blocks at the same price, if you prefer to wait till the best are sold.
MOUNT GRANVILLE ESTATE.—The highest land in Granville, and the cheapest; 50 feet frontages to Robinson and Bligh streets; 10s a month for four years. These estates cleared and the streets properly formed. Get Marked Plan, and remember that Suburban Land bought on these easy terms is the best savings bank, as so many have proved already.
RANDOLPH NOTT.
Building Society's Offices, 313, George-street.

FOR SALE, a substantial brick-built HOUSE, on stone foundation, containing 8 rooms, outhouses, stable, and coachhouse; a bargain. No. 1, Kent-street, College-street, Newtown.

SOCIAL NOTES FROM HOME.

By ARCHIBALD FORBES.

LONDON, FEB. 22.

A lone man during most of his life, Mr. Chenery, the editor of the Times, died, regretted by a wide circle of friends. There was a great deal that was loveable about about the shy, silent man. He had no gifts or arts of popularity, but in a grave, undemonstrative fashion he was sympathetic. Nobody approached him in his capacity of editor who did not take away a pleasant memory of his genial graciousness. In a sense he died a martyr to the duty he had undertaken. A man needs to serve a novitiate while he is yet young to such a position as that of editor of the Times. Mr. Delane sat down in the editorial chair at 25. Mr. Chenery was already grey when the mantle fell upon him, and the weight of the robe slowly but surely killed him. It was abscess of the liver of which technically he died. He maintained the hard fight to the bitter end, long after his friends recognised that it were time for him to turn aside out of the weary battle. He was dining out till within a fortnight of his death, and dropping off into drowsiness between the courses. His doctors thought that to puncture the abscess would give him a chance, but he was too far gone.

Rex mortuus est; vivat Rex! But who shall be the new yielder of the thunderbolts? The announcement has just been made that Mr. G. E. Buckle succeeds to the vacancy made by Mr. Chenery's death. That the promotion goes in the regiment, to use a military phrase, is the tradition of the Times' journalistic army. But there was, as I happen to know, some intention to bring in a chief from outside, if matters could have been arranged. The ablest journalist of all the London press is just now, by all but universal assent, Mr. J. H. S. Escott, Mr. John Morley's successor in the editorship of the Fortnightly Review. Mr. Escott has a natural ambition, and the editorship of the Times is the worthiest, surely, of all crowns to a journalistic career; but there were difficulties, for Escott is a man of great independence of character, and nothing came of the attempt at negotiation. Inside the Times office four men seemed to rank almost pari passu; Mr. Stebbing, long an assistant editor and an effective leader writer, Mr. Clifford, a powerful writer and strong in politics because of his long, intelligent conversance with "galley" work, Mr. Wilson, a brilliant recruit who came to the Times from the Telegraph, and Mr. Buckle, an Oxford fellow, who, not years from his alma mater, and still young—just 30—had developed great ability, and had been Mr. Chenery's most trusted lieutenant. Of the four the last is the most au fait of society; and since among the functions of the Times editor is to be a club-man and a diner-out, the promotion has been conferred upon him. There will never be a man at the head of the great journal who will have such a position as that in which the late Mr. Delane swayed his unique power. The world of public opinion has become too large to have its pulse accurately felt by actual social contact, which was the Delane method. And there is too much force of independent thought now for it to be possible that a leading article can sway or guide the sentiments of the great English communities.

There is a passage in the Queen's Book (May, '79), where she writes:—"The arrival at Balmoral to-day was most sad. Everything came before me—the dreadful anxiety about little Ernie, the sorrow about dear little May, and the anxiety about the others. And to crown all, the thought of darling Alice gone." "Alice" was Princess Alice of Hesse, her father's favourite child, and after his death, because of that, the Queen's favourite daughter also. She had died in Darmstadt in December, 1878, the victim of devotion to her children and her husband, who were all ill at one time of diphtheria in November of the same year. "Ernie," Prince Ernest, pulled through, and is now a sprightly lad of 16, the heir to the Grand Duchy of Hesse. May, her mother's youngest child, succumbed to the fell disorder; her sisters lived and recovered. It seems but yesterday that poor Princess Alice, the year after the death of the father she had nursed so assiduously, was married to Prince Louis of Hesse, and now in a few weeks her two eldest daughters, spared from the diptheria that so nearly killed them, are to be married. The eldest of the sisters, the Princess Victoria, is to marry a cousin of her own, Prince Louis of Battenberg, whose handsome face and graceful figure may be remembered in Sydney, which he visited with his two cousins the sons of the Prince of Wales. Prince Louis is himself of the house of Hesse; he is the son of the grand uncle of his bride; but he is debarred from the paternal title because his mother was not of princely blood, but the daughter of a Polish count. On her marriage she was created Princess of Battenberg, and that title descends to her children, the offspring of her union with Prince Alexander of Hesse. The young couple are to live in England, and Prince Louis has secured a pretty retired place down in the New Forest. Princess Elizabeth, the second daughter of the "darling Alice" of the Queen's book, is to make a grander marriage in a worldly sense; her husband will be the Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, the youngest son of the late Emperor, who was one of his father's aide-de-camps in the Russo-Turkish war. It is not certain yet, whether the two sisters will be married on the same day; the 15th of April is fixed for the nuptials of the elder, but it is thought likely that the religious punctilio on the part of the Russian Imperial family will have been satisfactorily settled in time to allow of the double wedding on that day. The Queen will be present, as well as all her sons and their wives, except, of course, the Connaughts, who are in India. The venerable Emperor William of Germany, of whose kin are the sisters, and both their fiances, has signified his intention to come to the wedding, as also will the Imperial Crown Prince and his wife, our English Princess Royal. A dreary, formal, wooden sort of place is Darmstadt normally; a town of straight streets, a straighter etiquette, and German humdrumery in its most prosaic phase. It will be surprised out of itself by all the state and splendour which will mark the gathering of royal and imperial people.

The Fortescue-Garmoyle breach of promise incident continues to divide conversation with General Gordon, the Bolingbroke Hospital Peasant Fair in the Albert Hall, and the collapse of the Conservative party in the vote of censure debate. Lord Garmoyle has gone to Greece, and will wander onward into Syria. The houris of that land are dark, and among them he will find no "golden heads." The trial will come on just at the very height of the London season, and the struggle for tickets of admission to the court will be unprecedented. Miss Fortescue's side have retained as leading counsel, Mr. Charles Russell, Q.C., the most brilliant advocate of the English bar—the man whose eloquence, reasoning, and determination all but obtained for O'Donnell his acquittal. The Attorney-General, Sir Henry James, has been retained for the defence—an able, vivacious, bright barrister; he is always seen to least advantage when Russell is on the other side. A Liberal in politics, Russell will not have much mercy on the Tory ex-Lord Chancellor, Lord Cairns, when that domestic strategist has told his story and the process of cross-examination follows. An affair like this always hatches a brood of mischief. One of the chickens of it is a quarrel between two very old friends, Lord Houghton and the Duke of Richmond. At one of Lady Henniker's Saturday evenings the matter was in everybody's mouth, and the Duke of Richmond took occasion to say that the Queen would not have received the "fairy" had she become Lady Garmoyle. Lord Houghton picked him up summarily. "Are we to understand, then, Duke," he asked, "that you thus speak for her Majesty on authority?" Of course the Duke had no affirmative answer to make, he would not allow himself to take back his words, and turned away in sullen wrath. It was the stupidest speech. The Queen has made personal character all but the sole criterion for permission to be presented. Miss Finney's reputation is spotless, and her family are perfectly respectable. It is not too much to say that, if she had the will, the Queen could scarcely have dared to refuse the lady the honour of appearing at a drawing-room. Such a step is not taken arbitrarily or capriciously. The rejection of an application is pregnant with the most overwhelmingly disastrous consequences to the rejected. It means social ruin. There has been in many years but a single case of the published cancellation of a presentation already made. It was a nine days' wonder.

A most sensible arrangement was inaugurated in connection with Abraham Hayward's funeral, repeated on Wednesday in regard to the remains of poor Admiral Glyn, and will probably become a custom. There is little leisure in the bustling London life, and many a man who would fain pay respect to the memory of a dead friend by going to his funeral, is deterred by the expenditure of time involved in the duty. So far on the outskirts lie the cemeteries, that if you would stand by the graveside as the coffin is lowered half a day must be sacrificed. Hayward's body was removed from his chambers to St. James' Church, where the funeral service was attended by a full congregation of the dead man's friends. This over the cortege went on to the suburban cemetery whither only the mourners and his closest intimates followed. Admiral Glyn, one of the best known and most popular men in London society, died suddenly on Saturday last. The family vault is down in a rural Devonshire graveyard, but before the remains were carried thither they were brought from Eaton Square to Kensington Parish Church, and rested there while a choral funeral service was performed. Among the mourners was the Prince of Wales, who learnt of what sterling nature was the deceased officer, when Captain Glyn commanded the Serapis, the ship in which H.R.H. visited India.

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES AT ATHENS.

(From the Spectator.)

The first bulletin of the School of Classical Studies at Athens has just been issued by the Archæological Institute of America, and consists of the report of Professor W. W. Goodwin, the director. Professor Goodwin's report is an interesting account of his experiences in founding the school and managing it during the first year, and is especially valuable at the present moment, in view of the proposed establishment of an English school of the same kind. He arrived at Athens on October 1, 1882, and was much encouraged to find no fewer than eight American students already there, working with enthusiasm and ready to join the school. No furnished house was to be had, and since "Athens is a peculiarly difficult city to buy furniture in," the process of setting down was "long, perplexing, and expensive, two stoves, for instance, having to be imported from Boston." At last the school found a temporary home in the upper part of a large house near the Gate of Hadrian, in the Ὁδὸς Ἀμαλίας. Professor Goodwin is well known to possess practical powers unusual in a scholar, but it is with evident relief that he quits the subject of household articles and kitchen furniture, and gives himself rein for a moment on the more congenial topic of the historic surroundings of their new home:—"From the south windows we have a magnificent view over the rolling meadow-land stretching about three miles to Old Phaleron, and over the Saronic Gulf, in which lies the lofty island of Aegina, visible to us in its whole length; while beyond the sea we have the hills of Argolis in view, from the southern point of the peninsula to Mount Arachnaion, the memorable height from which (according to Aeschylus) Agamemnon's last signal-fire announced the capture of Troy to Clytemnestra at Argos. On the east we have a large open area of sand, in the further part of which stand the Corinthian columns of the temple of Olympian Zeus; and in the background is Mount Hymettus. On the west we see the Acropolis over the low houses of Plaka, and the eastern summit of the Parthenon is just visible above the wall."

The young institution received the most gratifying kindness on all hands. The King and Queen of Greece, the Prime Minister, the Senate, the University of Athens, the French and German schools, Dr. and Mrs. Schliemann, showed constant interest, and in many cases afforded most valuable help. The American Government recognised the school officially by appointing its director a special agent of the Bureau of Education. The report does not tell us much about the work of the students, and, of course, during the first few months this must have been more or less irregular. We are told that each student pursued an independent course of study, and indeed that no one would be accepted who was not fully competent to do this; direct teaching, as such, there was none. The general directions of the work done may be judged from the theses presented at the close of the year. These were on the Pnyx; the Erechtheum; the Life, Poems, and Language of Theocritus; the inscriptions discovered at Assos by the expedition of the Archæological Institute of America; and the value of modern Greek to the classical student. Two evenings a week were devoted to essays and discussion, after the fashion of the German Seminar, at which friends in Athens, not members of the school, were frequently present, and the allusion in the report to excursions "during the fine weather of the autumn" to various places of historic interest suggests possibilities of unlimited enjoyment.

The school is supported by the contributions of 14 colleges. For the present year, these will amount to about £700. In addition to this, it was provided in the original scheme that each of the supporting colleges should send in turn one of its professors to Athens as director of the school, paying him at least a part of his salary while away. As might have been anticipated, however, Professor Goodwin's experience leads him to the very decided opinion that this is impracticable, and that the school would suffer greatly if it were managed by a new director each year, who would be almost useless until he had learnt, like all his predecessors, much about the topography of Athens, the customs and resources of the country, and the two languages of the people. Professor Goodwin, therefore, appeals to the friends of sound classical learning for a sum of about £16,000, of which the interest would secure as permanent director "a man who can be peer of the scholars whom France and Germany have sent, and England will soon send, to Athens;" and for a further sum of about £8000, as capital for the annual expenses of the school.

The French school, says Professor Goodwin, "occupies an elegant palace on Mount Lycabetus; it has a large and costly library, and one of the best scholars of France, M. Foucart, at its head. The German school is managed by Professor Köhler, and, under his direction, work is done which commands the attention of the learned world. "The English," he adds, "have had serious plans for a school in Athens during several years; and last June I attended an important meeting which was held at Marlborough House, in London, under the presidency of the Prince of Wales, to consider the question. Twenty-five or thirty of those best known in England as scholars or statesmen, or both (including, of course, Mr. Gladstone), expressed themselves with great earnestness in favour of the immediate establishment of an English school in Athens; and since the meeting I have heard that large subscriptions have been made for this purpose. A fourth school is therefore likely to be added within a year to the national schools in Athens. The third place, I rejoice to say, has already been taken by ourselves; and I feel that our good example may have done something to stimulate the activity of our friends in England."

Professor Goodwin is enthusiastic concerning the advantages to the study and teaching of Greek letters and art to be derived from residence in the country from which these sprang, and where the priceless monuments of them still stand. "You can no more teach a dead language than you can teach a dead student," he very pithily says; and there is no other way to keep Greek alive as a real tongue than to understand and speak the Greek which is spoken to-day in the Athenian Senate, and which differs so little from what we are accustomed to call the "dead" language, that "Plato or Demosthenes, were he to return to Athens, could read the daily papers with little difficulty, except so far as he would be puzzled by modern ideas and new forms of thought." And there is no way to give life and interest to the history and antiquities of Greece one-half so good as to study them on the spot. Professor Goodwin's words on this subject afford the strongest support to the promoters of an English school. He says:—"Before you get to Sparta you will see why none of these rough stones were needed to build walls for the city; and before you leave the valley you will understand better the discipline of Lycurgus, with its iron money and its black broth, and the hardihood of Leonidas and the men of Thermopylæ. Taygetus, with its snowy peaks and its rugged cliffs, is still suggestive of wolves and of Spartan children sacrificed for the benefit of the race; and the famous hill of Ithome gives a new idea of Messenians and Helots, as we see the massive walls and steep precipices around which Sparta learnt her ten years' lesson that freedom was not meant for Dorians alone. Now, I believe that any scholar who should take in these object-lessons, with the host of others which follow them, in a rapid journey through Greece, and then make a study of the monuments of Athens herself, and of the topography of Athens and Attica, would never regret the year devoted to the pleasant work; and I believe, further, that any school or college which might hereafter employ him as its teacher of Greek would have made the best possible investment, if it had paid his expenses while he was doing it."

With those who regard the study of Greek as valuable for purposes of mental discipline only, Professor Goodwin has, of course, no sympathy; and he quotes with pardonable triumph the unanimous judgment of the Philosophical Faculty of the University of Berlin, in opposition to a different plan imposed upon them for ten years by the Minister of Public Instruction, viz., that "after long and vain search, we must always come back finally to the result of centuries of experience, that the surest instrument that can be used in training the mind of youth is given us in the study of the languages, the literature, and the works of art of classical antiquity." Professor Goodwin adds that he has no fear that this foundation of literary culture can be superseded by anything which has not yet arisen to dispute its claims.

Study of the kind that a school of classical studies at Athens would promote is needed in England certainly no less than America. A beginning has been made by the spirit which Dr. Waldstein and his fellow-workers have infused into the two Greek plays at Cambridge, and there are a number of the younger professors who are doing their best to lead students to regard grammatical study as merely the key to a door beyond which lie the objects of their search. But there is need of general conviction and unanimous action upon this point, and the establishment of facilities for English students in Greece itself would do more than anything else to bring these about. The success of our own scheme is probably assured by the efforts of the influential committee of which Mr. Escott is the secretary, and we wish Professor Goodwin and his committee a speedy and generous response to their appeals. "Why is it," he asks, "that the magnificent frieze of Pergamon now adorns the Royal Museum of Berlin, and not the Public Museum of New York, Boston, or Philadelphia?" In a matter where there is so much national honour to be obtained it ought not to be difficult to raise £24,000 from the enormous private wealth and overflowing public revenues of America. We would suggest in certain quarters that the plan affords a more legitimate employment for superfluous American capital than the buying up of Scotch deer forests or English newspapers.

OUR MELBOURNE LETTER.

MELBOURNE, APRIL 2.

At last we know the name of our next new Governor and with his name we are, for the first time, made aware of his existence. I do not think ten persons out of the million or so of our population, knew there was such a person as Sir Henry Brougham Loch until the day before yesterday. And now we are informed that he is a person of consideration: that he is a military man who has been in battles and other parts, that he is a K.C.B., a Commissioner of Woods and Forests, and for 20 years the Governor of the Isle of Man. Also that he has a literary reputation. And for the matter of this last qualification so had Sir George Bowen; but it did not help him much. Altogether, we are not enthusiastic about the successor to the Marquis of Normanby. Of course the home Government had to send us somebody, and as a dozen persons of more or less distinction have refused to come, I suppose the Government selected the first man who did not refuse. After all it does not signify very much who comes so long as we get a pleasant, gentlemanly kind of man, who will put himself at the head of society, and especially if his wife will put herself at the head of society. But, concerning the wife of Sir Henry Loch, or Sir Henry Brougham-Loch—for we are not informed if Brougham is part of a compound name or only a baptismal appellation—we have so far no intelligence as to whether she exists or not. As he is 57 years of age, the presumption is that he has a wife, perhaps a family, perhaps a large family. The subject is one of deep moment, and it is exciting considerable speculation.

Concerning the departing Governor. The death of the Duke of Albany has prevented the farewell banquet which was to have taken place last night, and so we are going to content ourselves with giving him an address "handsomely illuminated, and framed and glazed," as the newspapers have it.

With respect to the Duke of Albany, there seems to be a great deal of artificial grief. It appears to me that nobody has the courage to be candid, and to dare to say that with such a chronic condition of miserable health death must have come as a relief to the poor young man. Looked at physiologically, or, more correctly, pathologically, I cannot but think that something like a crime was committed in ever permitting the Duke of Albany to marry. These matters of pathology cannot very well be discussed in newspapers, or talked about in drawing-rooms; but men, and especially medical men discuss them freely, and comment upon them unreservedly. Perhaps it is right to sympathise with the young widow of the deceased duke, and yet, to be candid again, how many thousands of young women would be glad to be in her place at this moment.

Last week there was nothing talked of but Freemasonry. On the morning when Sir William Clarke was installed Principal Grand Master of the three constitutions, a great number of unhappy-looking gentlemen in evening dress were seen making their way to the Town Hall. Those who did not know, or did not remember that 4000 Freemasons were gathering together, took them for revellers who had kept it up late somewhere and were going home to bed. For a dress-coat, or to speak in the vulgar, a "swallowtail," has a melancholy appearance by daylight. Much sympathy has been felt for Sir William Clarke, who had to go through an installation, a banquet, and a ball, all in two days; but I suppose he has before this discovered that greatness is not unaccompanied by a good many penalties.

Perhaps nobody will ever be able to say how far the Masonic celebrations influenced the weather, but it is certain that hot weather came in with the Masonic celebrations. Perhaps, as it has not gone out with them, the conclusion may be entertained that it was only a coincidence. Coming so suddenly, after a summer of coolness, the present high temperature is trying, especially as it is accompanied by moisture. The air is sultry, and the sensation it occasions is that of mugginess, or, to use a North-of-England term, "clagginess." But as it has just this moment commenced to rain, we may expect a fall in the temperature, and perhaps, next week, we shall take to fires. It may be owing to thermometric reasons that, during the last few days, the savage instincts of the savage section of society have become very active, and that furious assaults on the police have taken place. And a strangely daring robbery with violence in the most public of our thoroughfares, and almost in daylight, has been added to the list of outrages. This, the latest of the criminal acts of which every day there is a list but too long, has caused a good deal of consternation. For, very naturally, the question is asked, who is safe? The singular impudence of this robbery is not the least of its peculiarities.

Another illustration of the present epidemic of crime has been afforded by the robbery of a poor old woman who keeps the little fruit shop near the Botanical Gardens bridge. A young scoundrel, in broad daylight, entered the old woman's shop, closed the door, and presenting a pistol to the woman demanded what she had, and got it; but within a few minutes afterwards he was in the hands of the police, so that there is no doubt as to what his fate will be.

And there have been two infanticides, both cases of an atrocious kind, and, as usual, there is not the smallest clue leading to the perpetrators of the murders. There never is any clue. Some time ago, when the Infants Asylum was founded, it was hoped that infanticide would be lessened. And so it was for a while; but the condition imposed was that the mother as well as the child should go into the institution, and this has been found to be exacting. It is easier to kill the children and drop them in byways or on vacant places than to let them live and bring them up honestly. These are the mothers who boast that they prefer the wet-nurse business, because the pay is double, and the work nominal as compared with other forms of domestic service. I have been told by resident surgeons of the Lying-in Hospital that such women, single women, have been inmates of that charity as many as five times. And it is these young persons for whose protection a number of extremely well-meaning philanthropists are preparing a bill to be introduced during the next session of Parliament; which bill, like Touchstone's ill-roasted egg, is all on one side, providing punishment for the men and tender solicitude for the women.

The police court dealt with upwards of 80 cases on Monday, many of them being outrages of the most violent kind, enough to discourage the most hopeful believer in the melioration of the human race.

With respect to the Brighton murder, the present interest consists in the quarrels of three medical men concerned in it. One of them, the surgeon who was first called in, says the man's death was accelerated by the exhausting nature of the interview during the taking of the dying depositions; and the other, a justice of the peace, insinuates that if proper surgical treatment had been adopted at first, the man need not have died. It may be expected, therefore, that when the case comes on for trial the medical testimony will be conflicting, and the remarks both of Judge and counsel will be on the frosty side of complimentary.

Opinions appear to be conflicting as to the condition of our "army." Its officers declare it to be growing rapidly. Other people say it is not growing, save in the element of officers, and therein it is abundant. Artemus Ward used to tell of a regiment which was all officers, and really there seems to be no valid objection to an army of this kind. It would be easy to call a man a captain as to call him a private, and it would sound ever so much better; and if he liked to buy himself resplendent uniform suitable to the title, why should he not? A good deal of life is made up of small vanities, and if the vanities hurt nobody there is no reason why they should not be gratified. So that if they should begin at captain and go up to Field-Marshal, I for my part can see no sort of objection. And I think there would be no difficulty in obtaining recruits, if they became captains the moment they were enrolled.

Another present trouble in the army is the difficulty of Dr. Beaney and Mr. Sargood retaining their seats in the Council, they being salaried military officers. To be sure, the salary is not large, and it would be easy for them to forego it, but it seems that they may not do so; and to resign altogether and give up their beautiful uniforms, which supplies them with such an advantage over their civilian fellow-citizens on public occasions, is not to be thought of. Altogether, the situation is embarrassing.

AT all hazards I mean to obtain one at least of those lovely railway frontage quarter-acre lots in Tanner's Grant, to be sold at the upset price of £13. This afternoon, at 2 p.m., at the rooms of Batt, Rodd, and Purves, 105, Pitt-street. Free deeds supplied, easiest of terms, no interest.—[ADVT.]

NOTES IN INDIA.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, MARCH.

No visitor to India should leave without making a tour through one at least of the country districts of this wonderful old empire—the mother of the Eastern nations. It is not by remaining in the cities, where European enterprise has called into existence factories, wharfs, docks, and stately warehouses, that any adequate notion can be formed of the material wealth or the social and industrial progress of the Indian people. When nations now dominating the world were unborn India was great and powerful, and magnificent monuments of her former proud position are scattered everywhere over the country, many of them giving evidence of a civilisation so ancient that their history is lost in the shadowy mists of antiquity. The archæologist and antiquarian find a vast and inexhaustible field of research, while travellers of every grade—including that essentially modern specimen of the genus, the "globe trotter"—will find every step taken replete with interest. That India was at one time the mistress of the East, and that, like all great nations, she suffered decadence, will be readily admitted; but that she is fast assuming her former position is also evident. British rule is everywhere apparent, and under its beneficent sway India will rise to a higher degree of wealth and power than she knew even in her most palmy days. Railways and canals now intersect the country in every direction, and other works of public utility are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The internal resources of the empire are being opened up and developed in a manner hitherto unparalleled in the drowsy East, and the increased power of production has been so marked in consequence that even in native States, where the utmost conservatism and hatred of any modern innovation prevails, new lines are being surveyed, and many are actually in course of construction. In 1870 only 4586 miles were open for traffic, but now there are 10,300 actually open, and over 1000 miles more will be added before the close of the present year. Journeys that nine or ten years ago could only be undertaken at great expense and discomfort, extending over three or four weeks, can now be performed in a few hours, and with a degree of comfort unknown even in Australia. The superb marble palaces and tombs of the great moguls and emperors, the rock-cut temples and caves of the Buddhists, many of which still stand fresh and intact in the north-west of India, were formerly beyond the reach of most strangers, but now they are almost as accessible as the Blue Mountains are to the people of Sydney. The great battlegrounds of past ages, the scenes of the early victories of Wellesley and Clive, where were laid the foundations of British supremacy, and the mournful relics of the Indian Mutiny, are all within easy reach of the capital cities of the Empire. It is only by undertaking journeys into the country that justice can be done either to India or to her people, and where a tour can be made to include a visit to one or more of the native States not actually under British government, the experience gained is likely to be of considerably increased value. The vastness of the empire may be computed when it is mentioned that notwithstanding the decimation of the population during the recent famine the number of persons under direct British rule in India has been lately returned at 203 millions, while 53 millions are living in the native States under their own kings and princes. In the districts given over to cultivation the population is very dense, reaching in some districts to over 450 per square mile. There are 45 towns of over 50,000 inhabitants, and Calcutta and Bombay have each a population of about a million. Out of this enormous mass less than a million are Christians, and of the 144 millions of Hindoos who form the great bulk of the population in the British States nearly 110 millions belong to the humblest castes, far below the haughty Brahmins and Buddhists, who number in the aggregate some 13 millions. In dealing with the population of India, which includes, in addition to the Hindoos, 45 millions of Mahommedans and a great number of Arabs, Persians, Armenians, Chinese, Malays, Turks, Beluchees, Afghans, and Siamese, the British Government has undertaken a difficult task, but the gigantic works undertaken for the amelioration of the people throughout the empire has done more to ensure the stability of our rule than winning a score of pitched battles. The money formerly wrung out of the unfortunate down-trodden natives by their greedy, unscrupulous rulers, and expended on gorgeous palaces and barbaric display, is now obtained by milder means, and applied to the construction of railways and canals, the formation of roads, and the establishment of schools and hospitals. The fear of famines can, perhaps, never be wholly dissipated in such a country as India; but the wisdom of such preventive measures as those adopted by the Government of India will be readily recognised, and certainly the native population has much to be thankful for. The dishonest, avaricious rule of the native emperors and kings of India reduced her people to the lowest and most abject condition, and, attacked on all sides by robbers and plunderers of every description, it is hardly to be wondered at that she should have dropped far behind in the march of progress. The splendid tombs and temples of marble erected in the midst of squalor and poverty still remain; but sublimely beautiful as many of them are, they cannot compare with the wonderful sight presented by the divergence of the Ganges into broad, rapid, flowing canals, carrying the waters of that sacred stream for hundreds of miles, and distributing the life-giving element over sun-dried fields and plains, supporting population and giving fertility where they were unknown before.

The north-west provinces afford what may be fairly termed the grand tour of India. By travelling leisurely, a month will suffice to travel right across from Calcutta to Kurrachee, on the head of the Arabian Sea, and to see en route the historical cities of Benares, Cawnpore, Lucknow, Agra, Delhi, and Umritsur, and possibly Peshawur, the last railway city in British territory. Simla might also be taken on the same journey, but, beyond its being the seat of government for eight months in the year, the latter has little to recommend it. The train leaves Hourah station at 9 p.m. daily, and, as sleeping-cars are not provided, much discomfort is occasionally experienced by strangers unacquainted with the Indian fashion of travelling. Everybody has servants here—even the servants themselves have others to wait upon them. Most Europeans have at least two personal attendants—a "bearer," who attends exclusively to the bedroom, wardrobe, and dressing of his master, and a "khitmutgar," whose particular lot in the domestic economy of life is to wait at table and attend to matters connected with food supply. The bearers are mostly Hindoos, and their caste forbids them not only to eat with Europeans or other unclean animals, but also prevents them from washing plates or even touching dishes out of which food happens to have been taken. Mahommedans are not so particular, and are to be found largely employed as waiters and general servants. They almost invariably accompany their masters when dining out or travelling, and even at public banquets, Masonic dinners, and other celebrations of a like nature, a guest stands a good chance of being kept without a morsel unless his servant is there to look after him. The bearer has the key of the wardrobe, and attends to the washing and mending, and for any missing articles he is supposed to be held responsible. But the manner in which shirts, collars, handkerchiefs, and other unconsidered trifles disappear without explanation is simply ruinous. The pay of these servants depends a good deal upon what they can get, but an average of eight to ten rupees per month is considered the correct thing. On that they have to find themselves and—as they are invariably married—keep a family as well. In arranging for a country tour in India, no matter of how short duration, bedding must be taken, also soap, towels, blacking, brushes, and a host of miscellaneous articles, which, in the colonies, rarely leave the sacred precincts of the kitchen or scullery. Third-class accommodation is provided for native servants in a separate part of the train, and, once started, they disappear from view until the end of the journey, when they are supposed to look after the luggage and save all trouble with gharries and the importunities of guides and other hangers-on at hotels and stations. The journey from Calcutta to Cawnpore is usually performed in 16 hours. After the first night in the train the country passed through is level and uninteresting, but for the most part well irrigated and cultivated. The prevailing crop is rice, and the country for over 200 miles around Patna is devoted almost exclusively to that cereal. Here and there the bright refreshing green of the paddy-fields is broken by a patch of the yellow flowering brassica—an oil-yielding plant extensively grown in various parts of the North, West, and Central Provinces. Castor oil and peas are also cultivated, and an occasional clump of cocoa or betel palms mark the presence of a native village. There are some pretty bits of scenery here and there, but like all flat plains the general effect is monotonous. Natives are in the field toiling from morning to night driving their wretched little wooden ploughs drawn by two cows not much larger than goats, or else irrigating their patches of crop from the numerous canals and distributories by appliances known in the days of Moses, or probably earlier. Wells are frequent, having the same ancient mode of drawing, a long bamboo mounted on a high pivot, a bucket at one end, a weight on the other. These wells are frequented by the dusky matrons and maidens of adjacent villages, who fill their earthern or brass vessels, and then gossip the current news. They appear to enjoy life well enough, in their way; they are happy and cheerful, although living in mud kennels, clothed in only five yards of thin muslin or calico, and inured to hard, incessant toil, 365 days in the year. They are taller and more comely in person than their city-bred sisters, and their well-rounded limbs show off to advantage the jewellery which even the poorest coolie woman somehow manages to wear. Their loose-flowing dresses, copper-skins, and the genial surroundings, make up a real Oriental picture. The Scriptural group of Rebecca at the well can be seen at every mile of the journey. Flowers are not plentiful in India, except in the hill regions, or grown in tubs or pots, but there is a very brilliant shrub—one of the euphorbias—bearing a brilliant scarlet leaf, instead of a flower, which shines out from surrounding foliage like a flame. The first day spent in the train is relieved from tediousness by a stoppage for breakfast at Mokameh, a large and handsome town in which European buildings are conspicuous, and "tiffin"—by which name luncheon is only known here—is partaken of at Moghul Sarai, the changing station for Benares. This famous city is only five miles from the main line, and may be taken either going or coming. In my case it was reserved for the return journey, arrangements having been made for making Cawnpore the first stopping-place.

Cawnpore, which will ever possess a mournful interest for English people, is reached about midnight. The railway station, which at the time of the mutiny was only half built, is a spacious and imposing structure, the town being one of the most important, from a commercial point of view, in the whole of the North-West provinces. It has extensive cotton mills, tanneries, and Government saddle and harness factories, besides being the centre of a very large grain train, principally wheat. It is bounded on one side by the Ganges, and a broad canal intersects the town parallel with the river. Viewed simply as a town, it is anything but attractive. It is foul smelling, badly kept, and knee deep in dust. Dust predominates over everything, and it has also the reputation of being one of the hottest stations in the district. An indescribable air of wretchedness and melancholy hangs over the place as though Nemesis sits brooding over the hideous crimes there perpetrated during the mutiny. Visitors rarely stay more than a day, although no stranger in India ever thinks of leaving without paying it a visit. There is a very comfortable hotel quite close to the station kept by an old soldier who took an active part in the stirring scenes of the mutiny. He is one of the most loquacious of men and tells some wonderful stories, but he is nevertheless an excellent guide, and keeps a house in which good accommodation and moderate charges happily go together. His invariable rule is to take visitors round immediately after breakfast, and before that meal, which is always a late one in India—generally about 10 o'clock—there is time afforded for a stroll in the native quarters. There are lots of strange sights which are not to be met with in Calcutta or other cities, and provincial life is seen in its true form. Hundreds of huge monkeys—brown and ugly as monkeys can be—run about in every direction, and their daring and impudence considerably disconcert ladies and others unaccustomed to their ways. They are a great nuisance, but, of course, nobody dare shoot or otherwise molest them—the Hindoos having a great respect for monkeys and poor relations generally. In some cases the brutes lie in wait for fruit or grain sellers in the branches of a spreading tree—then when they get a favourable chance drop down on the basket, make a speedy selection, and off again before the astonished native can raise any objection. In predatory excursions the mother monkey always takes her young one on her back, and it is amusing to see the frantic way in which the latter clings to the parent's back while going along at the rate of a telegraph message. The street vehicles are extraordinary looking affairs on two wheels, with shafts going up from the axle to above the ears of the ponies or bulls employed to draw them. They are gaudily painted and gilded, and together with the harness are covered with dozens of little brass bells, which keep up a musical jingle as they tear along the roads. The driver sits with one leg on each shaft; one passenger sits over each wheel, and another hangs on somehow behind. But all their legs dangle only a few inches from the ground. Some handsome Brahmin and trotting bulls are to be seen at Cawnpore, fine fellows with sleek glossy skins and mild lustrous eyes. They work very well in drays and passenger carts, and are used for all purposes to which horses can be put. They are less expensive to keep, and more profitable in every way. Their introduction into the Australian colonies would, I am sure, be attended with gratifying results, and Government should take steps to ensure the importation of a small herd for breeding purposes. In dry country districts, where selectors are engaged in a constant struggle for existence against the forces of nature, these cattle would prove especially valuable, their endurance and docility being something astonishing. Some of the bullock drays in use in the country districts of India are of the identical pattern used by the builders of the Pyramids. They are fearfully and wonderfully constructed, the hubs, spokes, and rims of the wheels being of enormous thickness, capable apparently of standing the wear and tear of centuries. No matter what the load may be, or its weight, there are never more than two animals yoked together, and the amount of work they can perform is equal to any ordinary team in the colonies.

So far as the historical sights of Cawnpore are concerned, the town can be fully seen in a day. The first place of interest is the scene of General Wheeler's entrenchment, about a mile from the railway station. It was about here that the flames of the mutiny blazed the fiercest, and where that terrible struggle was marked by one of the most atrocious massacres on record. In a former communication I mentioned the strong desire of natives for male offspring and the custom of adopting a son in the event of wives proving childless, and further, that the refusal of the British Government to acknowledge the legality of such adoption in cases where hereditary titles were concerned had been the primary cause of one of the chief incidents of that stormy period when our rule in the East was so seriously threatened. The last Peishwa of the Maharatta confederacy, an old Hindoo prince of very high descent, immensely wealthy, but dependent upon, and living under the protection of the British Government, adopted a son as far back as the year 1832, and brought him up as his heir. The outside marks of homage and respect, such as salutes, guards of honour, &c., especially dear to the native mind, were continued up to the time of the old prince's death, which occurred four or five years before the mutiny. The Government announced to the adopted son that the titular dignity had ceased; that he would only inherit the private property of the deceased Peishwa, and that the salutes as well as the title would be withdrawn. This decision gave mortal offence to the young man, to whom the loss of his fortune would have been preferable. He made many unavailing efforts to obtain a review of this decision, but Lord Dalhousie, who was at that time head of the Government of India, persistently declined, and when the mutiny broke out it found at least one zealous supporter of high position. His name was Doondhoo Punth, but the title which he will ever be remembered by was Nana Sahib. In 1857 he was living at Bithoor, a village on the Ganges, a little way above Cawnpore, and frequented the cantonments at that town as a welcome guest of the officers and of the general himself. The latter was an old man over 70 years of age, in indifferent health, and wanting the daring and decision of character so essential at such a grave crisis. The mutiny broke out at Cawnpore on the morning of the 6th June, and notwithstanding the fact that a splendid shelter was afforded for all his people only three or four miles distant—where the ammunition and treasure of the district were stored, General Wheeler weakly confided that post to Nana Sahib, and contented himself by collecting his wretchedly inadequate force—consisting of less than 200 European fighting men—into two open exposed barracks, only one storey high, one having a thatched roof of grass. The whole of the ladies and children of the station were brought into this frail refuge, and together with invalids, servants, &c., it was estimated that the total number of persons hemmed in was over 1200. Ammunition was scarce, and provisions were only laid in for 30 days, as the general accepted the Nana's assurance that the mutineers would march off to Delhi. It was the hottest month of the year, and the sufferings of the ladies and children soon commenced. An effort was made to improve the defences of the place by throwing up a wall of earth, and everybody capable of wielding a spade worked at it night and day; but the earth was so friable that it crumbled into dust, and the battery of six guns which represented the artillery of the defenders was quite without protection. The only water obtainable was from two wells fully exposed to the fire of the mutineers, who were afforded ample protection in large barracks and buildings all round. They poured in an incessant fire for 20 days, and by then more than two-thirds of the original number of those in the enclosure had perished. The horrors of the actual siege—if such a name can be applied where the defenders were without protection, and with such a slender defence—were aggravated by hunger and thirst, disease, and the fearful climate. Every man was a hero, and the stand made at Cawnpore against the hordes of mutineers swarming around the entrenchment in thousands armed with the best weapons, possessed of the British magazine and arsenal, and animated by intense hatred of their former masters, must always be ranked with the most gallant exploits of ancient and modern warfare. Nana Sahib, who directed the operations of the mutineers in person, weary of the obstinacy of the defence, made an offer to suspend hostilities, and send the survivors down to Allahabad by the river in boats, under proper protection. General Wheeler accepted the offer, although against the judgment of some of his officers, who declared their opinion that treachery was meditated, and that it would be certain death to quit the shelter they had—wretched as it was. And then followed the most diabolical act of the whole mutiny. All the survivors were formed into line—the ladies and children, many of them worn to skeletons and in rags, being kept together—and the order was given to march down to the Ganges, about a mile and a half distant, where Nana Sahib and his staff were in waiting. Over 8000 armed mutineers, with several field batteries were stationed along the route and on the river bank, which is there very steep, and 40 feet above the water level. Arrived at the Suttee Chouraghat—a bathing place, with flights of steps descending to the water's edge—the embarkation commenced, but it had not proceeded long before something was seen to be wrong. Ladies who were young or personally attractive were kept back, and men were separated as much as possible, but the Nana assured the officers that it was only a temporary expedient, as other boats were expected in a few minutes. When most of the boats had been filled they were pushed well out into the stream, a flag was waved from the bank, and immediately a murderous fire was commenced on the defenceless wretches. General Wheeler and his staff were butchered on the steps of the Ghat, and the unfortunate ladies who saw all these horrors passing before their eyes were dragged back to a small house two miles further up the river, where they were destined to undergo treatment the narration of which subsequently caused our soldiers to show neither pity nor quarter to the Nana's troops, or to any of the mutineers. The unfortunates who escaped from the massacre of the boats were kept at Cawnpore until the 17th of July, when heavy cannonading announced the advance of Havelock's victorious force; and the Nana, knowing that retribution was nigh, ordered the instant murder of every Christian man, woman, and child in the place. The number of his prisoners at this time cannot be accurately determined, but fugitives had been captured all over the district and taken to the Nana's headquarters, there to await his pleasure. It is certain that their number could not have been far short of 400, judging from the corpses found by Havelock. The details of the awful tragedy are horrible beyond parallel, and Mr. J. Lee, who was one of the relieving force under Havelock, and also assisted at the interment of all that was left of the poor victims, has given me a graphic and, as I believe, a faithful description of the manner in which the crowning atrocity was carried out. The Nana, determined that not one of his prisoners should live to tell the story of his cruelties, ordered them all to be massacred at 10 o'clock in the morning, and that none should escape. The mode of execution was to be by cutting their throats. His officers endeavoured to get men to carry out the cold-blooded order, but were unsuccessful, as the native soldiers could not, from caste reasons, hold Europeans while their throats were being cut, but they offered to shoot them down at a short range. This satisfied the Nana, who appointed 100 men to shoot down the women and children, while a similar number were deputed to despatch the few remaining men of the unhappy party. One hundred rounds were handed to each man of the firing party, and the order was given to commence the massacre. Nana Sahib himself looking on at the sight. At the first discharge only two fell and the men then intentionally fired too high, and no inducement was sufficiently strong to make them complete the work. After exhausting nearly all their ammunition the Nana withdrew them, and sent a body of cavalry into the native bazaars with orders to compel the butchers to come. Eventually some 30 natives of that calling were mustered, but even they refused to commit such a fearful crime. It was then that the Nana threatened to order the cavalry to cut the butchers down unless they obeyed his orders, and five of them seized their weapons (hatchets and knives) and went into the enclosure, the remainder being sent away. These men belonged to the Bhowrie caste—a low gipsy race. These entered at 5 p.m., and cut and slashed until half-past 10, when there were very few of the prisoners left alive. In the meantime three out of the five fell sick with the heat, the stench, and the blood. One of the remaining two was afterwards caught by Havelock's men, and he declared to General Neil and some others that he came out twice to obtain fresh weapons, that he broke three large knives, and completed his work with a cavalry sword. He declared that he was forced to perpetrate this hellish work. He and some of his companions were dragged by the infuriated soldiers of Havelock through the Christian blood they had spilt, and were then blown from the muzzles of the cannon. Two or three were, however, ordered to be released, so that they might spread the report of the manner in which British soldiers took their revenge. It is, however, doubtful whether these were actually suffered to go. It took Havelock's men part of four nights and four days to bury the dead in the well and in graves close by. The graves are in the ground formerly the Assembly Rooms Garden. Here there are 72 mounds, containing bodies and portions of bodies of men, women, and children. The two bungalows containing such horrible reminiscences of the massacre were afterwards destroyed, but on the walls were inscriptions in blood and with a burnt stick recording the dreadful sufferings of the victims.

Cawnpore is full of monuments erected to the memory of those who lost their lives during the eventful period of the mutiny. The Memorial Church is a disappointing structure outside, but internally it is very handsome and full of mournful interest. It was erected mainly by public subscription, and is now regularly used by the soldiers quartered in the barracks close by. The ruins of General Wheeler's entrenchment have long since disappeared, and only a line of posts mark the position which he occupied. The well in which the dead were buried during the siege has been built over and a plantation formed around it. A large memorial cross bears the following inscription:—"Under this cross were laid by the hands of their fellows-in-suffering the bodies of men, women, and children, who died hard by during the heroic defence of Wheeler's entrenchment when beleaguered by the rebel Nana, June 6 to 27, A.D. MDCCCLVII." On the pedestal of the cross is the following:—"Our bones are scattered at the grave's mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth wood upon the earth, but our eyes are unto Thee, O! God, the Lord.—Psalm CXLI." The church itself is full of tablets, the dedicating inscription being: "To the glory of God, and in memory of more than a thousand Christian people who met their deaths hard by, between the 6th June and 15th July, 1857." Some of the tablets and fonts are beautifully sculptured, but it is their inscriptions that absorb interest. "In memory of John Robert Mackillop, of the Bengal Civil Service, who nobly lost his life while drawing water from the well for the distressed women and children, June, 1857." Another is: "Sacred to the memory of the officers and men of H.M.'s 85th Regiment, Connaught Rangers, who died doing their duty, 1857." The most beautiful monument, however, is that erected over the well in the Memorial Gardens, where the final massacre took place. An exquisitely-carved wall, or rather screen, of stone, about 12 feet high, surrounds the well, which is covered with solid masonry, and built up several feet above the level of the ground. A large marble statue of a sorrowing angel—her arms crossed over her bosom, holding in each hand a palm leaf, and placed against a plain cross—is the monument selected to preserve the memory of the unfortunates whose sufferings were there terminated. Nothing more touching or pathetic could have been selected. The expression of the angel's face is sublime, and, once seen, the impression is indelible. It is a face that one can sit and gaze at for hours, so angelic is it, and so well does it harmonise with the sad reminiscences of the place. Natives are not allowed within the enclosure, and a military guard is kept always on duty. The grounds are tastefully laid out and well kept. After seeing the relics of the mutiny there is nothing of much interest in Cawnpore, unless a visit is paid to one or two of the large factories in the neighbourhood. An enormous number of hands are employed in the cotton-mills and harness-factories: the latter being in the hands of Government, who have a practical monopoly of several branches of industry. The work turned out is not of a particularly fine description, but is exceedingly cheap and pretty durable—two essential qualities in India. Wherever machinery and native labour are utilised together, the cost of production is ridiculously small, and, in manufactured articles at least, Australia cannot hope to obtain a foothold for a long time to come.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE REFORMATORY AND REFUGE UNION, LONDON.

Through the courtesy of Captain T. W. Neitenstein, of the nautical training ship Vernon, we are in receipt of the 27th annual report of the Reformatory and Refuge Union, an institution in London which, as its name implies, is exclusively devoted to the reclamation and assistance of the fallen and destitute of the British metropolis, with branches in all parts of Great Britain for the succour and relief of those who stand in need. The leading principles of the institution are—to promote the improvement and extension of preventive and reformatory efforts; to assist in feeding, clothing, and educating the destitute—especially neglected and destitute children—by means of grants to those refuges in which the homeless, outcast, and neglected are sheltered; to maintain a woman's mission to women—female missionaries, who labour in the streets among the fallen of their own sex; and to provide assistance to widows and orphans of officers who have served in institutions in connection with the Reformatory and Refuge Union, and to the officers themselves, if, through accident or ill-health, they become incapacitated. It will be seen by the foregoing that destitute and neglected children, discharged prisoners, and outcast women, comprise the classes in which the council of the institution are mostly interested, and in dealing with its work for the period under review it may be well to classify it for convenience under the heads of rescue work and organisation work. In the former much good has been achieved, as 403 boys and girls have been dealt with during that time, most of whom had been found wandering about the streets friendless, or sleeping in doorways at night; and in the shoeblacks' branch 369 boys, who had been found so incorrigible as to be unfitted to be in the shoeblacks' society, have been taken in hand by the union. The female missionaries have had under their care 928 new cases, besides having aided 156 cases who had been assisted in previous years, but, in consequence of illness and other causes, they were again compelled to seek for assistance. Of the 928 women assisted, 281 have been placed in the homes: 273 provided with situations; 83 restored to friends; 109 sent to infirmaries and hospitals; 5 emigrated; 1 been assisted to marry; and 173 have been temporarily aided. In the organisation branch a vast amount of good has been effected by the co-operation of the 550 affiliated societies, and by that means the council are enabled to find suitable employment throughout the United Kingdom for those whom they mean to assist. The efforts of the institution in dealing with discharged prisoners have also met with great success, and the operations of that branch are spreading with the requirements of the times. It is interesting to note that the number of cases of boys living honestly for three years after having passed through the reformatory has generally exceeded 90 per cent. of the whole. The educational statistics are also satisfactory, and after leaving school the boys volunteer into the army or navy, join the merchant service, emigrate, or settle down as farm servants, whilst some have by industry and good conduct raised themselves to higher positions. The total amount of donations and subscriptions received during the past year has been £7243 4s. 3d. There are now 550 homes connected with the union, giving accommodation to 42,200 inmates. Those who are desirous of contributing towards the funds of this excellent institution can do so by forwarding donations to the secretary, Reformatory and Refuge Union, 32, Charing-cross, London, S.W.

NEW SOUTH WALES ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

A general committee meeting of the Zoological Society of New South Wales was held in the society's room, at Moore Park, yesterday afternoon. There were present Mr. Arthur T. Holroyd, president (in the chair), Mr. W. Beaumont, Dr. George Bennett, Mr. Chas. Moore, and Mr. Walter Bradley. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The banker's passbook was produced, and showed a debit of £589 5s. Cheques were signed for the payment of accounts, amounting to £13 12s. 1d. The secretary (Mr. W. H. Catlett) then read the following report:—"Since the last general committee meeting the lattice plant-house and potting-shed has been finished, and several handsome donations of plants have been received from members and friends of the society. The carpenters have been engaged in making exit turnstiles and a pair of gates for the back yard. A good-sized wooden cage has been constructed, lined with sheet-iron, for the reception of the sun bear, which has twice all but destroyed its present cage by gnawing away all the woodwork which has not been covered with iron. The parrot aviary has also had to be repaired with sheet-iron in consequence of many of the boards having been greatly damaged by these destructive birds. Shutters have also been made for the protection of the birds in some of the small aviaries. The gardeners and workmen have been engaged in excavating the soil from the oval pond and top-dressing the lawns with it. The walks leading down from the entrances to the lower ground have been well ballasted and formed under Mr. G. F. Want's direction, and men are now engaged building up rockwork for the fountain. In consequence of the society's account being overdrawn at the bank, your secretary discharged three of the carpenters on April 1, and intimated to the workmen that in all probability more men would have to be discharged this day." The secretary further reported that he had been informed by Mr. Alexander Cumming, the secretary to the New South Wales Commission for the Calcutta International Exhibition, that the animals which had been presented to the society had been shipped, and might be expected about the first or second week in May, and that the Superintendent of the Calcutta Zoological Society would be glad to receive the animals and birds the society promised him. The following donations were received since the last meeting, viz.: One male wallaroo, one wood duck, and a pair of mountain ducks, presented by Mr. Albert Gale, of Gordon; one emu, presented by Mr. W. J. Watson, of Young; one tortoise, presented by Mr. John West, of 253, Elizabeth-street; one native cat, presented by Mr. Samuel King, Wemyss-street, Randwick; three young emus, presented by Mr R. Oakes, of Bathurst; one native cat, presented by Mr. Coulson, of Moore Park; two emus, presented by Mr. James Devlin, of Ashfield; one young male wallaroo, presented by Mrs. J. L. Brown, of Methven, Bowenfels; one native cat, presented by Mr. Wilson, of Randwick; one turtle, presented by Mr. Sinclair; four pinus longifolia and a packet of seed of the Cedrus deodora, presented by Mr. James Inglis, of Redmyre; a collection of miscellaneous pot plants, presented by Messrs. Shepherd and Co., nurserymen, Surry Hills; three macrozamia plumosa, one encephalartos altensteinii, one hyophorbe verschaffeltii, one areca rubra, presented by Captain Broomfield, of Balmain. The following had been obtained by purchase:—two black swans, three cassowaries, one Par[illegible] cat, and one lizard. In reference to the admission to the gardens by annual members' tickets, it was decided that two adults or four children should be admitted by a member's ticket.

AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM.

The following is a list of donations made during the month of March, 1884:—Mammals: Ring-tailed opossum (Phalangista lanaginosa), Zoological Society; platypus (Ornithorhynchus anatinus), Zoological Society; a lemur, Botanic Gardens; white rat (Mus decumanis, albino), Master A. Seymour. Birds: Astur aproximans, Mr. James Ramsay; four Trichoglossus novæ-hollandiæ, three Trichoglossus concinnus, one Trichoglossus chlorolepidotus, one Ptilonorhynchus holosericeus, one Podargus strigoides, Mr. Norton; skeleton of a pigeon, Mr. F. H. Joseph. Fishes: Phyllopteryx foliatus, Mr. H. Prince; Chilodactylus vittatus, Dr. Kichler; two young sharks (Heterodontus Phillipi), Mr. J. C. Hamilton; box fish (Ostracion), Mr. C. Teece; collection of fish, Captain Wolsch; two Pempheris macrolepis, mouth of Pachymet ponderosa, Mr. W. Adams; Reptiles; Ring snake (Vermicella annulata), Mr. J. Finch; a gecko (Phyllurus platurus), Mr. C. Stuart; collection of reptiles, small, Captain Wolsch. Insects: Centipede, Mr. Stainer; grasshopper, Mr. Horton; spider, Mr. A. P. Bryce; a phasma, Mr. J. Stenning; Extatosoma tiaratum, Mr. W. Lamrock, jun.; beetle, Mr. W. Archbold. Geology: A piece of Chili copper, Mr. F. Savage. Ethnological: Specimens from Fiji, Mr. H. J. Renwick; a native basket, Captain Wolsch. Photographs: Nine photographs of native masks, Mr. Godwin.

"What on earth shall I take to Zululand?" asked my friend, Jim Law, one day at Aldershot, when he had just received orders for South Africa, to start at 48 hours' notice. I replied, "If you take my advice—and it's that of an old traveller—you'll not budge without a few bottles of Eno, even if you leave half your kit behind. I never am without these salts, and please the pigs, never intend to be." On his return I inquired, "Well, how about Eno's Fruit Salt?" "My dear fellow, it was the best advice you ever gave; they saved me many an illness; and when I left Tuegla I sold the remaining bottles for ten times the original price?"—Lieut.-Col.—[ADVT.]

THE DRY COUNTRY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.)

II.

HAY, MARCH 28.

Near Wagga the stranger is at times puzzled by seeing sheep and cattle feeding heartily on the river flats. These present the yellow-brown look of desiccation and apparent sterility, chronic, in some part of the year at least, all over inland Australia. But here, as elsewhere, vegetable life is not so dead as appearances would lead one to suppose, and the means of supporting animal life still remain in the ground. The yellow trefoil absolutely mats the surface of these banks after rain, and during the dry season the stalks and seeds of this valuable clover cover the soil, as inspection will prove. This is what the stock are munching when they are feeding on what looks like bare earth.

At the beginning of a day's journey one can observe the features of the country with more interest than towards the close of a long day, and this I was conscious of as the train whirled me this morning across the long bridge and through the Eunanarina ridges on my way to Junee to catch the train for Hay. In the year 1858 Eunanarina station was sold to Mr. Hugh Wallace, of Nithsdale, by Mr. Taylor. The station consisted then of about 300,000 acres, of which two-thirds was called unavailable, that is to say, there was no water, but on the river frontage, and almost no improvements. The stock sold with the station consisted of about 30,000 sheep, as many probably as the natural water capability would safely support. A fellow-traveller tells me that the station is now represented by a freehold estate of 44,000 acres, and on this fragment of the run 55,000 sheep are fed throughout the year. The remainder of the station is divided into scores of farms of from 40 acres up to 4000, all stocked, and many of them more or less under the plough.

Now, according to Mr. Henry George, all this wealth and progress must be a crime against the landless poor. That principle of private ownership condemned by the new school, has been the elixir that has added a waterless solitude to the realm of colonisation, that has covered the waste with dams and fences, and spotted the surface with ploughed fields. Eunanarina, now parcelled in freehold estate, produces ten times the annual wealth, and supports twenty times the population that it did when national territory. If the land is to be nationalised back again under the new revelation, what incentive will there be to that minute and elaborate improvement of the country, which, in spite of many defects in our land system, yet works such miracles? It strikes me that there is no great novelty in Mr. George's discovery after all. A Monsieur Proudhon, who was a prominent man in the Revolution of 1848, and who had a hand in starting the National Workshops, condensed the same idea in a pithy aphorism, "La propriete c'est le vol"—"Property is theft." All wealth collected by private enterprise or industry by those who exerted themselves was so much stolen from those who did nothing. Individual effort was crime. Crops would be grown, houses would be built, and flocks and herds would increase by the national will—"Vive la republique rouge!"

But enough of the Red Republic and Mr. George. "Let us return to our muttons." I naturally asked my companion if 55,000 sheep was not rather overstocking 44,000 acres? He answered, "You can see for yourself; there are the sheep." The paddock we were then passing was densely dotted with weaners, all restless and certainly tucked up, but not starved. But, after all, you would be both restless and tucked up too if you had been only weaned 10 days and were then put on a diet of hard crusts and water, which would be about equivalent to the grass of the season. In the next paddock the sheep, being wethers and hoggets, looked well. I would have said there were far too many on the ground, but there they were not looking bad, feeding and finding food. Next we passed a grand newly-ploughed paddock of about 50 acres, ready for next year's wheat. The ploughing was by no means inferior, and the reddish soil lay in long rigs free and kindly. After that there was a selector's sheep-paddock. The stock was very uneven, of all sexes, sizes, and ages, and savoured of mongrelism; but some of them were in good flesh. No doubt the man was making a start, and would get into decent sheep in time. And with such alternations we ran into Junee. The history of that rising city is this: Some few years ago it came to pass that a certain poor man selected 320 acres 20 odd miles north of the Murrumbidgee. The country was as dry as a bone, and his friends called him a fool for his pains. He was on the Southern railway line, but so far it did him little good. But he muddled on with his two or three acres of wheat and hay, starved his cows, and learned to live without water. One morning he thought ruin had reached him, and he expected to be turned out of his selection, for there appeared a surveyor tomahawking trees right before his door, and a line of black and white stakes appeared presently running west through his land. So he approached the traverse-worker in fear and trembling. "Good thing for you, old chap," said he of the theodolite; "junction to Hay on your ground." This is the way the golden shower sometimes falls. He is now selling town lots at £30 per foot frontage, and a good many of these can be got out of 300 acres. Now, Mr. George comes in again—and we can hardly keep him out of such topics at present. His supporters will say that it is a monstrous shame that this man should be able to exact such a price, and that if the land were national property the public would be protected against such exaction. A tenant of the State could be simply displaced when the ground was wanted for a public purpose. Let me in return ask what kind of tenancy would that be which maintained the absolute insecurity of the tenure as the dominant principle? And how can Mr. George devise a tenure that will be both secure and insecure—that will be mere waste paper against the State, and will at the same time stimulate the tenant to make the most of the land? If he adopted even such an excellent tenure as that provided by the Indian lease system or the Scotch feu, the tenant would be able to make his own bargain in the same way as the freeholder does now. Moreover, would the public landlords, on issuing new leases of the same kind on small lots, be able to accommodate the hundreds of bakers, grocers, carpenters, and blacksmiths who are now keenly competing for good business stands in the rising township, as satisfactorily as can be done by private bargain now?

From Junee we soon run out of the region of settlement. But one ploughed field more, and there is no further appearance of cultivation for 150 miles. For some distance we have fine sheep country, with dry grass, but without any sign of stock; then the train passes Coolaman in an hour, where the pine scrub begins to appear. The whole soil of the district is said to be full of the pine cones. Ringbarking releases the moisture, which would otherwise be absorbed by the growth of the trees, the soil becomes moist, the seed germinates, and the scrub begins to grow. The roots of the box-tree also throw out suckers under the same influence, and consequently there is frequently to be seen, a few years after ring-barking, the open forest being rapidly transformed into a dense scrub of pine and box saplings. Thus, more consequences result from ringbarking than the thickening of the grass. At Grong-Grong, some 15 miles farther on, small plains closely fed down appear; a small dam in sight shows that the soil holds water well. No stock is seen for a time, but passing a patch of pine there is a beautiful flock of wethers camping in the shade. Their dark brown yolk stained fleeces show health and condition such as might be expected in country so sound and suitable.

And now we reach Narrandera through the same country of box and pine, with occasional small plains. Here the branch line is to be extended to Jerilderie. Then comes the famous Yanko, where the pine grows scarcer, and at Hulong, the next stage, we reach what looks like the veritable desert, a red dusty soil, dotted with patches of dingy herbage. All around are plain and open scrub, and it is the very picture of a land of desolation. Whirlwinds of red dust rise 30 and 40 feet in the air, and of these you see sometimes two at a time in different directions. But it needs only a glance at the plants growing within the railway fence to know that we are right into the salt bush, and then out on the plain are the well-remembered forms of the weeping myall with the kindred shrubs called warran and boree. As a proof of the animal life that this "desert" supports, a team of working bullocks in excellent order, with some sleek saddle horses, draw up as we reach the station. Another half hour brings us to Darlington, and there I was confidently told that I would see utter misery and starvation, but the condemned region appears in the form of a beautiful open myall forest, a kind of country which can exist only in a dry climate. In such country every drop of moisture produces a miracle of vegetation, for every leaf, twig, and herb is not only edible but also highly fattening, and sheep thrive upon it without any apparent vegetation on the ground.

I was now beginning to despair of meeting the line of famine. I certainly had not crossed it yet. The country was on the whole getting better, though the pine did show again at intervals. Before reaching Bringagee I passed two small plains, on both of which there were mobs of young cattle looking well. This showed me that the limit of starvation must be far off yet in the Never-never country. For 100 miles, in a carriage which I had wholly to myself I had watched vigilantly every foot of the way from Junee. I depended for my information not on gossip or cunningly put questions, but on a pair of eyes that had seen a good deal of Australia. I could judge of apparent facts by the aid of a tolerably retentive memory, and I could see nothing but a dry season in a beautiful country for stock, with a soil peculiarly favoured in its capability for holding water. The place of all other that looked most utterly scourged and grubbed up was one of the famous Groongal paddocks, now called Kooroongal by the railway authorities; and yet not only sheep but also horses were feeding about looking well upon it. We were now not far from the spot where Surveyor-General Oxley turned back in the year 1817, declaring that the country was a desert unfit for any purpose of civilised man, and about an equal distance down on the river lies a pastoral estate that sold three years ago for £400,000. As the owners of Groongal have turned their leasehold of 30 miles frontage into a freehold, at the cost of £1 an acre, it is likely that they do not value it at a lower figure. And yet a townsman seeing it now would swear that it was the veritable abomination of desolation. But the work carried on at Groongal is no barren toil. I saw the plough scoop drawn by four horses beginning a new dam, and I believe the capacity for producing mutton and wool of this tract is limited only by the want of water. In the last 10 miles to Hay I saw the bona-fide plough again at work—a man with a pair of horses cheerily putting the finishing touch to a 10-acre patch meant no doubt for oaten hay, and I hope that he will have a good crop.

Having written up my notes, I must, with the beginning of the week, start again in quest of this pastoral famine. For 12 hours the clouds have been ranging close over the tree tops, and a spoonful of rain is occasionally discharged, while the people of Hay watch the signs of the Heavens, and appease their misgivings by "wetting the other eye."

I have just seen a man from the back country, between Cobar and Bourke. He tells me that sheep are said to have died of starvation on some stations out that way, but he has not seen it himself. Perhaps I may run the genuine "drought" to earth in some back creek of the distant Paroo, but whether I do or not, I hope to have some reflections to offer to the Herald before I finish these notes of travel.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Yesterday, which was the second day of the Sydney water supply being cut of, and during which the presumption was strongest that the inconvenience would be greatest, passed away without any complaint being raised, and thus it has transpired that, though much apprehension existed, people have been more frightened than hurt. Possibly, however, the showers which fell during the last two days have had a soothing influence upon agitated minds, as, though not heavy, yet combined with lowering clouds they seemed a cheering earnest of an approaching downpour. For months no such favourable indications have presented themselves, and it is to be sincerely hoped they will not prove illusory, for people's hearts are here, as they are in the country, strained with a desire for rain. The recent showers have had no appreciable effect at Botany. They have damped the surface of the sand, but will not do much towards checking evaporation. In consequence, however, of the water being cut off from the city, the contents of the Engine Pond have swollen by being fed with the Lachlan Stream, and on the whole Mr. Jones, the city engineer, feels satisfied with the results of his efforts, and is gratified by the complacency with which the citizens had tolerated the strain he has placed upon them. Yesterday Mr. Jones varied his intention of refilling the pipe services at midnight, and he selected half past 5 o'clock this morning as a more appropriate time. He anticipated that careless persons might leave their taps open, and that if the pipes were charged at midnight such persons would wake to the fact of their premises being half deluged. He has also reiterated his desire that consumers of water should not throw away the quantities they have stored, but should use them. If they throw them away, they may find that the water they draw from their pipes will be discoloured and ill-flavoured for a time. To-day supplies will be on until 4 p.m., at which hour they will be stopped again until 6 a.m. on Sunday morning. On Monday, which is a general washing day, water will be on until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, after which supplies will be given only a few hours each day. All these arrangements however, are subject to variation in the event of rain falling.

BOARD OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

A meeting of the Board of Technical Education was held on Monday afternoon, at the offices, 129, Phillip-street. The following members were present:—Mr. James Barnet, Dr. Belgrave, Mr. W. H. Edmunds, Professor Liversidge, Mr. Angus Mackay, Mr. R. L. Murray, M.L.A., Mr. W. G. Murray, and Mr. H. C. Russell. In the absence of the president (Mr. Edward Combes, C.M.G., M.L.A.) in Melbourne, Mr. H. C. Russell was voted to the chair. The minutes of previous meeting were read by the secretary (Mr. E. Dowling) and confirmed. A letter was read from the Acting Under-Secretary, Department of Public Instruction, intimating—with reference to recommendation from the board that a teacher of science should be appointed, to give instruction in the metropolitan Public schools under the system in use by the Liverpool School Board—that inasmuch as the standard of proficiency adopted by the Department for the Public Schools provide for the teaching of science to all pupils capable of understanding it, and as the ordinary teaching staff should be so constituted as to meet the requirements of the standards, the Minister deems it inexpedient to authorise the employment of a special teacher, and that it appears to him that the services of a science lecturer would be more beneficial in connection with the training school and pupil teachers' class. A letter was read from Mr. John Whitton, Engineer-in-Chief for Railways, presenting a number of specimens of timber from Western Australia. An application was received from the committee of the Wollongong School of Arts for the services of a lecturer on dairy-farming and the industries maintainable in a country containing the coal formations, and it was resolved that the request be complied with. A letter was read from Professor Anderson Stuart, accepting upon certain conditions the appointment as lecturer on anatomy, physiology, and simple surgery at the Sydney Technical College. A report was received from the instructor in pharmacy respecting proposed course of lectures on the "manufacture of drugs" to a special class of students. An application was received from the committee of the Grafton School of Arts for the services of a lecturer on agriculture, and it was resolved that the request be complied with, and that the operator accompany the lecturer to give instruction to some local person in the use of the oxy-hydrogen lantern, the property of that institution. An offer made by Mr. John Plummer to deliver two popular lectures in the Technical College hall on "ornamental ironwork," and "terra cotta manufacture" was accepted. A report was read from the art instructor respecting proposed classes for house-painting and decorating. Accounts were passed and ordered to be paid amounting to £509 10s. 11d. A number of applications were submitted for positions as teachers of classes at the Sydney Technical College, and the following appointments were made:—Mr. H. C. Everill, as teacher of navigation, and Mr. J. V. Murray as teacher of house painting and decorating. The name of Mr. W. H. Edmunds was added to the Technical College house committee. A progress report from the technical agencies and organising committee was submitted, containing the following recommendations:—1. That apparatus for illustrating lectures on physics, geology, chemistry, and plumbing be purchased at a cost of £572 10s. 2. That the itinerant lecturer on chemistry deliver two lectures in the following towns:—Maitland, Singleton, Tamworth, Newcastle, Inverell, Bathurst, Orange, Dubbo, Goulburn, Wagga Wagga, Wollongong, and Kiama. 3. That a senior Latin class be formed. 4. That Mr. Squire W. Pye be engaged to deliver twenty-four lectures on agriculture in the country districts. 5. That Dr. R. Von Lendenfeld be engaged to deliver six lectures on "biology" in the Technical College Hall. 6. That bylaws submitted for the regulation of the chemical laboratory be approved of. 7. That photographic apparatus and chemicals be purchased, and a dark-room built, in which the operator can make lantern slides required for illustrating lectures. It was resolved that the offices of the board in Phillip-street be connected by telephone with the branch technical schools in Pitt and Sussex streets. Several other unimportant items of routine business were transacted by the board, and the meeting then terminated.

EPPS' COCOA.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage, which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk.—Sold only in packets labelled—"James Epps and Co., homœopathic chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' chocolate essence.—[ADVT.]

FRY'S COCOA EXTRACT.—"Having the superfluous richness removed, this perfectly pure and digestible preparation meets the approval of the most fastidious taste."—British Trade Journal.—[ADVT.]

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

The following is a report of the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly after the time at which the Herald had to go to press yesterday. The House was in Committee discussing the Estimates for the Colonial Architect's Department:—

Mr. WRIGHT said that if the Colonial Architect's estimates were passed, and the committee desired it, he would consent to an adjournment.

Mr. TAYLOR said that he would not press his motion for the reduction of the item.

The estimate, as reduced to £199,363, was agreed to.

The next estimate was "Revotes, £54,125."

The estimate was agreed to.

The House resumed, progress was reported, and leave was given to sit again.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SLATTERY said that he wished to ask the Speaker's opinion on a point of order, which was raised in committee.

Mr. WISDOM said that it would be a very bad precedent to give these extra-judicial opinions.

Mr. SPEAKER said that, if the hon. member asked what the actual practice of Parliament was, he could answer him.

Mr. SLATTERY said that that was precisely what he meant. A motion having been made in committee to reduce a vote by the sum——

Mr. BURNS said that the House had decided not to refer any such question as this to the Speaker's opinion. If the hon. member wished to obtain the Speaker's opinion, or that of the Standing Committee, there was another course of doing it.

Mr. SPEAKER said that the hon. member might put a case for his opinion.

Mr. SLATTERY said that he wished to have the Speaker's opinion on the following case. In committee a motion was made by an hon member to reduce an item on the Estimates by a certain amount of money. That question was put by the Chairman, and a division was taken, or rather tellers on each side were appointed. The tellers reported, and the Chairman declared the result to be that there were 24 votes on the side of the "ayes," and 25 for the "noes." Exception was taken to this on the ground that an hon. member who was counted in the division list was asleep, and did not hear the question put. That hon. member then came to the table of the House, and, in reply to a question, stated that he had been asleep, but that if he had heard the question put, he would have voted exactly as his vote was recorded. A motion was made to disallow the vote, and the committee by a resolution disallowed the vote. Was it competent, he would ask, for the committee to pass such a resolution?

Mr. SPEAKER said the practice of Parliament was this: If a member was in the House he was bound to vote. (Hear, hear.) But there was also this principle, that a member who might not hear the question put was not bound to vote until he did hear it. Consequently if, through excess of drowsiness—(laughter)—or any other cause, he gave a vote on a question which he did not hear, still it was his duty to vote. The proper course then was that the hon. member should be called to the table and be asked whether he had heard the question put. If he replied in the negative the Chair would state the question to him, and ask him to give his voice, and immediately it would be directed that the vote be entered. In addition to that there arose the question whether a motion for the disallowance of a vote was properly put. Having had some idea that some such motion had lately been before a committee of that House, he had taken the trouble to make an inquiry and look up the authorities, and he could not find that the House had ever disallowed a vote, and he could not say that it was not within the power of the committee. Should any such emergency arise in the future it would be the duty of the committee to see that the hon. member did hear the question, even if it had to be put the third time. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. M'ELHONE desired to know definitely from the Speaker whether the committee was right or wrong.

Mr. SPEAKER said under the circumstances the House could not interfere, and he thought the vote of the committee must stand. (Hear, hear.)

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. STUART moved that this House do now adjourn.

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR asked what the Government proposed to do in reference to the Easter holidays.

Mr. STUART said it would be time enough to see to that next week. He had looked over the records, and he found it was usual, when the House sat at this period of the year, to adjourn from the Thursday before Good Friday until the following Wednesday.

The House, at 10 minutes past 3 a.m., adjourned until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4.

The SPEAKER took the chair at half-past 4.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. COHEN, in reply to Mr. A. G. Taylor, said a man named James M'Grath, under arrest for forgery, was on the 15th March taken to Canowindra, and remained there until the following Tuesday. There being no lockup at that place it was necessary to secure the prisoner by a chain at night time to ensure his safe custody. The main building for the Canowindra courthouse was completed in December last, but not handed over, as the outbuildings were not finished.

Mr. STUART, in reply to Mr. W. J. Fergusson, said it was the intention of the Government to make provision for refreshment rooms on the Great Northern Railway between Werris Creek and Glen Innes, and the question of a suitable site was now under consideration.

Mr. STUART, in reply to Mr. Stokes, said the matter of a weir across the Lachlan River, near Forbes, would be taken into consideration when the estimates for water supply were taken into consideration, which would be shortly.

Mr. STUART, in reply to Mr. Withers, said the Botany main line of sewer would be completed as far as contracted for by August next, when, pending the completion of the syphon to Webb's Grant, arrangements would be made to discharge the ordinary sewage before the next hot season.

Mr. STUART, in reply to Mr. Withers, promised that a report of the inquiry in reply to a charge against a teacher of the Crown-street Public school would be laid upon the table of the House.

Mr. STUART, in reply to Mr. Cameron, without notice, said that the time for the production of the promised report of the commission upon theatres seemed very like the story of the Scotch mile—the farther you went the longer it appeared to be. He would cause inquiry to be made as to the cause of the delay.

WALSH'S GRANT BILL.

On the motion of Mr. STUART, Walsh's Grant Bill was read the third time, passed, and forwarded to the Legislative Council.

BATHURST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH GRANT RESUMPTION BILL.

On the motion of Mr. STUART, the Bathurst Presbyterian Church Grant Resumption Bill was read the third time, passed, and transmitted to the Legislative Council.

PETITION.

Mr. WITHERS presented a petition from residents of Windsor, Richmond, and the Hawkesbury Valley with reference to the appointment of a central hospital board in Sydney.

The petition was received.

PAPERS.

Mr. STUART laid upon the table returns with reference to the electorates of the colony, to the schedule of allowance to medical and other witnesses attending criminal trials, and to tenders for railway rolling stock.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

DISTRICT COURTS BILL.

On the motion of Mr. GOULD, the House went into committee for the further consideration of the District Courts Act Further Amendment Bill No. 2.

Clause 5. "When jury may be summoned to try action."

This clause was amended by the insertion of words to the effect that in the event of a Judge ordering a case to be tried before a jury, either of his own will or on the application of either of the parties, such order should be made at least five clear days before the day named in the summons for the hearing of the action, and that where both parties agreed to have a case tried by a judge where the amount did not exceed £20 similar notice should be given.

The clause as amended was agreed to.

Clause 6. "Costs allowed when no jurisdiction."

The question that the clause be agreed to was negatived on division by 19 votes to 13.

Clause 7. "Costs allowed where sum sued for does not exceed £10."

Clause 8. "Interpretation."

Clause 9. "Short Title."

Schedule A.

Postponed clause, No. 1, "In respect of certain demands, plaintiff may require defendant to give notice of intention to defend, on pain of judgment by default."

These clauses and the schedule were agreed to.

Postponed clause 3, "Equitable defence may be pleaded."

Postponed clause 4, "Notices of special defence on filing notice of intention to defend."

These clauses were agreed to.

Mr. GOULD proposed the following new clause, to stand as clause 2 of the bill:—"In all actions at any time hereafter to be commenced in any District Court under the provisions of the 46th section of the principal Act, no defendant shall be allowed to defend the same except by leave of the Judge, or with the consent of the plaintiff, unless he shall have filed a plea or notice of his intention to defend, signed by himself or his attorney, with the registrar of the court at least two clear days before the day named in the summons for the hearing of the said action. And the registrar shall immediately upon the receipt of such notice communicate the same to the plaintiff or his attorney by post, or by causing the same to be delivered at the usual place of abode or business of the said plaintiff or his attorney, but it shall not be necessary for the defendant to prove on the trial that such notice was communicated to the plaintiff by the registrar."

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR objected to this clause, because there was no necessity for this two days' notice, and there should be no barrier to any man defending his own cause.

Mr. COHEN said that some consideration should be given to plaintiffs. Two-thirds of the cases in the District Court were undefended, no one appearing for the defence, and so the plaintiffs were put to unnecessary trouble and expense in bringing witnesses to court. In cases of hardship the Judge could allow the defendant to plead without having given notice of defence, and for these reasons he should support the clause.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON said that he should like to know why a man who was sued could not bring forward his defence at any time he chose. He agreed with all that the hon. member for Mudgee, Mr. Taylor, had said.

Mr. GOULD contended that the plaintiff was entitled to consideration as well as the defendant; and he should not be compelled to prove a case that was not defended. He denied that this clause would increase the costs.

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR said an ignorant man, under this clause, would neglect to give notice of defence, and then the plaintiff would not bring his witnesses, and the Judge would have to give him a verdict.

Mr. W. J. FERGUSSON said there was no hardship in this, as the same principle was in force in the Small Debts Court.

Mr. TRICKETT was in favour of the principle of the clause, but he contended that this was a public matter, and should not be brought forward by a private member. Instead of piecemeal legislation of this kind, there should be proper reform of the District Courts Act. He suggested that the hon. member should withdraw his bill and wait for a thorough and comprehensive measure. If the clause went to a division he should vote for it, because his experience had shown him the necessity that a defence should be put in. Still it would be far better for the hon. member to allow the Government to deal with the question generally.

Mr. GOULD could not accept the advice of the hon. member, as it was well understood that the Government could not possibly deal with the question for a long time to come.

The question that the clause as read stand part of the bill was put and negatived on a division of 20 to 11.

The following new clause was then proposed:—"7. It shall be lawful for the Judge at any time during the sitting of the Court at which any cause may have been struck out pursuant to section 63 of the Principal Act, if he think fit, to order the said cause to be restored to the cause list, whereupon the same shall be proceeded with as if the plaintiff had duly appeared at the time and place named for such appearance or at the continuation or adjournment of the Court or cause for which the summons had been issued."

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR said if the plaintiff failed to appear, and the case was struck out, it would be very hard to have the case restored to the paper, especially as the plaintiff had the right to begin again if he chose.

Mr. LEVIEN said it might be very hard upon the plaintiff, and no Judge would allow the case to go on unless fair notice were given to the other side. It often happened, in the case of a person who brought a speculative action on the expectation that the defendant would not appear. If he found that the defendant did appear, he would leave the court, whereupon the case would be struck out, and the Judge had no power to award costs to the defendant.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON did not think the clause should be passed. There would be no fair play if this clause were put in operation. It would be far better to enact that in such a case the plaintiff should pay the defendant's costs.

Mr. GOULD pointed out that if the plaintiff happened to be five minutes late the case would under the present system be struck out. Where the parties were both present it was only reasonable that the case should be restored to the paper; and if the Judge thought any compensation due to the defendant by the plaintiff's temporary absence, he would see that it was given. A clause of this kind would be beneficial both to the plaintiff and the defendant, for it would lead to justice being done to both parties.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON said that if the hon. member had in the bill or in this clause a provision that with the consent of both the parties a case could be restored to the paper, there would be nothing objectionable, but that provision was not put before the committee.

Mr. R. B. SMITH said this amendment was a desirable one. The only question was whether it should appear in a bill of this nature, which dealt with only a few of the difficulties connected with the District Court. But while he supported this clause he did not approve of the hon. member persisting in his attempt to pass this bill. He thought the bill should be withdrawn, and a bill brought in based on the one suggested by Judge Forbes.

Mr. GOULD said it was utterly impossible for a private member to pass a bill such as that prepared by Judge Forbes. Many amendments were necessary in the District Courts Act, and he was determined to persist in his attempt to pass this measure, which he considered to be beneficial to the public generally.

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR moved that after the word "order" in the clause the words "in presence of the plaintiff and defendant" be inserted. After the remarks of Mr. R. B. Smith he was satisfied that the clause would be useful with the restriction he now proposed.

Mr. TRICKETT condemned the amendment as unnecessary, and as likely to prove highly inconvenient in consequence of the exceedingly great difficulty of getting the parties before the court at the same time.

Mr. GOULD also condemned the amendment, which was then negatived.

Mr. GOULD moved that after the word "list" the following words be inserted: "Upon such terms, if any, as to payment of costs, giving security for costs, or such other terms as he may think fit on sufficient cause shown to him for that purpose."

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended was also agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN left the chair and reported the bill with amendments to the House.

Mr. GOULD moved that the adoption of the report be made an order of the day for the 2nd of May.

The motion was agreed to.

BOROUGHS OF RANDWICK AND PADDINGTON BILL.

Mr. BURNS moved the second reading of the Boroughs of Randwick and Paddington Bill. He said that the object of this bill was to give legal authority to the transfer from the borough of Randwick to the borough of Paddington of an area at present forming a portion of the former borough, but geographically situate within and in other ways identified with the borough of Paddington. The owners of property in the area in question wished it to be annexed to the borough of Paddington, believing that their interests and the interests of all concerned would be promoted by the change, and the municipal councils had arrived at an amicable arrangement for having the transfer carried into effect. The select committee to which the bill had been referred had taken evidence on the subject, and had amended the description of the land to be transferred, and which would now read—"All that piece or parcel of land situate, lying, and being in the parish of Alexandria, in the county of Cumberland, colony of New South Wales, being portion of the borough of Randwick, to be ceded to the borough of Paddington, commencing at a point at the south-west corner of Gordon's grant, and bounded on the north by that grant bearing east to the south-east corner thereof, being part of the present southern boundary of the borough of Paddington, thence north-easterly to the Old South Head-road opposite the centre of the Point Piper-road, thence along the Old South Head-road south-easterly to that point of the south side of Old South Head-road where the boundary of the city of Sydney intersects that road, being near the eastern boundary of St. Matthias' Church land thence by the said boundary of the city of Sydney along the north side of Park-road to the centre of Gordon-street, thence along the centre of Gordon-street north-westerly to the centre of Leinster-street, and along the centre of that street to Bent-street, and thence northerly to the point of commencement." He believed that the description, which had been approved by the city surveyor, comprised what was intended, and that the bill met with the full concurrence of the Borough Councils of Randwick and Paddington.

Mr. TRICKETT said that he could quite endorse all that Mr. Burns had said, and for the information of some hon. members he might state that this area in question was close to St. Matthias' Church.

The motion was agreed to, and the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill in detail.

The bill was passed through committee without amendment, the House resumed, the bill was reported without amendment, the report was adopted, and the third reading of the bill was made an order of the day for Tuesday next.

SINGLETON GAS BILL.

Mr. BURNS moved the second reading of the Singleton Gas Bill. He said that its object was to authorise the construction of gasworks in the borough of Singleton, and it had been before the House for some considerable time. A bill with the like provisions was withdrawn on a previous occasion in consequence of the then Speaker ruling that amendments which had been made in it were beyond the order of leave. The present bill had also been amended in one important particular, which was, that the gasworks might at any future time be brought under the operation of any general Act which might be passed relative to the manufacture and sale of gas in the colony, irrespective of the power which it would confer on the promoter of the undertaking. It was his intention to move in committee new clauses which would make the bill similar to others of a like character which had recently been passed.

The motion was agreed to, and the House went into committee to consider the bill in detail.

The preamble was postponed. The clauses of the bill as printed were all agreed to without amendment.

Mr. BURNS said that he had a number of new clauses to propose, the first of which, which would stand as clause 5, being as follows:—

Clause 5. "The price for the gas shall at no time exceed 13s. 6d. per thousand cubic feet, and the gas supplied shall be absolutely free from sulphuretted hydrogen, and shall be of such minimum quality as to produce from an Argand burner having 15 holes and a 7-inch chimney, consuming five cubic feet of gas per hour, a light equal in intensity to the light produced by 15 sperm candles of six in the pound, burning 120 grains per hour."

Clause 6. "Provision for testing."
Clause 7. "Appointment of gas examiner."
Clause 8. "Gas examiner to report."
Clause 9. "Gas examiner, how paid."
Clause 10. "Meters."
Clause 11. "Borough Council may appoint inspector of meters."
Clause 12. "Regulation of meters."
Clause 13. "Legal standard."
Clause 14. "Forging stamps."
Clause 15. "Pressure of gas."

These new clauses were all agreed to without discussion or amendment.

The preamble and short title were amended to make them correspond with the bill as amended by the introduction of the new clauses.

The House resumed, the bill with amendments and amended title was reported to the House, the report was adopted, and the third reading of the bill was made an order of the day for Tuesday next.

At three minutes past 7, the House adjourned until 4 p.m on Tuesday next.

In our report of the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly on Thursday, it is erroneously stated that Mr. Garrard's motion to reduce the item of £12,000, for furniture and fittings for public offices, by the sum of £2000 was negatived. In point of fact the Minister for Works accepted the motion, and it was agreed to without division.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

THE OUTBREAK OF SCAB.

We are informed that Mr. Lomax, on whose land the American sheep recently destroyed were placed for agistment has forwarded to the Minister for Mines the following as his claim for compensation in connection with the outbreak of scab. It may be remembered that when these sheep were reported to be scabby, a deputation waited upon the Minister for Mines, and urged the honourable gentleman to cause the sheep to be destroyed, and the premises and fencing to be burned. Mr. Lomax formed one of the deputation, and he received a promise that he should be compensated for damage done to his property. "Estimate of expenses in dipping sheep, &c., from 12th of February, 1884, to 31st March, 1884:—30 men, 43 days at 8s. per day each, £516; 3 overseers for 6 weeks, at £3, £54; H. G. Lomax, 43 days, at £2 2s. a day, £90 6s.—£660 6s.; hire of engine, 31 days, at 10s., £15 10s.; 10 casks of cement, at 30s., £15; 2 casks of nails, at 25s., £2 10s.; one pump and piping, £15; steam piping for engine, £; one five-horse team with dray, one three-horse team with dray, one two-horse team with dray, one one-horse team with dray, including feeding horses, £132; 20 horses for mustering, four weeks at 20s., £80; 1000 feet battens, at 25s., £12 10s.; 1 ton galvanised iron, £25 10s.; six 400-gallon tanks, with brass taps, at £7, £42; 500 slabs dressed for tank, £20—£1028 6s. Estimate of loss sustained through the undersigned by being compelled to burn woolshed, yards, &c., by order of the Minister: Woolshed, £800; yards (fencing, receiving and branding), £250; wool tables, £30; wool sheets, 100 baskets, &c., £130; about 2 miles of fencing, £120; about 2000 acres of grass, £1000; huts and other buildings, £100—£2130 0s. Estimated loss in money value on stock and station through scab being on the station of Errowangbong: 1933 fat sheep sent to Homebush, loss on sale from newspaper reports on scab that morning at 2s. per head, £193 6s.; loss on purchase and resale of 10,000 wethers at 4s. per head, £2000; loss on sale of stud ewes, 1500, at £2 per head, £3000; loss on 500 rams at £2 per head, £1000; loss on being unable to sell store sheep and breeding ewes, 10,000 at 10s. per head, £5000; general depreciation in value of station and stock, knocking about of sheep, more especially ewes heavy in lamb, and including 3000 stud ewes, and being unable to show sheep at any of the forthcoming exhibitions, depreciation in value of clip of 30,000 sheep through dipping, £10,000—£21,193 6s. Total, £24,651 12s. Errowangbong, March 31, 1884." The above particulars were enclosed in a letter from Mr. Lomax's solicitors. Upon this letter the Minister for Mines has written the following minute:—"The writers may be informed that I shall not entertain the claim of Mr. Lomax, and that he must enforce the same in the usual way.—J. P. ABBOTT. 3-4-84."

DEPUTATIONS.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AT SNAIL'S BAY.

Mr. Garrard, M.L.A., yesterday introduced a deputation consisting of Mr. Ellis Robinson and Mr. M'Donald, accompanied by Mr. Hutchinson, M.L.A., to the Minister for Public Instruction, to ask for the establishment of a Public School at Snail's Bay.

Mr. GARRARD explained that it was proposed that the Government should rent the schoolroom lately built by the St. John's Church of England. They were glad to know that the Government had decided to establish a school in this locality, but as a considerable time would elapse before the building could be finished, and the St. John's schoolroom was now ready for occupation, it would be well to take advantage of the opportunity, and establish the school at once. There was a large population in the neighbourhood, which would eventually be as densely peopled as any other part of Balmain.

Mr. ROBINSON said that the new building was 60 feet long by 30 feet wide, and about 18 feet high. Its position would render it useful to the district, as both the existing schools were 1½ and 1½ miles distant respectively. The establishment of a school in this building would give the Government an opportunity of discovering the amount of accommodation that would be required in the new school, for which the ground selected was within 100 yards of the St. John's building. Hundreds of children could not get to school because the distance was so great, and this difficulty would be the more felt now that winter was coming. They proposed that the Government should rent the building on the same terms as in the case of St. Mary's. The school would probably open with 100 children, and the attendance would go on increasing.

Mr. ABBOTT: These 100 children would be partly drawn from the other schools.

Mr. GARRARD: And a good job too, for they are already overcrowded.

Mr. ROBINSON went on to state that there were already 1300 children attending the Superior school and 1150 at the other, and the establishment of the new school would be a relief in many ways.

Mr. ABBOTT said he recognised the necessity for the school, but the practical question of cost had to be considered. What rental did they want?

Mr. ROBINSON replied that they would suggest £120 a year, but the actual amount was not a great object.

Mr. ABBOTT: What was the cost of the building?

Mr. ROBINSON: About £400.

Mr. ABBOTT: You want the Department to pay for it.

Mr. ROBINSON: The trustees, Mr. Hutchinson and myself, have been empowered to make arrangements with the Government. The price suggested was proposed by the Church.

Mr. ABBOTT: You will have to be a little more modest in your request. It is only 24 per cent. on the capital.

Mr. ROBINSON: Well, they will have to come down.

Mr. ABBOTT stated that he had already given instructions, and the surveyor had taken steps to have the land surveyed. The site did not appear to be altogether a good one, on account of the rocky nature of the place.

On referring to a plan, he pointed out that the ground was described as precipitous, but the deputation stated that although that was so in a particular spot, there was level ground above and below.

Mr. HUTCHINSON said that the St. John's building had been erected for Sunday-school purposes, and was suitable so far as it went. It was of wood, and would serve temporarily until the Government had erected a school on their own site. There was a large and rapidly-increasing population, which would grow still larger as the docks at Cockatoo Island gave employment to numbers of workmen, for whose children this would be the nearest school. He was quite sure the Department would recognise the importance of the matter, and establish the school—not only for the benefit of those living at Snail's Bay, but for the relief of the other schools at Balmain.

Mr. ABBOTT said that all he could promise about this proposal to rent the building was that a report should be obtained from the inspector, and when that officer went to see the trustees those gentlemen would have to be prepared to ask a fair rental. He would not take it at the rate asked for. It was not fair to ask the Department to build a Sunday school.

Mr. ROBINSON promised to mention the matter of rental to the church officers, and the deputation then withdrew.

NORTH SHORE REQUIREMENTS.

A deputation, amongst whose members were Messrs. Burns, Holtermann, Murray, Chapman, Withers, R. B. Smith, Sutherland, and Slattery, Ms.L.A., Mr. A. Armstrong, Mayor of East St. Leonards; Mr. N. M'Burney, Mayor of St. Leonards; Mr. W. Waterhouse, Mayor of Victoria; Mr. H. Fleming, Mayor of North Willoughby; and Mr. M. A. Carey, hon. secretary to the North Shore Improvement Committee, interviewed the Secretary for Public Works yesterday morning, their object being to lay before him certain requirements affecting the district of North Shore. The deputation urged the desirableness of the Government establishing a line of steam ferries between Sydney and North Shore, as recently proposed by them. They referred to the fact that the motion of the Government for the establishment of that line had been rejected by the House, and they expressed a hope that a motion for the rescission of the resolution of the House might be brought forward. The constantly increasing traffic on the ferry boats now running between Sydney and North Shore, they said, afforded evidence of the fact that an additional line should be established on the principles proposed by the Government. They were of opinion that capital expended by the Government in the establishment of a service for carrying passengers and wheel traffic between Sydney and North Shore would return to the State a fair interest, and, moreover, it would tend to bring into operation a large area for the natural growth of the city and suburbs. The deputation also asked that the Government might take immediate steps to construct a tramway to the heights of St. Leonards by one of the routes already surveyed by the Tramway Department. It was pointed out that the suburbs separated from Sydney by the waters of Port Jackson, and embraced within the parishes of Willoughby and Manly Cove, contained a population of about 15,000 inhabitants, the greater part of whom lived in such a position that they, in order to reach their places of business within the city, were compelled to travel by the old-fashioned and inferior vehicles licensed by the Transit Commissioners to ply in the vicinity of St. Leonards, and that the number of persons to whom a tramway to the heights of St. Leonards would be a boon ensured a sufficient amount of traffic to render such a tramway a safe investment of State capital. The deputation further requested that a branch line of railway might be constructed from Pearce's corner to the waters of Port Jackson. The reasons urged for the construction of this line were that it would save a considerable distance for through traffic from Newcastle. The line was not an expensive line to construct comparing it with other lines, and it would relieve the central terminus from being overcrowded. It would provide suitable accommodation for shipping desirous of coaling in the harbour of Port Jackson, and it would afford a rapidly growing community means of access to and from the metropolis. For these reasons, added to the fact that the railway had already been sanctioned by Parliament, the deputation urged a speedy construction, and more especially they urged that the line should come to Blue's Point, as laid down in the original approved survey, that being the nearest available spot to Sydney, and affording the largest amount of accommodation to the greatest number.

Mr. WRIGHT, in reply, said that in reference to the line of ferry boats he had done all in his power to push that matter forward. The deputation might be aware that the Government had considerable trouble in getting tenders invited for the construction of those boats, and a resolution was afterwards carried in the House of a character adverse to the expenditure of any money in that direction. He blamed the residents of St. Leonards for the apathy they had shown in the matter. Had they shown some activity when the proposal of the Government was first made known, and expressed themselves in favour of it, it would in all probability have been agreed to, but the argument used chiefly against the proposal in the House was that those penny-boats were not required. The best course now to pursue was for the deputation to petition Parliament in regard to the matter, and he felt almost satisfied that if a petition were presented to the House and a motion submitted, the recent resolution would be rescinded. As for the tramway, that was a question which had engaged his attention for a long time past. He expected to have the plans completed shortly for this tramway and as soon as they were ready there would be no delay on his part in the matter. With regard to the construction of a railway line from Pearce's corner to St. Leonards, he advised the deputation to wait in the matter until a careful survey of the whole of that portion of the country was made, and then there would be a better opportunity for selecting a site from which a branch line might be brought from the Waratah line to St. Leonards. The deputation then thanked the Minister and withdrew.

DESTRUCTION OF MARSUPIALS.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. W. F. Buchanan, James Moseley, V. Dowling, W. A. Kingscott, R. G. Higgings, W. M'Rae, and other gentlemen, members of Stock and Pastoral Boards in various parts of the colony, waited upon the Minister for Mines yesterday to ask the hon. gentleman to cause to be placed on the Estimates the sum of £25,000 for the purpose of granting subsidies on the rates levied by themselves towards the destruction of marsupials. In support of their application they stated that the sum of £35,000 was on the Estimates last year, and that the sum they now asked was urgently required. In reply, Mr. Abbott promised that he would ask his colleagues to place on the additional Estimates the £25,000 now sought for.

THE RABBIT PEST.

A deputation, consisting of Messrs. J. Cramsie, A. Wilson, W. J. Lyne (Members of the Legislative Assembly), F. M'Farland, J. Shanahan, C. A. Chesney, and M. Darchey, waited upon the Minister for Mines yesterday, for the purpose of presenting to the hon. gentleman certain resolutions passed at a meeting held in Melbourne of sheepowners interested in the rabbit question.

Mr. M'FARLAND read to the hon. gentleman the following document:—"The Hon. the Minister for Mines. Sir,—At a meeting of sheepowners interested in the rabbit question, held at Melbourne on the 21st March, the following resolutions were carried, and the mover and seconder of each resolution were appointed a committee to lay the matter before you, and urge the favourable consideration of their views, which committee we represent. The resolutions were:—'1. That this meeting is desirous of expressing its disapproval of the action of the Government in withholding the money due as subsidy to owners, and fairly earned as representing money actually expended under instructions from the Minister for Mines in connection with the Rabbit Nuisance Act of 1883. 2. That the results from the working of the Rabbit Nuisance Act of 1883, which has now been in operation for nearly a year, are not such as to warrant its being carried on in the manner adopted, and that amendment is urgently required in the method in which it is administered. 3. That the bonus system be combined with the payment of weekly wages. 4. That an assessor or assessors be appointed to hear and decide all claims for subsidy and scalp money, who should sit in open court, say once a quarter, at the principal towns, such as Wentworth, Wilcannia, Ivanhoe, Moulamein, and other places. All claims when adjusted and passed by the assessor should be approved by the Minister, and paid, appeal from assessors' decision to the Minister to be allowed.' First Resolution.—With regard to this we may state that on account of the long delays and the apparent impossibility of obtaining the subsidy promised, many owners are getting of opinion that it is not the intention of the department to pay the subsidy, and they are consequently losing heart. Many of them have already expended large sums, and are beginning to find a difficulty consequent on the hardness of the money market in obtaining funds to carry on the work of destruction. If the Department will at once advance even 50 per cent. of the amount expended, with a promise that the balance of the remaining 25 per cent. shall be paid as soon as the claims can be adjusted, it would place owners in a position to carry out the Act with renewed vigour; and as they have now been at work from six to nine months without receiving (except in two or three cases) a shilling of subsidy, we do not think this suggestion unreasonable. Second and third resolutions may be taken together, and we would suggest that a combination of the bonus with the wages system be adopted by allowing 4d. per scalp (making the subsidy 3d.) and a sliding scale of wages per man (to include rations and attendance, hire of drays, horses, dogs, &c.), according to the nature of the country, and whether it is thickly, medium, or lightly infested. That each owner be informed as to what scale his charges are to be based upon by the inspector and the owner, if feeling aggrieved, may appeal to the Minister to have his property placed in a different class. The local inspectors should be prohibited from paying any higher rate than that fixed for the adjoining properties, as it interferes with the owners' endeavours to obtain men at reasonable rates, and tends to increase greatly the cost of rabbit destruction and the ordinary station work. That the power of inspectors to arbitrarily order owners to 'put on more men' should be modified, and in such cases they should be required to state their reasons for such order in writing, and point out the particular place or places on the property where they are to be employed. As things are worked at present, all the inspectors care about is that the owner has 'plenty of men on.' Whether they are doing any good or not he neither knows nor cares. It is a power also very apt to be abused, while the compelling them to state their reasons and point out the places would, we believe, prove a safeguard to both the owner and the department against being forced into useless expenditure of money at the whim of an inspector. That in cases where it is found necessary to put on Government parties on private lands the owners shall be furnished with all particulars of expenditure, in the same manner as the department requires from owners on applying for subsidy. We fully believe that the bonus system is the only one whereby we can convert every man, woman, and child into an enemy of the rabbit, and that we will by this means insure the assistance of boundary riders, selectors and their children, and all men employed on stations, farms, and about townships in the interior of the colony. Fourth—As to the final resolution with which you have already told us you cordially agree, but believe the Act does not give you the power to act upon, we would suggest, if such is the case, that instead of the solution of the difficulty of obtaining anything like a prompt settlement of claims then mentioned, that two travelling inspectors be appointed, who should be good bookkeepers, to examine all accounts before they are sent in to head-quarters, when, as they would then be probably found correct, the vexatious delays that now take place would be avoided, and the Minister put in a position to pass the claims for payment without occupying so much of his valuable time as it does now. We would refer you to Section 11., clause 6, of the regulations under the Act, which we think gives you full power to do this."

Mr. ABBOTT replied that his sympathies were with the deputation, and he would like to see the claims they had referred to paid almost as soon as they were sent in. They had, however, to consider the amount of money available for the purpose of this extermination and use it carefully, and it was, therefore, necessary that these accounts should be investigated critically. Perhaps they were investigated too critically. He knew that apparently sums were charged which, looked at from the standpoint of a professional bookkeeper, appeared to be dishonest, but which, when explained, did not support such a supposition. Of course, in the country districts there was this difficulty, that the stationholders could not get bookkeepers such as could be got in Sydney, but still it was absolutely necessary that a strict investigation should be made into these accounts. If this were not done, all kinds of fraud might be perpetrated. He would do all he could to see that a fair part of the money—50 per cent. of the amount claimed—was paid where they were satisfied that the owners had been doing good work, and they would hold 25 per cent. until the accounts were investigated.

RAILWAY TO DENILIQUIN.

A deputation consisting of Mr. John D. Hatch, Mayor of Deniliquin, and Alderman A. Jamieson, representatives of the Deniliquin Railway League, and Mr. J. Lewis, accompanied by Mr. Olliffe, M.L.A., was introduced to the Secretary for Public Works yesterday by Messrs. Barbour and Wilson, Ms.L.A. The object of the interview was to urge upon the Minister the desirableness of extending the line of railway now being constructed as far as Jerilderie to Deniliquin. It was pointed out that the people living in the Deniliquin district had been compelled to trade with Victoria, with which they were now connected by rail, and had been prevented from trading with Sydney by reason of the isolated position they were in in regard to this city. The residents of the district greatly felt the burden of Victorian taxation, and especially the poorer classes, who in buying their commodities out of bond in Victoria paid as well the heavy taxes imposed by that colony as the import duty of New South Wales, and, on the other hand, the Victorian border duties, especially the stock tax and the tax on wheat of £2 per ton, detracted considerably from the profits. The whole length of the line from Jerilderie to Deniliquin would not exceed 41 miles, and the country to be traversed consisted of plains and open box country, and was perfectly level throughout. The whole work would be totally devoid of engineering difficulties. The district of Deniliquin was a very fertile one, and last year there were no less than 11,200 acres under cultivation for the growth of cereals.

Mr. WRIGHT said that all he could do in the matter was to promise the deputation that he would bring their request under the notice of his colleagues. He would give it every consideration himself, but he could not make any promise beyond that at present. He admitted that the rights of the Deniliquin district should be considered, and there was no reason, as far as he could see, why it should be debarred from the privilege of railway communication with Sydney.

PUBLIC WANTS IN THE NEWCASTLE DISTRICT.

Mr. Stewart Keightley (Mayor of Newcastle), Mr. Richardson (Mayor of Plattsburg), Mr. Abel (Mayor of Wallsend), Mr. Brown (Mayor of Hamilton), Mr. Lindus (Mayor of Wickham), and Alderman M'Williams (of Lambton) were introduced by Messrs. Melville, Tighe, and Ellis, Ms.L.A., to the Secretary for Public Works, for the purpose of urging him to provide a temporary water supply for Newcastle and the surrounding district, to construct a tramway from Newcastle to Wallsend and Plattsburg, and also public baths at Wallsend. The deputation informed Mr. Wright that the district of Newcastle was suffering under very great hardships caused by the absence of a water supply. A permanent supply was in course of being provided, but it would not be ready for some considerable time. Wells could be sunk in the Hamilton district from which a temporary supply of water would be obtained for the Newcastle district, and the deputation asked that the Government might bring a supply from Hamilton to Newcastle. In regard to the tramway asked for, it was stated that it had been frequently promised, and the deputation urged that it should be constructed without further delay.

Mr. WRIGHT said that he would take the matter of providing a temporary water supply for the Newcastle district into his serious consideration. It appeared at present that every town in the colony was without a supply of water, and even Sydney had to be placed on an intermittent supply, so that one place could sympathise with another in this respect. The matter had assumed a very serious aspect and he would do anything he reasonably could to relieve the wants of the people. Mr. Wright produced a bottle containing water which he said had been obtained in the Cobar district as a sample of the water which the people were compelled to use there. The water was specially polluted with copper, arsenic, and sulphuric acid.

In reference to the tramway from Newcastle the working drawings would be ready at the end of the month, and tenders would be called for the work when they were approved of. The matter of public baths was not one in which the Department of Public Works could take action, as it was necessary for the deputation to obtain a grant of land from the Lands Department first.

DRAINAGE AT PETERSHAM.

Mr. R. Hughes, Mayor of Petersham, and Aldermen L. Burnett, J. Gelding, and W. L. Davies waited on the Secretary for Public Works, and asked him to make some provision for the proper drainage of a portion of Petersham which had been interfered with by the construction of the Leichhardt tramway.

Mr. WRIGHT said that he would look into the matter, and have the evil remedied as soon as possible.

APPROACH TO THE CAMPBELLTOWN RAILWAY STATION.

Mr. C. Bull, Mayor of Campbelltown, and Aldermen J. Knight and A. Munro, waited on the Secretary for Public Works with a request that he would cause a fence on the street leading to the Campbelltown railway station to be removed. The street was not at present wide enough for the traffic to and from the station, and the local council could not widen the street in consequence of the obstruction caused by the fence. If the Government would order the removal of the fence, the local council would widen the street and bear all the expense.

Mr. WRIGHT promised to accede to the wish of the deputation if any difficulties which were not now apparent did not present themselves.

FRY'S COCOA EXTRACT.—"Having the superfluous richness removed, this perfectly pure and digestible preparation meets the approval of the most fastidious taste."—British Trade Journal. Ford, Adams, and Co., pro tem agents.—[ADVT.]

Messrs. FARMER and COMPANY'S NEW WAREHOUSE.

The rapid growth of the business carried on by Messrs. Farmer and Co., of Victoria House, having necessitated the erection of new premises, that firm have shown their enterprise by securing a site adjoining their present business establishment, and erecting thereon a structure which is marked by a considerable amount of architectural beauty. The new warehouse is the loftiest building of the kind in the city. It occupies a block of land at the corner of Market and Pitt streets, which was formerly the site of no less than eight business places. One of these was a publichouse, and the others were insignificant shops, none of the buildings being of such a character as to tend to enhance the value of surrounding property. The new building rises from the foundations to a total height of 118 feet. It has a frontage to Market-street of 147 feet, and a frontage to Pitt-street of 36 feet, making the total frontage occupied by the business premises of Messrs. Farmer and Co. in Pitt-street 173 feet. The new building is constructed of selected bricks. The façades to Market and Pitt streets have been freely treated in the Italian Renaissance, and special study has been given by the architect to ensure novelty of treatment in the detail. The result is that a mass of imposing and highly artistic work has been produced. The foundations of each of the piers supporting the façades are built up from the solid rock, which was found after excavating a depth of 27 feet from the street level. Throughout the work there are evidences of great stability. The building consists of eight entire floors, including the basement. Each storey of the warehouse consists of a large hall, the floor space of which is quite uninterrupted. It is customary in erecting warehouses of a similar description to support the various floors upon pillars, but in this case the use of pillars has been avoided by the employment of 42 iron girders of equal strength. The girders vary in length from 36 feet to 43 feet, the latter measurement being the depth of the building at its western end. The whole of the floor space presented by the building is equal to about one and three-quarter acres. The various floors are connected by handsome staircases, but as that old mode of reaching upper rooms does not afford sufficient facilities for the successful carrying on of such a large business as that done by the proprietors of Victoria House, hydraulic lifts of the most approved kind have been introduced into the place. The building has been specially designed as a carpet, furniture, and bedding warehouse. A considerable amount of attention has been bestowed upon the proper lighting of the building, and it need hardly be added that the thorough ventilation of the place has not been overlooked. The front of the warehouse presents no less than 97 large windows, exclusive of 14 others which are required to light the basement. From the Pitt-street side the warehouse is lighted by some 22 large windows, making the total number of windows in the new establishment 135. The ground floor, which will be the principal showroom for carpets of exquisite design, is lighted by nine large show windows, each of which is 14 feet in height by 11 feet in width. Each of these windows is filled with two large squares of British plate-glass, divided by an ornamental bar. The entrance doors are of an exceedingly beautiful design, and harmonise with the other portions of the building. At the western end of the place a large cart entrance has been provided, being intended to facilitate the receipt and delivery of goods. The principal advantage arising from the building having a southerly aspect is that the direct rays of the sun are avoided, the use of blinds dispensed with, and the fullest opportunity afforded for a minute inspection of all goods. At the time that the excavations were being made for the basement a well was sunk in the solid rock to a depth of 20 feet below the basement, when a spring of what appears to be tolerably good water was struck. The spring affords a very large supply of water, which is used for sanitary and other appliances. The basement floor consists of Val de Travers asphalt, which presents a very even surface, and is absolutely impervious to damp. In the western end of the basement, and immediately under the drayway, is a 12-horse power gas engine, which drives the hydraulic machinery in connection with the lifts and other appliances in the building. All the other floors in the building are made of 1½ inch kauri pine. The ceilings of each story are lined with Baltic deal. The basement is 11 feet 6 inches in height, the ground floor 15 feet, and the other floors vary from 14 feet to 10 feet in height. Above the highest storey has been erected a promenade, measuring 32 feet by 14 feet. It is reached by a staircase running from the uppermost floor, and will enable privileged visitors to get a splendid view, revealing the magnitude of the city. Including the windows and doors, there are 10 large spaces which require to be closed or protected at night time. To close those openings every night with shutters would involve a considerable expenditure of time and labour. A novelty has been introduced, consisting of massive iron grilles which run in metal grooves and will be raised and lowered, as required, by hydraulic machinery. All the grilles have not, however, yet been fitted in the grooves which they are to occupy. The power to work the whole of the lifting appliances on the premises is supplied by the 12 h.p. gas engine, which drives four brass plunger pumps. These pumps supply water, at a pressure of 100lb. per inch, to an accumulator 24 inches in diameter by 10 feet stroke. This accumulator supplies the water pressure to the whole of the lifts and elevators, and has an ingenious attachment to it by which, when the accumulator is full, the engine is slowed, and the pumps are made to return the water to their own suction, and thus save power. In the event of such a contingency happening as this gear not working properly at any time, provision has been made whereby the further rise of the accumulator releases the driving pulley on the engine shaft, and thus stops the pumps altogether. By an automatic arrangement the pumps are started, and the water again pumped to the accumulator as it is required, so that the engineer in charge has only to start the engine in the morning, and see to the lubrication, when it takes care of itself for the rest of the day, and provides water power, more or less, just as required. While the machinery is at work the gas is burnt in proportion to the work actually done, and no power is wasted. Near the engine-room there is a goods or freight elevator, with 80 feet travel from the basement to the top floor. This is on the most improved system, and imported from Otis Bros., of New York, who made it for Messrs. Hudson Brothers, the local agents of the American firm. The freight car is 7 feet 6 inches by 4 feet, made of varnished ash, and is provided with special safety arrangements. It can be made to travel at a speed of 160 feet per minute, or as much slower as desired. The passenger elevator is opposite the main entrance in Market-street, and like the freight elevator rises the full height of the building (80 feet). The passenger elevator is fitted up in a very superior manner. The car is lifted by six wire ropes, all of most beautiful make, finely laid and polished. Four ropes work from the elevator piston, and two connect with the balance weight. If any one of these ropes should stretch or break, a special form of safety gear would at once stop the car; and each one of those ropes is by itself strong enough to carry it. As a further precaution, a governor is connected with the elevator, so that should a careless or reckless attendant attempt to descend at a greater rate than the intended speed, the governor throws the safety gear into action and arrests the descent of the car. The passenger car is made of choice Spanish mahogany, with bevel-edged and silvered plates in the panels, and is exquisitely carved and decorated in the coved roof. It has a seat upholstered in maroon morocco, and an embossed plate-glass window. The enclosures to the passenger elevator on the principal floors are fine specimens of cabinet work in polished cedar, the elaborations being designed to correspond with the general treatment of the building. Besides these main elevators there is a direct lift in the workrooms of the adjoining old premises. The new building has on the ground floor 10 openings, each about 11 feet wide. Each grille which is to be employed in protecting these openings will be 11 feet wide by 8 feet high, and weighs half a ton. They will slide in permanent iron grooves built in the reveals of the main piers, and rest on the head of hydraulic lifts. To each of the 10 lifts there is a pressure and waste pipe, with regulating appliances connected with the hydraulic machinery. An attendant by simply turning a handle will cause the grilles to rise in front of the plate-glass windows, or descend 5 feet into the areas, leaving projecting 3 feet of the grille to protect the area window. In front of the main doorway the grille descends the whole 8 feet through a groove in the steps, and when it is down it cannot be seen, as the bar of the grille just fills the groove in the step all flush. One man can in two or three minutes close up or open the whole premises, moving 5 to 6 tons of iron work. The cart entrance in Market-street is closed by a pair of ornamental iron gates. The grilles and gates are all of malleable iron specially designed to correspond with the building, and were constructed and erected by Messrs. Hudson Brothers, Limited. This company also constructed the whole of the hydraulic machinery, except the Otis elevators, which they imported from the makers, and were the contractors for the whole of the machinery. The whole plant is said to be of the most complete and elaborate kind yet installed in the colony, and works with the most perfect smoothness and precision. On the top storey of the building 24 iron tanks have been erected for the storage of water, which is pumped up by the gas engine from the well in the basement. The tanks are capable of storing 9600 gallons of water, for the use of which in the event of fire the necessary appliances, designed by Mr. C. J. Brown, have been provided. A special 4-inch pipe has been laid on from the warehouse to a water main, which is connected with the high-pressure water supply of the city. The water from the well in the basement is used for the hydraulic machinery, sanitary arrangements, &c., whilst that obtained from the 4-inch supply pipe is used almost exclusively for consumption. Three lightning rods have been erected for the protection of the building, the height of which renders it a strong attraction for the electric fluid. Messrs. Farmer and Company have hitherto employed about 550 hands, but the erection of the new building has necessitated the increasing of that number by 50. The architect for the new warehouse was Mr. Albert Bond, of Bell's-chambers, Pitt-street, and the contractor Mr. W. H. Jennings; Mr. Alex. Sellars was clerk, and Messrs. W. Whitehorn and T. Yates foremen of works. The hydraulic machinery was erected under the superintendence Mr. Norman Selfe, who was also the inventor of some of it. Mr. R. J. Parish was the sub-contractor for the plastering, and is to be commended for having produced some of the finest work in the colony. The iron girders, which were imported, were supplied by Messrs. James Dunn and Co., of Custom House-buildings, and the gasfittings by Mr. Alex. Gilchrist, who has invented a new kind of sunlight for the building.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, APRIL 4.

In Chambers.—(Before his Honor Sir WILLIAM MANNING.)

M'MURTRIE AND ANOTHER V. STANLEY.

Mr. Heydon moved to set aside a writ of ca. re in this matter. The defendant had been arrested on the belief that he was about to leave the colony in order to avoid an action for £600 brought by the plaintiffs, M'Murtrie, Kellerman, and Co., for breach of agreement as a servant. The defendant's affidavit stated that the agreement to serve another 12 months was to have been put in writing within a fortnight from the understanding, and this was not done. He had not threatened to return to America, but was merely going to Melbourne for a holiday, leaving his wife here. He was arrested on the 27th ultimo, and being unable to find bail was still in gaol.

Mr. Cecil Stephen appeared on behalf of the plaintiffs, and read affidavits in reply. The plaintiffs both swore that a verbal agreement for another year's service was entered into with defendant, and he only worked one month more before he left.

Mr. Heydon submitted that the plaintiffs should have seen that the agreement was entered into in writing. If the facts had been stated as they ought to have been, the ca. re never would have been granted. If there had been an agreement, the plaintiffs could have gone to the police court under the Masters and Servants Act.

His HONOR set aside the writ with costs.

Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction.—(Before his Honor the PRIMARY JUDGE.)

BENNETT V. CORNER AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Walker moved to have this suit set down for trial by a jury.

His HONOR ordered a jury to be summoned for Thursday week.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor the PRIMARY JUDGE.)

HOOD V. LAWLER.

Dr. Sly moved for leave to file a statement of defence.

Mr. A. H. Simpson appeared for the plaintiff.

His HONOR made an order as asked, the statement to be filed by Tuesday.

RAWSON V. ROBINSON AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Armstrong moved for a discovery order in this suit; granted.

RAILWAY RESUMPTIONS.—APPOINTMENTS OF GUARDIANS.

On the motion of Mr. A. H. Simpson, guardians were appointed in respect to railway resumptions for the following infants:—Peter O'Brien, Edward Brett, and George Wilson.

GRIFFEN V. THOMPSON AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Knox for the plaintiff, Mr. Lingen for the defendant. Counsel agreed that this injunction motion should stand over for a month, on an undertaking given by the defendant not to proceed on the action at law.

IN RE WM. DOYLE, INTESTATE.

Mr. Watkins moved for a vesting order of the property in question.

His HONOR made an order as asked, subject to the filing of an affidavit of the demand and refusing to convey by the surviving trustee 28 days before this application was made.

IN RE H. J. PARKINSON.

Mr. Lingen moved for permission to allow this suitor to sue in forma pauperis.

His HONOR made an order as asked, and assigned Mr. Lingen as counsel and Mr. Pennington solicitor.

HARPER AND ANOTHER V. BROWN AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Knox moved to have a day fixed for the hearing of this suit.

His HONOR made an order that the case be first on the list for the 28th instant.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

In the matter of Joel Phillips and Joseph Aarons, adjourned second meeting. Mr. W. H. Pigott appeared for creditors in the estate, and Mr. Nash, instructed by Messrs. Holdsworth and Evans, for the insolvents. Joel Phillips, examined by Mr. Trickett, said that he had filed certain accounts and sworn to them; they were transcripts of his cash book and bank pass-book: they did not show in any way goods parted with by him, or what had become of the shipments of goods received by him during the past six months. It was impossible for him to show what had become of these shipments, because a hawker might come in and buy 25 or 30 different lines for 10s.; he did not keep a stock book or an account of what he disposed of; the assistants did not keep entries of what they sold; Mr. Smith left the business six years ago, and he and Aarons had carried it on ever since; they kept a ledger, day book, cash book, invoice book, bill book, letter book, and rough books, in which latter orders were entered; when these rough books were filled they were thrown away; in the invoice book were copies of all invoices sent to his customers; he did not keep a stock book, but he kept a book of the various invoices received, that is of the shipments received; the ledger prior to 1882 was, he thought, with other old books and papers in the store still; he did not hand them to the official assignee: he left them in the office when the official assignee took charge; he did not hand to the official assignee any books but a ledger and some other books containing transactions subsequent to January, 1882; all the invoices of shipments were, he believed, in Mr. Stephen's charge, or on his old premises; his ledger did not show his indebtedness to English creditors; he left that to his partner, Mr. Aarons; he was not a bookkeeper, but made rough entries, which were entered in the books by his bookkeeper; Mr. M. S. Levy, 61, Castlereagh-street, was the gentleman who kept his books; balance-sheets were made up occasionally, but he could not say where they were; he always copied them into a letter-book; as the shipments came from Mr. Aarons' some went into the store, and others went direct to the auctioneer for sale without bulk being broken; the auctioneers were Charles Moore, Harris and Ackman, Kellett and Alford, and Cohen; he could not tell how much he received from Moore and Co. between March and September, 1883; it was a large sum; the goods were first brought to the store, and after choosing what he wanted he sent the remainder to Moore and Co.; he paid them 6½ per cent. commission on the sale; the item of £133 cash was handed over to Mr. Macnab, to whom he handed over his estate for the benefit of his creditors; he had had several threatening letters from different solicitors wanting him to hand over his estate to them; Mr. Pigott asked him on the 9th and 11th October, 1883, either to sequestrate his estate or hand it over to trustees for the benefit of his creditors, and he then refused; Mr. Pigott showed him telegrams from a solicitor in England, who, Mr. Pigott said, was the solicitor for all his European creditors; he sequestrated his estate on the 19th December; he saw Mr. Macnab, and handed over to him £600 in cash; in his cashbook there was an item dated December, 1883, "Balance forward, £746 2s.," and out of this he handed to Mr. Macnab £600 in cash; he thought he was acting as Mr. Pigott wished in asking Mr. Macnab to take charge of the estate; he had no bills due between October and the 6th December; Mr. Macnab had charge of the goods in the store, and received some shipments, but no business was done after October. His Honor adjourned the meeting at this stage, to Friday, the 2nd May, that supplementary schedules might be filed.

In the matter of Joseph Rose, adjourned single meeting, the insolvent was examined, and ordered to file a supplementary schedule.

In the matters of John O'Sullivan, Charles Smith, and Michael Cusack and Francis Cusack, third meetings were held and terminated.

In the matters of Adolphus Le Breton and John Ellis, second meetings were held and terminated.

In the matters of Leochlean Henry Hair and G. Browne, first meetings were held and terminated.

In the matter of W. Huddlestone Bogie, a special meeting for proof of debt was taken and terminated.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge FORBES.)

A large number of cases were taken and disposed of, but in every case the amount sued for was under £10, and the proceedings were devoid of public interest.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge WILKINSON.)

Mr. F. J. Healy prosecuted for the Crown.

Thomas Walker and Margaret Bryant were charged with assaulting John Cavill, a labourer, in Quay-street, Sydney, and robbing him of £3 19s. 11d., on the 22nd March last. The prosecutor identified the prisoners. The female had accosted him in the street during the evening, and he moved her aside, when the male prisoner came up and knocked him down; both prisoners then took money from his pockets, and ran up a lane; the man had side whiskers at that time, but had afterwards shaved them off; the prisoners were seen frequently in company. Constable Roche gave corroborative evidence as to the removal of Walker's whiskers, and to having seen the prisoners together. The jury found the prisoners guilty. Walker was sentenced to penal servitude for 14 years; Bryant for five years.

Ann Philbert was charged with having stolen a bag of eggs from Francis Durand, of North-street, Sussex-street. The evidence was considered unsatisfactory, and the jury acquitted the accused, who was accordingly discharged.

Mary Jane M'Kay pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. On the 1st May, 1882, at Sydney, she had married Philip Pepin, her former husband, Thomas Henry M'Kay, to whom she was married on the 15th July, 1876, at Newcastle, being then alive. She was remanded for sentence.

John Terry pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny, by winning money at cards by fraud from Samuel Cubis, at Canterbury, on 22nd March last. It was proved that the prisoner had won £6 from Cubis at three-card monte, and that several confederates were about at the time, and that there had been a trick in the use of the cards. The prisoner was found guilty and was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

Jane Hales pleaded guilty to a charge of having attempted suicide, and was bound over to appear when called on for judgment.

Michael Doran and David Cleary were charged with having assaulted with intent to rob Thomas Hayes, at the corner of Goulburn and Sussex streets, on 8th March last. Evidence was given to the effect that the prosecutor was sitting in the street, and the prisoners came up to him and knocked him down. They then held him down while they groped about his pockets, after which they ran away. Doran made a statement that the affair was simply a fight between himself and Hayes in consequence of the latter having made offensive remarks about the prisoner's sister, and Cleary denied all knowledge of the matter. Both prisoners were found guilty of assault with intent to rob. Doran had eight previous convictions recorded against him, and was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude. There were over 20 previous convictions against Cleary, who was also sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Edward Shuttleworth, a middle-aged man of respectable appearance, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having indecently assaulted a married woman named Mary Ann Ross in Campbell-street on March 7. Mary Ann Ross gave evidence that she was going along Campbell-street, about 6 in the evening, and was passed by the prisoner, who was under the influence of liquor, and caught hold of her dress with his nearer hand; she was afraid of him, and struck him with her umbrella; the prisoner was a stranger to her; there was a hoarding on the pavement at the spot. Another witness gave evidence that the prisoner had gone close up against the woman while passing her on the narrow pavement, and struck her on the breast. Mrs. Ross, recalled, said that the striking on the breast was purely accidental and after she struck him. She also said she did not wish to press the charge, and had kept away from the Police Court on that account. The prisoner said he knew nothing of the matter, as he was slightly intoxicated. He called witnesses who gave him an excellent character. The jury acquitted the prisoner, who was accordingly discharged.

Henry Elliott Clarke was brought up for sentence, having been found guilty of obtaining money by false pretences. He said he had been prompted to write the cheques. This being his first offence, he was sentenced to imprisonment for 18 months on each of two charges, concurrent.

Patrick Boylan, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of maliciously wounding the Rev. Mr. Sturdee, was sentenced to 5 years' penal servitude. His Honor said he would cause inquiries to be made regarding the prisoner's sanity.

William John Henry, convicted of forging and uttering, with a recommendation to mercy, was sentenced to penal servitude for five years, concurrent with a term of three years, to which the prisoner was already sentenced.

LAW NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, APRIL 7.

In Equity, at 11 a.m., before his Honor the Primary Judge.—Moss v. Moss, hearing; Jarman v. Harper and others, motion for decree; Hall and others v. Hargrave and others.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Crane, S.M., presided in the Charge Court yesterday, and Mr. O'Malley Clarke, S.M., in the Summons Court.

Ellen Mulholland was fined £1, or seven days, for drunkenness; and the same defendant, for making use of obscene language in George-street, was fined £2, or one month's imprisonment.

Florence Massey was fined £2, or one month, for having made use of indecent language in Liverpool-street.

John Wadsworth, charged with having been guilty of indecent conduct in a railway carriage, was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

Grace M'Laughlan, for having been drunk in Cleveland-street, was fined 5s., or twenty-four hours; and for making use of indecent language in Terminus-street was fined £2, or fourteen days.

Ann Carey was fined £1, or seven days, for drunkenness in Belmore Gardens, and for making use of obscene language in Pitt-street was fined 40s., or one month's imprisonment.

William Jones, for offending against decency in Hay-street, was fined £5, or in default levy and distress, or three months' imprisonment.

Richard Thomas, for a similar offence in Abercrombie-street, was ordered to be imprisoned for three months with hard labour.

John Chapman, charged with having made use of profane language in Sussex-street, was fined £2, or one month's imprisonment.

Harry Stegga, for an offence against decency in Elizabeth-street, was fined £2, or 14 days' imprisonment.

Thomas Harrison was charged, at the instance of Inspector Webber, of the Animals Protection Society, with cruelly illtreating a horse. The defendant, who pleaded guilty, was fined £3, or two months' imprisonment.

Thomas Flanagan was charged, in company with others, with garotting one Francis Owen, and robbing him of £14. The prosecutor is a farmer, residing at Bankstown, and about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of March 19 saw the prisoner in an auction room at the Haymarket. The prosecutor left the room, and went to a urinal, whither the prisoner and two other men followed him. He was at the time wearing a handkerchief round his neck, and the prisoner caught hold of and twisted it, preventing him from calling out. The three men then caught hold of him, threw him down, and put their hands into his pockets. When knocked down he became insensible, but on coming to he missed about £14 or £15, which he had in one of his pockets before he entered the place. When in the auction-room he had occasion to pull some money out of his pocket, and the prisoner could have seen him doing so. The garotting was witnessed by a van proprietor named Purcell, who rushed at the men, but they ran away. Purcell recognised the prisoner, who was arrested on the following day at his mother's residence, Surry Hills. The prisoner was committed for trial at the Quarter Sessions, bail being allowed, himself in £80, and two sureties of £40 each.

August Guahull, charged with working a horse with a sore back on the Abattoir-road, was fined £1, or three days' imprisonment.

Johanna Kay pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on April 2, assaulted one William Arthur, was fined £3, or two months' imprisonment.

We have been requested to state that the 22nd instant has been fixed for the Quarterly Licensing Court, but not necessarily for renewals. A special date for applications for renewals has been fixed for the 10th of June, which will be the last before the expiration of the licenses, and ten days' notice of application must be given prior to that date.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Mr. Marsh, S.M., disposed of the business yesterday.

A number of persons were fined for drunkenness.

Albert Clarke, charged with having been drunk and disorderly in Castlereagh-street, was fined 10s., in default 48 hours' imprisonment, and for assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty he was sent to gaol for four months.

William Matthews (47), fireman, was fined 60s., in default one month's imprisonment, for having used obscene language in Margaret-street.

William George (24), seaman, and Philip Moore (21), labourer, were charged with having behaved in a riotous manner in Woolloomooloo-street. The evidence showed that the prisoners had been fighting in the street and had caused a good deal of disturbance. They were each ordered to be imprisoned for seven days.

Mary Ann M'Gregor (42), charged with having insufficient means of support, was ordered to be imprisoned for three months. She was also fined £5, in default three months' imprisonment, upon a charge of having used obscene language in the Domain.

Eliza Lawrence (35) was fined 20s., in default seven days' gaol, for having been drunk in Begg-street, Paddington. She was also fined 40s., in default 14 days in gaol, upon a charge of having used obscene language in Underwood-street, Paddington.

Michael Tyrall (27), seaman, was fined 60s., in default one month in gaol, for having used indecent language in Argyle-street.

Hector M'Kearney (35), painter, pleaded guilty to stealing a soldering iron, valued at 11s., the property of Frederick Clarke, and was ordered to be imprisoned for seven days.

John William Hughes, alias Yorkey, was charged with assaulting one Morris Moss, timekeeper, employed by the Sydney 'Bus Company. The evidence showed that on the evening of the 31st March the prisoner, who had been in the employment of the Sydney 'Bus Company as driver, struck the prosecutor, knocked him down, and kicked him several times without any provocation whatever, and continued assaulting him in a violent manner until he was interfered with by Mr. Beaumont, of Lower Fort-street Public school. Three witnesses were called for the prosecution, and each characterised the assault as a most brutal one. The defendant was fined £7 and costs; in default, four months' imprisonment.

REDFERN POLICE COURT.

Mr. T. Kingsmill Abbott, S.M., occupied the bench yesterday.

William Alcock was charged with knowingly leaving a tram car without having first paid his fare or delivered a ticket, and, pleading guilty, was fined 40s., with 4s. 10d. costs, or seven days' imprisonment.

William Bryson, steward s.s. Aldinga, pleaded guilty to the charge of having on the 16th March ultimo quitted a tram car whilst in motion, and was fined 40s., costs 4s. 10d., or seven days in gaol.

Albert M'Nulty (9), was charged with having on the 1st April instant stolen the sum of £82 from John M'Nulty. Prosecutor said he was a waggonette proprietor, and lived in Alma-street, Darlington; prisoner was his son; about 8.30 a.m. on the 1st instant he had the sum of £82 (viz., 10 £5 notes, 3 £10 notes, and 2 £1 notes) in his waistcoat pocket, underneath the pillow in his bedroom; he had occasion to leave the room for a few minutes, and on returning found the money had been abstracted; he next saw a portion of it in the possession of a man whom he had sent to look for his son. Robert Stanley deposed that in consequence of something prosecutor told him he went to Botany on Wednesday evening last and there found the prisoner; he searched him and found £68 7s. on him; he brought prisoner back to his father, and handed the money over to Constable Payne. Alfred Jones stated that he lived with his parents in Alma-street, Darlington; on Tuesday morning last he accompanied prisoner to Botany in the tram; there were five of them altogether; prisoner paid their fares, and subsequently gave witness a £5 note to change; they afterwards went to Foley's baths, at Woolloomooloo, and strolled about the Botanic Gardens; they then went to Parramatta by train, but eventually returned to Botany; he had nothing to do with taking the money. Prisoner's father wished to withdraw the charge, but Mr. Abbott said he should have thought of that before giving him into custody: all the parties were before him, and he must deal with the case. Prisoner then elected to be summarily dealt with, and, pleading guilty, was sentenced to be imprisoned till the rising of the Court.

BALMAIN POLICE COURT.

Mr. Marsh, S.M., attended at the Balmain Police Court yesterday, and adjudicated upon the following cases:—

George Johnson was charged with being of unsound mind, and was remanded for a week for medical treatment.

John Henrick , William Fletcher, Paul Ledger, William Roser, John Davis, William Allen, and John Morris were each fined 5s., with 4s. costs, for a breach of the Public School Act in neglecting to send their children to school.

William Woodman appeared on two charges for unlawfully assaulting a Sheriff's officer named O'Brien whilst in the execution of his duty, and also assaulting Constable Beadman under similar circumstances. Both cases were remanded, the defendant being allowed out on bail, himself in £40, and two sureties of £20 each.

COMPLIMENTARY FAREWELL DINNER TO MR. JOHN WOODS.

A large and brilliant gathering took place last evening, in Compagnoni's banqueting-room, in compliment to Mr. John Woods, who is about to leave the colony for Europe. A well-laid table had been prepared, and was occupied by about 60 gentlemen, representing both Houses of the Legislature, the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Press, and many departments of industry and commerce. The Hon. W. B. Dalley, Attorney-General, presided, having on his right hand the guest, Mr. Woods, and on the left Mr. John Hardie, Mayor of Sydney. The vice-chairmen were Mr. John Sutherland, M.L.A., and Mr. Hugh George. Among the company were Messrs. Moses, Pigott, Slattery, and S. Smith, M.s L.A.; Messrs. Heary, Robert, and W. Hudson; Messrs. G. M. and R. Pitt; Mr. Jamison; Major Cracknell, Mr. Forsaith, Mr. Heston, Mr. Shenstone, Mr. Munro, Mr. Taylor, Mr. John Young, Mr. Edward Hanlan, Mr. Gillies, Mr. John Tait, Mr. Seaward, and many other representative men. Apologies for absence were received from several others.

After dinner, the CHAIRMAN proposed the toasts of "The Queen" and "The Prince of Wales and the other members of the Royal family," referring in terms expressive of profound sympathy to the recent bereavement of the Royal household. He also spoke highly of the worth of the deceased prince's character. The toasts were appropriately received.

Mr. SUTHERLAND proposed the toast of "The Governor," which was heartily honoured.

The CHAIRMAN, in rising to propose the toast of "Our Guest, Mr. John Woods," said: Gentlemen, I cannot imagine any higher or more gratifying compliment to be paid to our guest than the presence here to-night of such company as this, representing as it does, in so eminent a degree, the intelligence, the character, and the respectability of the community. (Hear, hear.) For who and what is the guest whom this company honours to-night by this demonstration? To this city he came a little more than 30 years ago, a comparatively poor, friendless, labouring man—(hear, hear)—but, gentlemen, he brought with him the true riches of a successful colonist—a love of labour, an independent spirit, and a determination to better his fortunes by unsparing industry. (Hear, hear, and applause.) He brought these riches to us, which every man who likes may bring to this country; the only riches which we need to import, for we ourselves possess all the other elements of material prosperity. Having secured, and early secured, by his determination, by his love of labour, by his unsparing industry, a fair meed of success, which every other such man may secure in a country like this, and he having come amongst us to seek his fortune, now leaves the country as a kind of advertisement of its capabilities in that direction. He identified himself with many public works, which were as much sources of public convenience to all of us as of profit to himself. (Hear, hear.) Long ago he organised, to a large extent, our passenger traffic between the metropolis and suburbs in a distant period of our history, before a higher but less tranquil civilisation had brought steam trams to shriek through our crowded thoroughfares—(laughter)—terrifying our horses, disturbing our Judges, and embarrassing our legislators. (Loud laughter.) He also helped in a humble way to bridge over the harbour from the city to the sea by the establishment of a noble steam service, which conveys thousands and thousands of citizens to one of the loveliest marine suburbs of any city in the world. There are few commercial enterprises of the humbler sort in which he has not shared, and the success of which be has not advanced according to his means and ability; and to-night, on the eve of his departure from the country where he has spent so many happy years, where he has reared a fine family, where he has humbly and efficiently discharged all the duties of honest citizenship—(hear, hear)—and where he has found such good fortune, he sits, the honoured guest of an assemblage of colonists whose presence would be a distinction and whose friendship would be a consolation to any man. Gentlemen, I propose to you his health, and I wish him in your name a prosperous voyage and a safe and speedy return to the country to which he owes so much, and to the friends who so highly esteem him, and who have celebrated his departure with so much cordiality in this most distinguished company. I propose "Our Guest." (Applause.)

The toast was drunk amid loud and continued cheers, and with "He's a jolly good fellow."

Mr. WOODS, in replying, said, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I must confess that I feel embarrassed, but I think I will be man enough to express to you my heartfelt thanks for this meeting here to-night. It is not my intention to detain you with a long speech. It has been said, and I think wisely, by our chairman some time since, that when a person attempts to speak he ought to say something that would at least be interesting to those present, and if possible to the general public. I fear I will not come up to the mark in this respect; but I hope you and the gentlemen present will accept my best acknowledgements and warmest gratitude for the signal honour you have conferred upon me by your presence here this evening. On the eve of my departure for my native land—a land that I love with all my heart—it has been one of the ambitions of my life to visit the place where I first beheld the light of day, and to gaze upon the spot where my father and mother are laid in their graves, and I want to impress on my children by my action that they are to love their native land—Australia—as it always seemed to me that the individual who forgets his native land does not make a very good citizen. (Loud applause.) Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I should be doubly happy if I could persuade myself that during my sojourn amongst you my life and conduct were of such a character as to merit the good opinion expressed by our eloquent and worthy chairman, and I shall as long as God permits me to live and have my senses, look back upon this evening as one of the happiest in my life. (Hear, hear.) You will admit that it is not a very easy matter for any man interested in as many businesses as I have been, to steer clear of the difficulties surrounding such, and as a matter of fact, avoiding making enemies in the capacity as a large employer of labour; and it is only by a determination of more than an ordinary character that a man can do so, the temptations to get mixed up with one speculation and another being so very great. Well, gentlemen, I made up my mind to do what I considered was the right course to adopt, and that was—to act honestly and independently—(hear, hear)—and so far, I think I have been successful; and your presence here to-night is a testimony as to my past life of over 30 years in this city, and I hope that I may be permitted to return here to this my home and meet you all in happy and comfortable circumstances. (Loud cheers.) Gentlemen, I don't think it is necessary for me to give you a history of life, since my arrival here, but when I inform you that I have had my "ups" and "downs" in common with other men, and that I have worked as hard as my neighbours, you will, I think, believe me, and I would like to say that, except under very exceptional circumstances, any man who is desirous of making a moderate income and a comfortable home will have to put his shoulder to the wheel and his head to work, and then, gentlemen, that man will succeed. (Hear, hear.) I am of opinion that a walking stick, a pipe, and kid gloves are not the most desirable outfits for a young man—(Laughter and hear, hear)—who is ambitious of obtaining an independent position in life; and I am afraid that our public system of education (good as it is) is tending greatly to encourage many of our young men to look upon these luxuries as a necessary adjunct to their present and future happiness. (Hear, hear.) I would therefore strongly impress upon our legislators the wisdom of such alterations as would train the young men to a different path through life. I think if the half of the money that is being expended by the Government in the erection of palatial State schools was spent in the erection of workshops attached to or near such schools, where the boys could learn a useful trade, our boys would become more useful colonists—(hear, hear)—and they would be the means of performing work in this country that we are forced to have done in other countries, and for which large sums of money have to be sent, in the place of doing our own work and keeping the money here. (Applause.) I thank you sincerely for your kindness, and I think I can say no more; but I hope that I will be able to come back again amongst you a healthy man—(hear, hear); that some day, barring accidents over which I have no control, I may be be able to serve this country, as the country has served me. (Long and hearty applause.)

Mr. Hardie then proposed "The Parliament," to which Mr. Dalley, Mr. Sutherland, Mr. Moses, Mr. Pigott, Mr. Slattery, and Mr. Smith responded.

"The Mayor and Aldermen" was proposed by Mr. Tait, and was acknowledged by Mr. Hardie, Mr. Young, and Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Dunn proposed "The Ladies," the toast being acknowledged by Mr. Pitt and Mr. Hanlan.

Mr. Taylor proposed "The Press." Mr. George, Mr. Bennett, and Mr. Ward responded.

Mr. Ward then proposed the health of the Chairman, and the company shortly afterwards separated.

Mr. R. A. Proctor has a theory that the waters of the sea are withdrawing into the interior of the earth. He says:—"Enter any cavern, such as Kent's Hole in Devonshire, on the driest and hottest day, or even after weeks of dry weather, and you shall find the roof wet with the waters which have been slowly making their way from the surface, where they fell in the form of rain months before. Throughout the whole crust of the earth, except in a few spots where rain never falls, the same process is going on all the time. Only a portion of the water which thus falls on the earth ever returns to the surface in the form of springs."

ALLIANCE FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF INTEMPERANCE.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of members of the New South Wales Alliance for the Suppression of Intemperance was held at the Temperance Hall last evening. There was a good attendance, the Hon. John Davies, C.M.G., occupying the chair.

The following report was submitted to the meeting:—"Twenty-fifth annual report of the New South Wales Alliance for the suppression of intemperance and for the social, moral, and intellectual elevation of the people, for the year ending 31st March, 1884. In presenting this annual report of the New South Wales Alliance, which now for more than a quarter of a century has been doing its work, we desire to express our gratification and thankfulness to the great Giver of all good for the measure of success that has crowned the efforts of our institution in the past year. Notwithstanding the ardent efforts of other temperance organisations, many of whom conduct their operations in our hall, which has for many years been the great centre of temperance influence in the city and colony, we are pleased to report that no less than 4400 persons have signed the pledge of the alliance during the past year, which is a larger number than has ever been enrolled by us during any one year, and is 400 more than were obtained the year before. There have also been 50,000 tracts gratuitously distributed during the year, and we are importing a large number of the newest and best varieties published in England, which we expect to arrive shortly. For the success which we have achieved during the year we are largely indebted to our temperance missionaries or visitors whose services have been secured and whose periodical reports are read with interest at the meetings of your committee. Mr. J. Salisbury, who devotes his time to this important work, has, we find from his reports, obtained during the year 854 pledges, has visited at their homes 597 of those who have joined our ranks, besides distributing a large number of tracts, assisting cases of distress, and aiding others to obtain employment. Mr. Louder reports having visited and seen during the year 234 of those who signed the pledge; has found, as the other reports show, that the large majority remain firm to their pledges. He says the cheerful faces of the mothers and wives and children in the homes he has visited have spoken volumes of the good results and happiness that joining the temperance ranks has done them. Another reports having secured 72 persons who have signed our pledge, and that no less than 340 of the persons who attended the Sunday morning breakfast have also signed the pledge; that many whom he has visited at their homes have manifested their fidelity with the happiest results. Another reports having induced a number to sign the pledge, and speaks of one of them who got no less than 10 of his comrades and intimate friends to follow his example, and are now steady, useful citizens, and adds that he could enumerate many hopeful cases of reformation if cheerful homes, happy wives and children, may be taken as a guarantee. Another reports that in the neighbourhood of Ultimo and Pyrmont he has induced 56 to sign the pledge, and of 70 visits he has made to those who signed he found that 53 of them were faithful to their pledge. Another of our agents, who has organised a branch of the alliance in Ailsma, has during the year enrolled the names of 101 persons in that township as pledged total abstainers. We cannot conclude this portion of our report without referring to the useful work that has been done by Mr. George Perry during the past year; his earnest and eloquent advocacy of our principles has induced very many to sign our pledge. His visits to the Hunter River and South Coast districts were followed with the most successful results. The local press report the meetings he held as being crowded and enthusiastic, and his advocacy of the principles of total abstinence as forcible, interesting, and original, and calculated to do a large amount of good; and we would also refer to the successful efforts of Mr. Brown, whose popular advocacy of our principles has induced many during the year to abandon the use of strong drink and to sign our pledge. During the year your committee thought it wise to permit the Blue Ribbon Gospel Army to occupy and conduct the regular weekly Wednesday evening temperance meetings, formerly conducted by the Alliance, in our hall, and from the report just furnished by one of its leading officers it appears that their efforts have been extraordinarily successful during the past 12 months, nearly 12,000 persons having donned the blue ribbon and signed their total abstinence pledge, and those meetings appear to be increasing in popularity and interest, the hall being crowded, so that we cannot but wish them God-speed in their noble work. The expected visit of their renowned leader and temperance advocate—Mr Booth, with his companion—Mr. Glover, will not only aid their particular movement, but will doubtless do a large amount of good to the cause of temperance throughout the colony, for his mission in Great Britain, as well as in the adjoining colony of Victoria, has been marvellously successful. Your committee has seen the necessity of doing something to obtain a supply of unfermented wine for sacramental, medicinal, and other purposes, so as to supersede the present use of the strong alcoholic wines that are now so generally used, and after much thought and labour we are happy to say that we have been able, through the co-operation of Mr. Jay, of Singleton, and our old friend Mr. George Lucas, to obtain and manufacture a large stock of wine from the pure unadulterated fruit of the vine, which will now supply a long felt want in our city and colony, so that a luscious, refreshing, pleasant, unpolluted beverage can now be obtained for the Lord's table and the sick room. The ministers and officers of many of our churches, we are pleased to report, are now obtaining it, and we trust the time will soon come when the wine which contains the serpent's bite and the adder's sting will no longer desecrate the Table of the Lord, but that the 'pure fruit of the vine' will be found in every Christian sanctuary. This hall and institution has for many years been the rallying centre of every temperance enterprise in the colony, and the various temperance organisations—the Sons of Temperance, the Good Templars, the Rechabites, Blue Ribbon Army, Local Option League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and other like agencies—all have a home in this place, and their united efforts have advanced most materially the social and moral elevation of the community, and so popularised the principles of temperance that many influential citizens are numbered in their ranks, and we have now a reformed or amended licensing law, which we never would have possessed but for the earnest and united efforts of those temperance bodies. In view of the rapid growth of those temperance organisations and the demand there is for additional accommodation for lodges and meetings, your committee have under serious consideration the necessity of providing and building some additional rooms over the front portion of our property, which, considering the central position we occupy, would be readily let, and, while it would be remunerative for the Alliance, would aid and assist most materially the important object we have in view, in annihilating the liquor traffic, which is the bane and curse of the community. We would here mention that the Sunday morning breakfast to the poor and outcasts, which was started many years ago by the late Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Mr. G. Lucas, and others, is still continued in this hall, and much credit is due to the City Missionaries and others for their devoted attention to this work; 340 of those who attend have signed our pledge during the year. The temperance dining-rooms, which occupy a portion of our building, are satisfactorily conducted by the lessee, Mr. Lovett, where between 400 and 500 persons are daily provided with a substantial meal without the use of intoxicants. In conclusion, we think that the synopsis we have given of the work accomplished by our institution during the year will give cause for thankfulness and hope for the future. Let us all combine with redoubled energy to banish the drink curse from our midst, and, once get this great national evil and incubus removed, this land will become one of the fairest and brightest spots under heaven."

The balance-sheet was also read. It showed that the income for the year ending March 31 had been £1200 0s. 1d., which, added to the balance in hand from last year—namely, £868 19s. 4d.—made a total of £2068 19s. 5d. The expenditure during the same period had been £1339 11s. 9d., leaving a balance to credit of £729 7s. 8d., a large portion of which had been lodged at interest, so that the society should receive as much benefit from it as possible. The largest sources of revenue were for hire of the halls and rooms, £658 0s. 6d., and dining-rooms, £228. The principal items of expenditure were salaries for missionaries, secretary, and hallkeeper, £528 12s. 9d.; painting, decorating, carpentering, and furniture, £230 15s.; gas and fittings, £111 4s. 5d.; unfermented wine account, £87 3s 10d.; interest on mortgage, £84. The amount owing as mortgage is £2400, and the value of the assets is put down at £25,000.

The CHAIRMAN congratulated the meeting upon the satisfactory report just read, and the success which had attended the operations of the society during the past year. Members would recollect that at the last annual meeting of the society it was decided to initiate a temperance mission in order that those who signed the pledge of the society should be visited in their homes, and encouraged with words of counsel and advice to persevere in the step they had taken. They would be pleased to know that not only had large numbers of persons taken the pledge of the society, but that they had been visited in their homes, and a very large proportion of them had maintained their obligations. Meetings had been held in connection with the mission both on Sundays and week days, some of them in the Domain on Sundays. Meetings had likewise been held in the suburbs and country in connection with the movement, and the success of these efforts ought to lead to renewed exertions on their part. The fact that such a large amount of temperance literature (some 50,000 tracts) had been distributed during the past year was also a most encouraging one. The Blue Ribbon Army had established a footing in the colony, and as they had been the means of doing so much good in the old country, there was every hope that their efforts would be equally successful here as there, and also in Victoria, where the visit of Mr. Booth and Mr. Glover had led thousands to join the temperance societies. He did not think that the temperance cause in this colony had ever been in such a prosperous condition as it was at the present time. In the view of the great evils of intemperance, it behoved every man to do his best against the evils connected with the use of intoxicating drink, for they knew that drink was the fruitful cause of crime, wretchedness, and poverty.

Mr JOHN ROSEBY moved the adoption of the report and balance-sheet. They were eminently satisfactory. He thought special prominence should be given to the fact of such a large number of persons having signed the pledge during the year, and that such a large proportion had kept it. There were some people who taunted them by saying that those who took the pledge would never keep it, but the experience of numbers of them in that room had been that there were many who had been sunk low by drink raised and become, and continued to be, respectable members of society. He had heard Sir Alfred Stephen once say that he never knew a drunkard permanently reformed, and he (Mr. Roseby) was sorry to hear such a statement, for he knew cases where the reformed drunkard had become an honourable citizen. He then referred with satisfaction to the fact that the committee had been able to procure a quantity of unfermented wine for sacramental purposes, and in closing his speech expressed a hope that the management would provide increased accommodation for the convenience of temperance societies using the building.

Mr. P. R. HOLDSWORTH, in seconding the motion, expressed satisfaction at the excellent character of the report, and thought that a great deal of progress had been made. He referred to the expenditure of the large sums in aid of the temperance mission, &c., as a proof that the society was conscious of its obligations and was doing the work for which it had been established. It would be a matter of interest to the members to know that the abstract of title to their land adjoining, about which there had been some difficulty, had been rectified, and would be ready for approval in a few days.

Mr PALMER, J.P., supported the motion, and endorsed the remarks made by the previous speakers.

The motion was put and carried unanimously.

Mr. ROSEBY moved,—"That in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable that additional accommodation should be provided by the enlargement of the front portion of the Temperance Hall property, as suggested in the annual report, and that it be a recommendation to the trustees that the necessary steps be taken to carry out the work."

Mr. SWITZER seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

The following gentlemen were elected by ballot as members of the committee during the ensuing year:—Messrs. John Osborne, D. M'Beath, George Lucas, W. Henson, W. Kippax, J. V. Lavers, Hon. J. Macintosh, J. L. Nicholson, John Pottie, and George Perry.

Votes of thanks to the retiring committee, to the secretary, and to the chairman terminated the proceedings.

HOW MR. GEORGE'S LAND THEORIES STRIKE A SELF-MADE MAN.

(From an English paper.)

"I am," says a correspondent, whose name which is well known throughout Glamorganshire, we only suppress upon grounds of personal modesty, "a working man in the most literal sense of the term. I commenced working on the very day the West Bute Dock at Cardiff was opened, and that was in November, 1839. At that time I worked 11 hours a day, and my wages were 2d. for each day's work. Soon after that I was advanced to 4d. a day. I was then 10 years of age. When I was 14 years old I earned 10s. a week, but in consequence of being supplied by my good father with my own bed and bedclothes, I was only charged 5s. a week for my board and lodging at the farmhouse where I resided. Of the remaining 5s. I spent 2s. 6d. a week in clothes, books, and other personal requirements, and saved the remaining half-crown. I was often tempted to break into the little store I had gradually accumulated. When I saw others enjoying pleasures and luxuries from which I was debarred only by my own determination to save, I often felt the real meaning of the term 'self-denial.' Persevering, however, in my determination to accumulate, I ultimately saved enough money to buy, not one, but many acres of land, which I now possess. Some of this land I bought in an uncultivated state at a nominal price. Buying it in bulk I was able to deal with it advantageously. But suppose I had bought an acre only? What would the cost have been to me of bringing it into cultivation? In the first place, the fencing of it would have formed a considerable item. Banking and quicks are worth 4s. a porch (a perch is equal to 5½ lineal yards.) Many of these quicks would have had to be re-planted, when they failed for years afterwards, and gaps in the bank, which from one cause or another will occasionally occur, wanted to be repaired. I calculate, therefore, that an acre of land would cost at least 1s. a yard for fencing, which in itself amounts to over £8 per acre. That is, assuming that a single acre only is enclosed. Now, the land that I bought was covered with stunted trees, and was in an exceedingly rough and scrubby condition. I calculate that it would cost from £10 to £12 an acre to clear such land. If, as in my case, drainage was required to make the soil fully productive, an additional cost of £10 per acre would be added to the outlay. Now, it cannot reasonably be expected that this typical acre would produce any crops unless thoroughly limed, and that operation would cost not, less than £4 per acre. I thus arrive at the fact that the total outlay for fencing, clearing, draining, and bringing into a fit st te of cultivation a single acre of land is at least £32. Now, every farthing of that £32 is expended upon labour without which the soil itself would be practically valueless. And who is this American gentleman who comes to England and urges the working classes to confiscate the capital, which, whatever Mr George may say, is accumulated labour, that I have invested in my land? What makes the injustice, the wicked wrong of Mr. George's proposals the more obvious, is the fact that, in looking back upon my career, I can recall instances of many of my comrades who, when we started life together, were in a far better condition to get on in the world than I was. But they were careless and indifferent, and self-indulgent. Because I have been careful and thrifty, and self-denying, am I now to be called upon to divide what I have saved with my lazy indolent comrades? Is there any sense, let alone any justice, in the proposition? I say, let us not destroy a system which encourages every man to thrift and self-denial; but repudiate at once doctrines which are as shamelessly dishonest as they are foreign to the genius of the people who inhabit these islands. I am told that Mr. George is a great authority on economic principles. I trust that he has, at all events, studied the science of economy sufficiently profoundly to have taken a return ticket from America to England, for I am sure it will be better for him and for this country that he should speedily avail himself of the second half of it."

PUBLIC LANDS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At this time, when the colony has ceased to live upon the realisation of its capital, the land, and when there is so great an objection to make up the required revenue from extra taxation, that Government, to make ends meet, have to fall back on the disastrous expedient of retrenchment, i.e., delaying the country's development—any fresh suggestion for the easy improvement of the revenue, and for the economical working of the State, ought to be welcome. The principle on which the colony's affairs have been conducted is contained in the words, "Bear ye one another's burdens." Thus the Government have taken in hand and spent the general funds of the State upon works of utility in town and country, which in other lands would have been left till local effort had raised the necessary means. By this policy the welfare of the colony has been promoted much faster than would otherwise have occurred. This principle, however, would admit of still further application, greatly to the benefit and economical working of the colony. It has been suggested lately in New Zealand that the Government ought to become a kind of money-lender or banker for municipalities, harbour trusts, and other local bodies, and there is no good reason why this plan should not be adopted in this colony. It is a very simple matter for our Government to borrow at 4 per cent. in London, and lend the money at that rate, or a trifle more, to those local corporations here who, if borrowing on their own account, would have to pay 6 per cent., or even above that figure. By so employing the credit of the State different local operations would be carried out much easier, and the annual saving to the colony would be no inconsiderable sum. Though the credit of the Government might be supposed to suffer through the increased amount of its borrowing, it is more probable that it would be improved by the exhibition of such commendable prudence in the subordinate developments of the colonial resources.

But the foregoing principle is not to be applied alone; it ought to be joined with that contained in the words, "Let everyone bear his own burden," and this latter has been far too much neglected. Every year, out of the general revenue, grants are given to local objects, seemingly in proportion to the vociferous demands or other influence of the Parliamentary representatives of the different places. This scramble for the public money ought to be checked at once by making every local body that is able pay an annual interest on the money received, and let local rates be responsible for such interest. This would make local bodies careful not to ask for what they do not require, and would compel them to see that money received was put to the best uses. Under the present system of making gifts from the public funds to local objects, a full appreciation of Government grants is not obtained, and to gain such a desirable end there is nothing like making every one pay that can. By such a plan there would be an increasing amount of revenue coming every year into the Treasury without trouble. There would also be an absence of frivolous demands for grants from the public funds, thereby allowing the available revenue to be spent entirely on the honest development of the colony. In fact, there is no reason why the principle should not be further applied, and all well-to-do municipalities and other local bodies now be made to begin paying interest on all Government grants hitherto received, and the use of which they have had free since they were voted. It is of course very evident that to many outlying districts in an initiatory state of development, and where there are no municipalities or other local corporations, grants of public money must continue to be given free when required; but it should be on the distinct understanding that an annual interest will be demanded whenever these districts are able to afford it. Rich as the colony certainly is, that is no plea why its affairs, Government and local, should not be conducted on the most economical principles, and the report of a more thrifty management would enable us to get money in London all the easier and cheaper. I am, &c.

NEUTRAL.

THE LATE BETTING CASES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The sentiments expressed in your leading article in reference to the above will, I am sure, be shared in by every right-thinking person in the community. Of course, we must accept the decision of the Full Court as authoritative, and accordingly bow to it until the Court see fit to overrule it. An opportunity for so doing will, ere long, be afforded, when, I have no hesitation in saying, the Court will be compelled to affirm on the authorities submitted to them that the decisions in the cases referred to were decided on a wrong basis, and that no such thing exists as "legal betting." There is not one law for the rich betting man who books his wagers in hundreds, and the poor one who books his bets in shillings, receiving his money at the time of making his wagers. They both stand on the same footing, and this is so perfectly clear that I think the Court, on some future occasion, will have no difficulty in reversing their present decision, and thus justify the late decisions of Mr. Addison, S.M. I am, &c., LEX.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING.

A meeting of persons opposed to the application of the principle of local option to the annual renewal of publicans' licenses was convened to take place in the new Masonic Hall, Castlereagh-street, last night. As the question is one which has excited considerable interest in the community of late, enhanced to a degree by the discussion which took place in the Legislative Assembly the other night, a very large number of people, comprising some 2500, attended. Mr. Walter Bradley took the chair, and there were about 30 other gentlemen on the platform, including Mr. Copeland, M.L.A., Mr. Butcher, M.L.A., Mr. Coonan, M.L.A., Mr. Frederick Gannon, and several licensed victuallers. About 20 ladies assembled in the gallery, and throughout manifested much interest in the proceedings. There were numerous contingents from teetotal bodies present, and they imparted an additional liveliness to the meeting.

The CHAIRMAN explained the reason why the meeting had been called. He said that it had been convened to discuss a certain phase of the local option question. In his opinion there had been a great deal of over-legislation of late, and he would always be found ready to assist in removing any legislation which trod rather heavily on the toes of the people. He said that if the principle of local option as recently proposed in the Legislative Assembly had been adopted, it would have had the effect of completely crushing out certain public-houses in the most attractive suburbs, which he maintained existed not for the benefit of the inhabitants only but for visitors to those suburbs. He referred to the Sunday-closing provisions of the present Licensing Act, which he stated was an arbitrary one, and one which should not have been embodied in the Act. It was very unfair to those people who, after being confined in their office or workshop every day in the week, could not get a drop of liquor at an hotel on Sunday, and he thought that this amounted to an oppression of the public rights.

Mr. HENRY DALEY moved the first resolution,—"That any attempt to further extend the principle of local option to the annual renewal of publicans' licenses would be injurious to the public generally, tending, as it would, to a serious depreciation in the value of property without corresponding compensation, and in many cases causing the utter ruin of respectable colonists who have invested their whole capital in a trade sanctioned and encouraged by the State." In his opinion the principle of local option had no right to be exercised in this community. When it was first put forward its promoters intended that it should apply to the creation of additional publicans' licenses, and not to the renewal of licenses at all. He maintained that it was a very unfair proceeding that the means whereby a man got his living should be snatched away from him by a certain section of the community. The local option advocates had now advanced so far that they wished to make teetotalism rampant and not allow anyone to drink a drop of spirits or intoxicating liquor of any kind. Why, there were some men who could not do without a glass of beer. ("Oh," and disorder.) Well, what are you going to substitute? (Cries of "Coffee, tea," &c.) The working men of this colony were charged, as a rule, with the national sin of intemperance, but he maintained that there was less drunkenness amongst that class of people here than in any other country, and therefore the principle of local option was not called for. It meant to a great extent taking away the liberty of the subject, a condition which every British person pointed to with a sense of delight. The publicans here were about the most law-ridden people whom he had ever come across. If one were seen poking his nose out of his door during the hours in which he was not allowed to open his hotel, a policeman would be found watching him, and wanting to know what he was smelling at. (Laughter, and applause.) It was stated by the advocates of local option that the principle worked well in America. Well, he denied that. In Boston and other States where the sale of liquor was greatly restrained, there was more liquor sold in a surreptitious manner than there was in those places where it was sold openly.

Mr. FREDERICK GANNON seconded the resolution. He said that he did not often thrust himself forward in public matters, but whenever he was called upon to give his support to a movement which was set on foot in the interests of the community, he would be found in his present position. He had seen a great deal of the working of the present licensing law, and he knew exactly where the shoe pinched. The old licensing law caused no such clamour as the present one, and if the constitution of the bench that administered the law had only been altered no amended Act would have been required. He could state a number of startling things in reference to the way in which that bench was packed, and also the manner in which it performed its duty. But now there was a class of men on our bench who worthily held their position, and who, in the administration of the licensing law, acted in such a way that the interests of the people were not overlooked. He maintained that the principle of local option was not required, and he looked upon it as a farce. People as a rule did not care whether a public-house existed in a certain place or not, and even if a vote were taken in this matter it would be found that scarcely anyone would vote, and therefore the question would not be properly tested. He thought the present law was administered with as much severity as it could be, and therefore the teetotallers might well be satisfied, without crying out for local option.

A gentleman in the body of the hall stood up to address the meeting, but owing to some disorder he was compelled to resume his seat. When quietness was restored,

Mr. MASON addressed the meeting in support of the motion. Whilst he was speaking the meeting grew very disorderly. Afterwards Mr. J. Flower spoke in favour of the motion, and when he appeared on the platform a storm of hissing and other marks of dissent was kept up for some time by the audience. The chairman, however, secured quietness, and the speaker then addressed the meeting, but not without frequent interruptions.

Mr. SEDGWICK then stepped on to the platform from amongst the audience. The chairman announced that he intended to move an amendment. A most deafening noise was then created by the audience, some singing out in favour of hearing the speaker, others endeavouring to howl him down. This was kept up for about five minutes, the chairman during that time appealing several times to the audience to give the speaker a hearing; and when quietness was temporarily restored Mr. Sedgwick moved,—"That as local option is the undoubted right of the people—(cries of "No")—the application of the principle to the renewal of publicans' licenses would afford a fair test of public opinion."

Mr. S. HODGE rose to protest against Mr. Sedgwick moving an amendment, stating that the meeting was called for a certain purpose, and to that it must keep. He, however, was boohooed until he resumed his seat, at the request of a gentleman on the platform.

Mr. SEDGWICK then proceeded to expatiate on the merits of the question. He referred to the way in which local option worked in places where it had been tried. The audience, however, grew very impatient, and howls and cries of "Time!" "Sit down!" "You're insulting the chairman," &c., were raised, and the speaker was at length compelled to leave the platform.

Mr. CLARK came forward to second the amendment. He said he was sure that if any person attempted to establish a public-house in the midst of those people who resided in Macquarie-street or Macleay-street, a howl of indignation would be raised at once, and he maintained that the working class of people had as much right to say whether a public-house should be opened in their midst as any other class of people. The question was whether local option was just or unjust. (Uproar.) The speaker then proceeded to discuss the question; but he was also compelled to retire in consequence of the disorder.

The CHAIRMAN then put the amendment to the meeting. He experienced some difficulty in deciding how many voted in favour of it, and he called upon those present to divide on the question, those in favour of it going to the right side of the hall, and those against it to the left. The division took place under difficulties, which created great excitement. As soon as the chairman called upon them to divide, the people rose from their seats and rushed, some eagerly and others unconcernedly, to the side on which they voted. Much cheering then ensued, and the people grew into a very excited state. Both sides kept up a continual noise for some time, and in order to give more effect to the scene, they stood up on chairs and waved their hats. The ladies in the gallery voted on the side of the local optionists, and they made a demonstration by waving their handkerchiefs. Cheers and counter cheers resounded through the hall, and when they had somewhat subsided the chairman appointed two tellers to count the votes on each side. The difficulties of the task, however, proved insurmountable, owing to the excited and enthusiastic state of the audience, and the idea of counting the votes had to be abandoned. The chairman soon afterwards declared the resolution carried by a large majority, but the supporters of the amendment challenged the decision of the chairman, and asserted amidst much cheering that they had been victorious. This gave rise to more cheering on the part of the anti-local optionists, which was kept up for some time.

There were two other motions on the paper, which were as follows:—1. "That the principal of local option, if extended to the renewals of publicans' licenses, would not increased the sobriety and respectability of the people; but, on the contrary, would be the means of fostering and encouraging sly grog-selling and secret intemperance, and generally would have a demoralising effect upon the community." 2. "That a copy of the foregoing resolutions, signed by the chairman at this meeting, be embodied in a petition to the Legislature, and that a copy be also furnished to each member of Parliament."

Mr R. A. PRICE moved the first of these motions, and was supporting it with some remarks, in which he expressed his regret that this question had been made a party one, when the chairman whispered something to him. Mr. Price, amidst much cheering and counter-cheering, abandoned the motion, and concluded by moving a vote of thanks to the chairman, which was carried most cordially.

In thanking those present for the honour they had done him, Mr. Bradley said that it was the most orderly meeting he had presided over that day. (Laughter.) He thanked them most heartily for the quiet and patient hearing which they had given each speaker. (Laughter.) He asked them now to give three cheers for the Queen. These having been given, the proceedings terminated.

It is proposed by the leading American watch company to make dials numbered consecutively for 24 hours. The idea meets with popular approval, and 400 applications to patent the scheme have been refused.

Seldom has the scene at a departing steamer been so animated and interesting a one as that which took place yesterday just before the P. and O. Co.'s fine steamship Ballaarat cast off from the company's wharf and proceeded on her voyage to London. The Ballaarat, even amongst the best boats of the company's fleet, stands pre-eminent as a favourite with the travelling public, and to this undoubtedly is to be ascribed the rush that was made for berths even before the ship reached Sydney from her outward voyage. In fact, the whole of the accommodation for Sydney passengers was taken up before she came here, and numbers of persons had to remain over till the next vessel leaves. Yesterday the Ballaarat had no fewer than 150 passengers on board, 97 being for London, 3 for Yokohama, 2 for Venice, 1 for Bombay, 1 for Colombo, and 26 for Melbourne. A large number of prominent colonists are included in the list, and their friends mustered in great force to bid them good-bye, the wharf being crowded with people. The Ballaarat was beyond praise as regards cleanliness and order, and her appearance as she hauled away from the quay evoked unanimous expressions of admiration. The Ballaarat's cargo consists principally of wool, tin, copper, meats, sheepskins, &c. She will be a full ship when leaving Melbourne. Her trip home should be both speedy and pleasant should ordinary weather prevail.

Messrs. T. and W. Willis have been advised by telegram from the manager of the Tasmanian Steam Navigation Co., Hobart, of the arrival from Sydney of the Esk (s.), at that port on Thursday, at 9 a.m.

The steamer Ly-ee-Moon left Brisbane on the 2nd instant, at 11.15 a.m., and rounded Cape Moreton at 4 p.m. same day, passed Richmond Heads on the 3rd at 5.30 a.m., Smoky Cape at 6.15 p.m. same day, Port Stephens on the 4th at 4.45 a.m., and entered Sydney Heads at 11.17 a.m., arriving at the company's wharf at 11.53 a.m. same day. The ship was detained two and a half hours on the night of the 2nd, by a slight break down of the engines. She experienced strong southerly winds with a head sea and clear weather throughout the passage.

Captain Henry Patterson has accepted a position on shore, and no doubt will be as successful in mercantile pursuits as he was at sea. It is four years since Captain Patterson arrived here in command of the fine ship Inch Murren. After several very good voyages to this port he resigned his ship in Glasgow and came to Sydney. He had not been long here when he was appointed to the T. S. N. Co.'s Esk, and he was shortly afterwards commissioned to go home for the new steamer Pateena. On his return with her he was appointed to the s.s. Corinna, and was very popular amongst the Tasmanian travelling public, all of whom express their regret at his leaving the company, and he has their best wishes for his future prosperity. He was welcomed yesterday morning on 'Change by all his old friends.

The barque Emulation, which arrived yesterday from Mauritius with a cargo of sugar, is a composite vessel of Sunderland build, and has seen 17 years of service. She sailed from Port Louis on February 6, and experienced light variable winds, mostly S.E. and easterly, till the 3rd ultimo, when a heavy gale commenced from the north and blew with great violence until the afternoon of the 5th, shifting about to N.N.E. then to N.N.W., and then to W.N.W. A fearful sea accompanied it, sweeping the vessel from stem to stern, and smashing part of the bulwarks and rails, besides shifting the water casks and doing other minor damage. When the gale commenced the Emulation was in 40 12 S. and 98 E., and when it took off she had reached 108 E. Calms and baffling winds prevailed after that to the 10th ultimo, and strong westerly winds to the 15th. Two days of fresh northerly winds succeeded, and then light variables were had till the 3rd instant, when the wind sprang up from the southward. The Emulation, which was towed in by the Leveret, anchored in Neutral Bay. She is to be berthed at Towns' Wharf, to-day.

The German barque Weser arrived yesterday afternoon from Melbourne, in ballast, and was towed by the Port Jackson to an anchorage below Garden Island. She brought timber from Saguenay, Canada, to Melbourne, and as the passage was a most disastrous and exciting one, the following particulars are appended. The Weser sailed from Chicoutimi on November 1, and had fresh easterly winds down the Gulf of St Lawrence to St. Paul's, where the wind shifted to the westward, and after that the barque encountered a series of hard gales. On November 13, whilst in 41 N. and 53 W., the Weser was caught in a gale that raged with hurricane violence for 48 hours, and was attended by a tremendous sea. Whilst running before the gale under lower topsails and reefed foresail, a heavy sea tumbled in on the starboard side, sending the deck load adrift, staving in the deckhouse, gutting the galley, and washing the cook overboard; also starting the stanchions, breaking the cathead, staving in the boats, starting the rudder bands, bursting out the lee bulwarks, and tearing the battens off the fore-hatch, thereby letting a considerable quantity of water below. The barque was then hove-to in order to have the wreckage cleared away, but a considerable quantity of deck cargo had to be thrown overboard before this work could be attempted with safety. As it was, the mate and several of the crew were seriously hurt by the wreckage which was being washed about. On November 15 sail was again made, and the barque squared away on her course, and, so far as winds and weather were concerned, had an uneventful passage thereafter. The cook's name was Jurgen Beuts, he was 44 years of age, and a native of Gustendorf, Germany. On December 5 an able seaman named John Andresen died from natural causes, the vessel at the time being in 10 N. and 37 W. With regard to the passage from Melbourne, Captain Hellmers reports that the Weser sailed on the 27th ultimo, and met with strong easterly winds until passing Cape Howe at 5 p.m. on 3rd instant, when the wind came away from the southward and carried her to port. The Weser comes here to load a cargo of coal for Tahiti to the order of the French Government.

Another passage between Hobart and Sydney was completed yesterday, by the fine little barque Nautilus, which has become a constant visitor to Port Jackson. The passage has been a remarkably fine one, and the vessel comes into port in her usual neat order. The Nautilus sailed on the 26th ultimo, and had light variable winds until the 30th. Light N.E. and easterly winds followed until the night of the 3rd instant, when the wind came away from the southward, and carried the barque to port. She entered the Heads yesterday morning at 8.30, and was towed by the steamer Irresistible to an anchorage below Garden Island. The Nautilus has a full cargo, comprising palings, jams, fruit, &c.

The barque Wenona, timber laden, left Mercury Bay on the 23rd ultimo, and experienced light S.W. winds until the 26th, then southerly, S.E., and easterly breezes, with fine weather, till the 1st instant; southerly winds followed till the 3rd, when the wind became light and variable, and continued so till the Heads were entered at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The barque was towed to an anchorage below Garden Island by the steam tug Port Jackson. The barque Vivid was loading for Melbourne at Mercury Bay when the Wenona left.

The steamer Mangana left the Hobart wharf at 5.45 p.m. on the 1st instant, rounded Cape Pillar at 9.50 p.m. passed St. Patrick's Head at 7 a.m. on the 2nd, Barren Island at 12.30 p.m., Gabo Island at 8.15 a.m. on the 3rd, and arrived at Eden at 11.20 a.m. The passage was resumed at 1 p.m. same day; Montague Island was passed at 5.45 p.m., Jervis Bay at 11.30 p.m., and the Heads were entered at 8.30 a.m. yesterday. The Mangana experienced strong N. to N.E. winds, with high head sea, to Gabo; thence to port fresh S. to S.E. winds with damp thick weather. The Esk (s.), bound to Hobart, was passed off Barren Island.

The steamer Barrabool left Townsville at 2 p.m. on the 29th March, arrived at Brisbane at 1 a.m. on the 2nd April, left Brisbane at 1.15 p.m. same day, cleared Cape Moreton at 5.30 p.m., Point Danger at 2.15 a.m. on the 3rd, Smoky Cape at 1.10 a.m. on the 4th, Seal Rocks at 10.45 a.m.; entered Sydney Heads at 8.28 p.m., and arrived at the company's wharf at 9.15 p.m. Experienced strong S.E. gales from Townsville to Brisbane, with heavy S.E. sea throughout the passage; from Brisbane to Smoky Cape strong southerly gale with heavy sea, which rendered it necessary to slow the engines down for several hours; thence to arrival moderate S. and S.E. winds, with heavy swell.

The steamer Helen Nicoll crossed the Clarence bar at 10.50 a.m. on the 3rd instant, and entered the Heads at 8.20 p.m. on the 4th, having experienced strong southerly wind and a heavy sea throughout the passage. Cargo: 938 bags maize, 174 hides, 14 pigs, 2 coops poultry, 14 cases eggs, 85 bags horns, 663 bunches bananas, 42 hogsheads molasses, 12 calves, 4 bales sheepskins, 180 bags sugar, 501 ingots tin, 6 cases meat, 190 pieces hardwood, 16 sundries.

The steamer City of Melbourne left the Melbourne Wharf at 2.10 p.m. on the 2nd instant, cleared Port Phillip Heads at 7.15 p.m., passed Cape Schanck at 8.40 p.m. same day, Wilson's Promontory at 4.30 a.m. on the 3rd, Gabo Island at 9.15 p.m., Cape St. George at 9.50 a.m. on the 4th, entered Sydney Heads at 5.30 p.m., and arrived at the company's wharf at 5.50 p.m. Experienced moderate southerly winds with cloudy weather and drizzling rain to Wilson's Promontory, light S.W. winds with cloudy weather to Gabo, thence light variable winds with cloudy weather, with passing showers of drizzling rain at intervals, till arrival.

The new harbour steamer Pearl, now being built by Mr. James Lynch, at Balmain, to the order of Mr. Joubert, is almost finished, and will soon commence work on the Lane Cove ferry. Her dimensions are:—80 feet overall, 18 feet 4 inches beam; depth forward, 6 feet 9 inches, aft 9 feet. She is built of the best hardwood and Kauri pine, and copper-fastened to the gunwale. Mr. Lynch has had the vessel in hand only seven weeks, so that he has lost no time in carrying out his part of the work. The Pearl is to be supplied with engines from the establishment of Messrs. Holliday. They are on the compound surface condensing principle, with cylinders of 10 inches and 18 inches in diameter respectively, and a stroke of 14 inches.

The steamer Rodondo left Melbourne at 6.30 p.m. on the 1st instant, cleared Port Phillip Heads at 10 p.m., passed Wilson's Promontory at 7.30 a.m. on the 2nd, Montague Island at 4.26 p.m. on the 3rd, entered the Heads at 7.30 a.m. on the 4th, and berthed at the company's wharf at 9 a.m. Moderate N.E. winds and fine weather prevailed to Wilson's Promontory, thence to Montague Island fresh N.N.W. breeze, and thence to arrival strong S.E. wind attended with rain.

The steamship Haverton, from London, passed Gabo Island yesterday afternoon at half-past 1, and will most likely reach here this evening.

The R.M.S. Cuzco, of the Orient line, left Adelaide on Thursday, for Melbourne and Sydney.

The E. and A. Company's steamship Tannadice left Adelaide on Thursday for Sydney.

The steamers Rockton, for Noumea and Fiji, and the Gabo, for Melbourne, left the harbour yesterday afternoon.

The fine little Auckland schooner Belle Brandon cleared at the Customs yesterday for New Britain, with several passengers and a general cargo.

The China Navigation Company's steamer Woosung left last evening for Port Darwin and Hongkong, via Queensland ports.

Messrs. Montefiore, Joseph, and Co., have been advised of the departure of the steamship Aberdeen from the Cape of Good Hope on the 1st instant, for Melbourne and Sydney.

The P. and O. Company's R.M.S. Valetta, from London to Sydney, passed Gabo Island at 5.10 p.m. yesterday, and will most probably reach Port Jackson at about 11 o'clock to-day.

The barque Don Diego, of, and from Melbourne, was spoken by the Wenona on the 25th ultimo, in lat. 33.36 S. and long. 171.49 W. The barque, which reported all well, was bound to Maldon Island.

The barque Clynder, from Liverpool, was yesterday berthed on the east side of the Circular Quay.

Yesterday the R.M.S. Sorata was moved from the Circular Quay to the Orient Company's buoy, Neutral Bay.

The Queensland Steam Shipping Company's fine new steamer Maranoa, leaving for Brisbane and Northern ports on Tuesday, the 8th, at 5 p.m., will convey the team of the N. S. W. Cricket Association to Brisbane.

Lowest ...	29·956	72·0	59·0	65·7	0·419	8

Wind.—March 1884, N.E.; average of 26 years, N.E.; mean miles per hour, March, 1884, 9·1.

Temperature.—Highest reading of shade maximum, March, 1884, 90·2 on the 1st; highest recorded in the same month since 1859, 102·6, 3rd March, 1869; lowest reading of shade minimum, March, 1884, 51·8, on the 17th; lowest in the same month since 1859, 49·9, on the 19th March, 1865.

The dry weather, due to the prevalence of tropical currents, still continues, and the total rain from January 1 to March 31, is only 2·90. With one exception this is the driest first quarter of the year since observations were begun in 1840, and the drier year (1849) had a total rain to March 31 of 2·53, not a great difference; and 1849 is the driest year on record, the total rain for the year being only 21·49.

The high temperature of previous months has not continued, March temperature being below the average.

I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case of Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time—about ten (10) years—covering the greater portion of the patient's body and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a profuse application of the Cuticura Remedies. I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.—Chas. Houghton, law office, 28, State-street, Boston. Sworn to before the British consul.—[Advt.]

In another column is published the prospectus of the Leopold Downs Pastoral Company, capital £100,000, in £1 shares, projected to stock and work a station at North Kimberley, Western Australia. Messrs. Findlay and Baynes will receive applications for shares in Sydney.

In the Import market business to-day was not at all active, and so far the month and quarter have opened very quietly. The change in the weather is most acceptable, but so far the reports show that the rainfall has been too partial and too light to be regarded as a break up of the drought. But as far as it goes it is encouraging, and will dispose importers to look more favourably on requests for renewals of trade bills. Following after such an unfavourable time, of course the 4th of the month could not be expected to pass over without applications for assistance; but although these have been numerous, they have not been so numerous as was anticipated by some houses, and have been confined mostly to traders who have hitherto been helped. A marked feature of the trade is the caution exercised by country buyers who have anything to lose, while importers are equally cautious with those who are supposed not to be too strong, the general result of course being a constriction of business of a most unsatisfactory character. In this condition of affairs it is not gratifying to notice the increase of imports, which, for the first quarter of this year, already amount in value to £5,215,289, as compared with £4,502,939, in the corresponding period of last year. Although no doubt last year's import was not excessive, and stocks of some kinds here have been well replenished, an increase representing about 16 per cent. is rather more than is desirable in the present condition of the market, especially as the reports from England lead to the inference that the competition of shipowners and brokers may have the effect of forcing additional unnecessary supplies on the market. Notwithstanding that goods may come forward at lower freights, losses can hardly fail to result. That is, of course, well known to the regular importers; but the danger lies in new men entering on the business, as well as in English firms consigning their wares beyond the market requirements, for the result must be a general reduction of prices, such as took place in 1882. But the commercial classes were then fairly well off, and trade brisk; so that, though profits on importations were reduced to the smallest, and in many cases were attended by loss, yet losses from bad debts were very light, and serious trouble was averted. Over-importation, in the present condition of colonial affairs, could not fail to be attended with very much worse results, and therefore it is to be hoped that the check will be applied as far as possible to importation on an excessive scale. In tea there is somewhat of a lull in the demand, though there is still a disposition to invest in the small stocks of low tea yet available. Since the sale at auction the coffee market has been weaker, and for best quality of No. 1 Ceylon Plantation 9½d. is now accepted for trade lines, with rather more doing owing to the forced sales. Chicory is worth 6½d., duty paid. The trade in sugar is lifeless; comparatively little business transpired; ration is quoted at £20 to £23; yellow from £24 to £28; and whites from £30 to £38. In dried fruits, currants are selling at 5d. to 5½d.—the latter for prime quality in cases; elemes 5½d. to 6½d.; sultanas, 7½d. Persian dates worth 5d. to 5½d. if prime. The rice market is devoid of speculation, and beyond the quittance of a few parcels for export, business is confined to trade sales at £18 10s. to £15 for ordinary, and to £18 for fine table. Sago and tapioca sells at 1½d. Dairymaid milk is a trifle dearer, stocks are scarce, and 7s. 9d. to 8s. is quoted, whilst it is difficult to buy at 7s. 6d. to arrive. Black pepper, 10d. to 10½d.; white, 1s. 2½d. In fish, there has been a slight decline in sardines, which have been sold at 4s. 6d. to 4s. 7d. for quarters, and at 8s. to 8s. 3d. for halves, special brands somewhat more. Tinned salmon, 7s. to 7s. 3d.; bulk, 4½d. in casks, and 4½d. in half-barrels; ling moves off in small lots at up to 5½d. for prime; fresh herrings, 5s. 3d. to 5s. 6d.; red, 32s.; salt, 25s. to 30s.; kippered, 8s. to 8s. 6d. London pickles are scarce, and worth 8s. 6d., and a good demand is noted for Stephen's and Mackonochy's. Candles are scarcely so dear; D. R. J.'s have been sold at 9d. In brewers' goods, English hops are obtainable at 1s. 6d., whilst colonial can be procured from 9d. to 1s. for ordinary trade lots, according to quality, the market still being weak. Colonial malt is worth 7s., and English 8s. 6d., inquiry being mostly for the former. In liquors, business is, for the most part, confined to very small trade lines; amongst other sales we note a quantity of Associated Vineyard brandy, bulk and case. Some inquiry for gin, stock very bare; 20s. quoted as value. Rum is lower in value. The trade in metals is nearly as dull as it well can be; galvanised iron is nominally quoted at £20 10s. to £23 15s., according to brand. Pig iron, Nos. 1 and 3 Clyde, offered at 70s., but buyers are not eager. I. C. coke tinplates were done at 19s. Sheet lead placed at £14 15s. Fencing wire is still neglected, and quoted for small lines at £11 5s., £12 5s., and £13 10s. for Nos. 6, 8, and 10 of leading brands; Muntz metal, 7d. In oils we do not hear of any change. Raw and boiled worth 3s. 3d., castor 3s. 5d. to 3s. 6d. Slates are in over stock, and prices depressed. Cement moving in parcels at 16s. 6d. to 17s. 6d. The flour trade continues to be marked by steadiness, only bakers' parcels moving. The following are quotations:—Town brands of Adelaide, £10 10s. to £10 15s.; country, £9 10s.; New South Wales, £9 to £9 10s.; Victoria, £3 to £9 5s. Wheat is in fair demand at 4s. 3d. to 4s. 4d. Sales in produce this morning were apparently affected by the change of weather and the improved prospects of a break up of the drought. Still maize and hay brought full prices, which will be found elsewhere.

Messrs. Mort and Co., Limited, Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Hill, Clark, and Co., F. L. Barker, John Bridge, and Brunker and Wolfe held their weekly sales of tallow and hides to-day. The unfavourable news of the English market had a depressing influence on the sales, and shipping lots declined 10s. per ton. Prime mutton, £32 10s. to £38 5s.; and best beef, £30 10s. to £31 10s. Hides commanded last week's rates, the range of prices being from 3d. to 4½d., the latter for extra heavies.

The Emulation arrived to-day from Mauritius, with a cargo of sugar.

The R.M.S. Ballaarat sailed yesterday for London, via ports, with 607 bales wool, 5955 ingots tin, 23,908 ingots copper, 104 bales sheepskins, 1741 cases meats, 43 bales hops, 15 bales kangaroo skins, 8 kegs skins, 9 cases private effects, 4 cases drapery, 24 packages hardware, 2 cases jewellery, 2 boxes gold coin (£7000), 20 cases whisky, 4 cases parcels, and 7 packages sundries.

The Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, Limited, have received the following cablegrams from London, dated 2nd instant, viz.:—

"Wool.—From Messrs. Helmuth Schwartze and Co.: 'The sales have been fixed to commence on the 29th April. The quantity of new wool to be admitted is not limited, and all arrivals up to commencement of the sales will be admitted.' From Messrs. Buxton, Ronald, and Co.: 'The next London-Colonial sales will open on the 29th instant. Probable quantity for next series declared available, about 390,000 bales. Market quiet.'"

The following Customs duties were received to-day:—

The Times correspondent of the 26th December, 1883, gives the following account of a visit to one of the famous wine cellars of Rheims:—

"This city is one of the wonders of Europe by reason of its cathedral-like cellars. Starting recently to those of Messrs George Goulet and Co., I soon found myself wandering through five acres of arched space, which may be accepted as samples of the other best cellars in Rheims. Those wondrous excavations were made to supply ballast, &c., in the building of the ancient city, and the old workmen got out as much chalk as they could without burying themselves. Working scientifically, the excavations became domes, cloisters, and passages, and formed a subterranean city, roofed in chalk. The streets of these cellars were thickly populated with 2,000,000 inhabitants in the shape of bottles, and 2000 to 8000 great casks of wine, some of which I noted was branded 'Coronation,' as Messrs. George Goulet and Co. had this season supplied the wine to the Russian coronation feast."

To be had at all the leading Wine and Spirit Merchants in the colony.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 1884.

In the Legislative Assembly yesterday, Ministers answered the questions of which notice had been given.

The Walsh Grant Bill and the Bathurst Presbyterian Church Grant Resumption Bill were each read a third time and passed.

Mr. STUART gave notice of his intention of moving, on Tuesday next, that the House at its rising on Thursday shall adjourn till Wednesday, the 16th instant.

Mr. WITHERS presented a petition from Windsor and Richmond in favour of subsidies to local hospitals.

Ministers laid on the table electoral and other returns, and it was ordered that the documents be printed.

The House then went into committee for the further consideration of the District Courts Act Further Amendment Bill which had been introduced by Mr. GOULD. Two of the clauses were negatived, and amendments were made in other clauses. The bill was then reported with amendments, and its third reading was made an order of the day for Tuesday.

Mr. A. G. TAYLOR stated it was his intention to offer further opposition to the bill, as it contained a clause which repealed the section of the principal Act, enacting that fees should not be allowed to barristers or attorneys in any case where the sum sued for did not exceed £10.

Mr. BURNS moved the second reading of the Borough of Paddington Extension Bill, which he said was intended to give effect to an amicable arrangement which had been entered into by the Borough Councils of Randwick and Paddington for the severance from the former, and the annexation to the latter of a certain area which was geographically situate within the boundaries of Paddington, but at present formed a portion of the borough of Randwick.

The bill, which was supported by Mr. TRICKETT, was read a second time, and passed through committee without amendment.

The Singleton Gasworks Bill was also read a second time, on the motion of Mr. BURNS, and passed through committee with amendments.

The House adjourned at 7.3 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

The drought under which the colony is now suffering is not the severest that has been known in our history, but it will probably prove the most destructive. In earlier days the pastoral country was less occupied, and was not enclosed. There was always opportunity for sending stock on their travels, and there were grass and water to be found which nobody owned. That state of things has passed away. The days of pastoral commonage will come no more. Every available portion of the colony has been found to be worth taking up, and there is not a vacant piece of land for a run-hunter to apply for. The natural productiveness of the country, too, has been greatly improved by fencing, ring-barking, and the construction of dams. The consequence is that the number of sheep has multiplied till it reached thirty-six millions. But the whole of this pastoral prosperity rests upon one basis, and that is a sufficient rainfall to give the grass a spring, and to furnish the flocks and herds with drinking water. No very large quantity is necessary for this purpose. Holders of back blocks would be glad to compound for a certain rainfall of fifteen inches per annum, if it came at the right seasons. But they have not had this, and the consequence is that on many stations dams constructed at great expense now show no water. The stock has been shifted to what natural water-frontage remained. The consequence is that within ten or twelve miles of every frontage the grass has been eaten down till the ground is as bare as the road. Where there is grass there is no water; where there is water there is no grass. This is not a true description of the whole colony, because there are some portions that have been sufficiently favoured with rain, but it applies to all the northern part of the western country. It is already certain that millions of sheep have perished—how many it is too early at present to calculate. Many young and enterprising squatters who have started on borrowed money will be ruined; others who have acquired a more assured position will be seriously crippled, and others again will suffer very serious losses. The country has parted with a considerable portion of its capital, and it will need three or four years of good seasons to recover the lost ground. Recovery always has been rapid after destructive droughts, and we have the surest reason for being hopeful of the future; but there is no denying the extent of the calamity to which the colony has been subjected. This blow falls in the first instance upon the pastoral occupier, but it affects more or less all classes of the community. The pastoral industry is still our mainstay, and when it is seriously affected all classes are made to feel how dependent they are upon it. There is less wool to send to market, fewer sheep for the shearers to handle, less work for the carriers, less work for the Government railways, less business for the country storekeepers. Squatters who will want every penny they can borrow to re-stock their runs, cannot indulge in any improvements that are not absolutely necessary, and employment becomes proportionately scarce. The merchants in town have less business, the ships have less to carry away, and country orders are everywhere slack through the whole line of the trades. So much of our enterprise is carried forward on credit, that it is always a delicate and difficult thing in seasons like this for those whose business it is to control the operations of credit, to know where to draw the line. But undoubtedly great consideration and leniency will have to be the ruling policy. A hard and relentless demand for cash simply means widespread ruin. It is well known to those who have been familiar with our banking institutions that there have been times when banks have been needlessly cruel—when, from a fear of their own position, they have ruined many of their best customers, who, by a little consideration, might have been preserved in prosperity. Both borrowers and lenders have learnt many lessons in the past; but it does not always happen that the lessons of experience are remembered and applied. It is more than probable that English capital will be imported to meet the demand that will arise as soon as the rain comes. The colony could manage to get along with its present resources, especially if credit is liberal, but it will get along much more quickly if the capital that has been destroyed is replaced, for a time at least, with imported capital. Already we hear rumours of finance companies coming to the rescue, and we may expect to see an increase of the English capital invested, directly or indirectly, in the pastoral industry.

One thing is certain, and that is, that more money must be spent in storing water, and especially must we avail ourselves of such underground supplies as can be found. Wells bold on long after surface reservoirs are exhausted, because the underground storage is not diminished by evaporation. It is not everywhere, however, that wells are a success, but those who have them now rejoice in them.

Increasing attention, too, must be given to the storage of food. In very good seasons the grass grows to waste, and what is wasted one year is badly wanted the next. Mr. WALTER LAMB has lately been patriotically energetic in persuading his fellow-colonists to trust more to ensilage than to the old-fashioned haystack. This method of preserving food has two distinct advantages in this country. The preserved food is not so much exposed to destruction by bush fires, and it is also kept in a moister condition. The few experiments that have hitherto been made have been in the highest degree encouraging, and there is every inducement to multiply them. We shall get the rain again presently, and we shall recover our position, but we cannot alter the conditions of the climate, and we must expect very severe droughts at uncertain intervals. We shall be able to multiply our sheep again till they reach forty millions, but we cannot expect to keep them through all seasons unless we store more water, and store more food. It has been our boast that we can keep stock in the open all the year round, and feed them on the natural grasses, and that in this respect we have a great advantage over America. This is quite true, but it presumes that we have a sufficient rainfall, and have it sufficiently distributed. Sometimes, as in the present year, this expectation fails us, and then the stock, with nothing to eat and nothing to drink, have nothing to do but to die.

A more definite pledge could hardly have been given than that which was given to the municipal deputation last week by the COLONIAL SECRETARY as to the introduction of a Local Government Bill. Mr. STUART said "he was quite determined, as far as he possibly could determine, that that measure should be placed before Parliament this session." What the value of the pledge may be, however, is another question. So far as Mr. STUART is concerned, the will may be taken for the deed; but, unfortunately, it is not for the PREMIER to fix the measure of his own possibilities. With the difficult business already before the House, and with the opportunities which the rules and forms of Parliamentary procedure afford for the delay of even the simplest and easiest business, the prospects of the promised Local Government Bill are hardly hopeful. It would be interesting to know whether the House and the country really desire the passing of a thoroughgoing measure of this sort. There has been plenty of talk about the matter, both inside the House and without; but the sincerity of that talk can hardly be tested until a project of law is actually under discussion. When Sir HENRY PARKES laid a Local Government Bill before the House, the effect was rather to bring to light reasons against the expectation that any such Act would be passed than to encourage the Government in proceeding with the measure. And the action—or, more correctly, the inaction—of the Government showed with some clearness what was the official judgment as to the current of opinion. Has the current changed its direction since then? The remarks of the deputation, which expressed a strong desire for the passing of an effective measure, do not answer that question. They came from the representatives of places already incorporated under self-governing and self-taxing institutions. The question is, what is the opinion of people outside those places—of people who have up to this moment abstained from taking steps under the law as it stands to tax themselves? Mr. HUTCHINSON, in introducing the deputation, said that it represented about one-fourth of the population of the colony. Without inquiry into the correctness of that estimate, we may ask whether there is a majority of people in the colony who, having hitherto held aloof from voluntary municipal action, would support the Government in establishing municipal institutions throughout the country by a compulsory law? Nothing short of a compulsory law would serve the purpose. The inaction, or half-hearted action, of Ministries in the past has given evidence of a belief that the majority would go the other way. We hope that the range of Mr. STUART'S possibilities will be wide enough to enable him to proclaim a different creed, and that the action of the House will prove him right in doing so.

The probability is that in the past the continued influx of large streams of money into the Treasury from the sale of public lands was a powerful influence against the passing of a Local Government Bill. Year by year there was a surplus for lavish distribution; and as long as Ministers could gratify constituencies and strengthen their own position by distributing it, the tendencies were rather against than in favour of a radical change. If the constituencies could get all they wanted without taxing themselves, was it likely that they would be eager to thrust their necks under the yoke? At the same time it is to be remarked that any Ministry with a strong determination to set up local government, and with courage to stand or fall by the attempt, might have found in the command and judicious use of these surpluses a means for lightening its otherwise heavy task. The surpluses would have provided a handsome temporary endowment fund for local bodies; and, with the sure prospect of a handsome endowment to supplement local taxation, local taxation would have been submitted to more willingly.

The situation is altered now. There is no surplus to be distributed amongst local bodies already in existence or to be created hereafter. The Ministry cannot, therefore, ease the passing of a Local Government Bill by considerations of this nature, which might have been put forward at almost any time within the last ten years. But another view of the matter might now be taken. As there is no surplus for distribution amongst incorporated districts, there is none for distribution amongst districts that are unincorporated. To provide funds for local works the Government must fall back upon current revenue, which now consists in a greater proportion than it has consisted for some time past of taxation. But if current revenue, including the proceeds of general taxation, is to be drawn upon for such purposes, it is surely an injustice that people who are already taxing themselves to raise part of the necessary funds, and people who have abstained from doing so, should share and share alike. Taking the equitable point of view, there are only a few courses for the Government to choose from. Either no grants for local purposes should be made from the general revenue, or grants should be made all round to supplement local taxation throughout the colony; or no district should be required to tax itself as a condition for obtaining a grant in aid, as long as other districts are exempt from that condition. Under the present system some people tax themselves for local purposes, and are also made to contribute by taxation for the benefit of others who refuse to do so.

Meanwhile, however, we have a number of people who have voluntarily placed themselves under the present system of local government, and they complain that they are in straits because of the withdrawal of Government aid heretofore given. What the surplus lasted large sums were granted annually to the municipalities by way of special endowment; but the surplus being exhausted, the usual item has been omitted this year from the Estimates. Although it cannot be contended that the municipalities have any legal right to the continuance of these grants, it cannot be denied that they are likely to suffer embarrassment through their sudden discontinuance. Many of them—probably the greater number—cannot carry on their work unless they obtain either more endowment or more taxing power. They have been looking forward either to the continuance of grants or the passing of a Local Government Act; and some of them, it is said, have in consequence entered into engagements which, in default of both, they would be unable to fulfil. The case presented by the deputation the other day had much force in it, and under the circumstances the Government has done well to modify its policy so far as to mitigate the pressure upon the municipalities which a sudden and total stoppage of assistance would cause. A grant of 10s. for every pound raised by local taxation will have that effect, and will better harmonise with the rest of the policy, which reduces, but does not wholly discontinue, grants for local expenditure in unincorporated districts. The pressure should not be made strongest upon those who have shown their readiness to tax themselves.

Mr. PIDDINGTON'S questions relating to tramways were not quite so well drawn as might have been expected from an old Colonial Treasurer. If the answers from the Department had not been a trifle more explicit than necessary, the hon. member would not have received a most important item of information. The Department gratuitously told him what had been expended upon tramways from the beginning, without which item he would not have been able to note the rate per cent. which the net earnings of last year will pay on the total outlay. His third question was—"What were the net earnings of the tramways for 1883 after deducting the working expenses and the interest on the capital at four per cent. per annum?" Answer, Nil. As we have said, the hon. member would have been left in the dark by an answer like this, if the Department had not kindly named the gross outlay on works from the beginning. With that factor, and the net earnings on last year, he may discover for himself that the returns have given a little over 2·5 per cent. towards the 4 per cent. He did not ask, and was not told, what amount, if any, has been written off for depreciation. It is now certain that tramway traffic is subject to extraordinary wear and tear. The uneven nature of the ground, the fact that common vehicular traffic crosses the lines at all angles from morning till night; that engines run through streets liable to perpetual dust or mud; and that they have to stop and start so often, are all causes of injury; and as to the engines must make their lives uncertain at best, and at the longest tram motors seem likely not to last as railway engines do. And there appears to be no help for it. The trams have created traffic, and they could not now be put aside. Their existence is a necessity even to places which may be reached by railways. If they are not paying, perhaps something can be done to improve the case. It is not pleasant to think it may be true, as was intimated in the Assembly, that accounts are not faithfully rendered. In another sense it is still more unpleasant to think that if no account has been taken of depreciation, we have not yet seen the worst face of our tramway affairs.

The accident on the Victorian railway line between Melbourne and Geelong turns out to have been a more serious affair than was at first supposed. Three persons are known to be killed, many are more or less injured, and the engines are totally wrecked. It is a deplorable matter in all its results; and, worse, is the direct result of either disobedience by an inferior or muddle on the part of superiors. The accident ought not to have occurred. The telegraphic report states the line was a single one, and if the line was worked on the staff system the staff should have been waited for. But the staff was not waited for. CRAIK, the driver of the passenger train, said he waited for instructions at Little River, and confessed that he should have waited for the staff, but getting instructions that the line was clear, went right on. KITCHEN, driver of the goods train, is also dead. He was thrown with violence upon the line and killed, but the guard of that train also asserts that it was understood that the line was clear. And what, it may be asked, was the use of the staff system if the traffic was to be worked by an understanding arrived at by telegraph as to the condition of the line? The proper use of the staff is supposed to render accidents practically impossible; the careless use breeds both hesitation and haste, and naturally leads to such lamentable accidents as that now recorded. It is by no means the first accident that has resulted directly from similar negligence. The smash on our Western line beyond Emu Plains resulted from a similar cause, but it does seem singular that, when the staff system is adopted, such inflexible rules and stringent penalties are not fixed and enforced as to render a breach about as improbable on the part of a rational man as an act of arson or murder. It is stated in extenuation, or at least explanation, of this accident, that the stationmaster at Werribee was away, and his daughter in charge of the station. "Hence the accident." Common sense would move to have those words struck out, or, possibly, to substitute in their place, "Hence the mistake, which could not have occurred had the staff system not been departed from." Everything now must be taken as resulting from the slip of a single word by the unhappy girl; but is it not to save just such possibilities that the somewhat primitive staff system is adopted? And what is the use of adopting it and allowing it to be departed from? Departures are disallowed now, but they should never have been tolerated.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

It will be seen by our cable messages of this morning that a large fire has occurred in London. It broke out in Paternoster Row, near St. Paul's Cathedral, and raged for five hours, occasioning enormous loss of property. The Prince of Wales, with the remains of Prince Leopold, left Cherbourg for England on Thursday. The Bank of England has reduced its discount rate to 2½ per cent.

The minute guns which are to be fired to-day out of respect to his late Royal Highness the Duke of Albany will commence from the shore batteries, and will be afterwards continued by her Majesty's ships, the first 30 guns from the ships being fired by the smallest vessel of war in the harbour, and these being followed by a similar number of guns from each of the other ships, at intervals of half an hour between each 30 guns, the last guns from her Majesty's ships being fired from H.M.S. Nelson. The Wolverene will conclude the firing by also discharging 30 guns. During the whole of the day the flag at Government House, on each of her Majesty's ships, on the Wolverene, and at the batteries on shore will fly at half-mast.

The Legislative Assembly had a short, but business-like, sitting yesterday. The consideration of the District Courts Act Further Amendment Bill was resumed in Committee of the Whole. Some new clauses were proposed, one of which (the object of which was to enable a case to be restored to the list if it had been struck out through the accidental absence of the plaintiff) was agreed to with some amendments. The bill was then reported to the House. The Boroughs of Randwick and Paddington Bill was read the second time, and taken through Committee of the Whole. The Singleton Gas Bill was also read the second time, but in Committee of the Whole a number of clauses were added to bring the bill into conformity with other measures of a similar character recently passed.

Mr. STUART gave notice in the Legislative Assembly yesterday, that on Tuesday he will move that the House at its rising on Thursday, April 10, stand adjourned until Wednesday, April 16.

A meeting of the select committee of the Legislative Assembly on the Randwick case was convened for yesterday morning for the taking of further evidence, but owing, no doubt, to the long sitting of the House on Thursday, a quorum could not be formed, and an adjournment till next Wednesday was arranged for by the chairman.

The Hon. H. E. COHEN, accompanied by Mr. Fosbery, Inspector-General of Police, and Mr. O'Malley Clarke, M.S.I., visited the new Masonic Hall, in Castlereagh-street, yesterday, for the purpose of ascertaining its suitableness for use as a place where the business of the Central Police Court might be carried on until the new Central Police Court is erected. A careful inspection of the building was made, but no decision with regard to it was arrived at. The question whether the building should be used for the purpose in view is under consideration.

It having been alleged that some of the imported work used in the construction of the iron roof for the running sheds at Eveleigh was not being done in accordance with specification, and the Hon. the Minister for Works having kindly granted permission to the Iron Trades Employers' Association to visit the structure, a deputation from that body, in company with an officer from the Railway Department, inspected the work last month, and found some of the details and other very expensive work provided for in contract not carried out in accordance with specification, but were informed that, although erected in position, these matters would yet be rectified before being taken over from the contractors.

A deputation from the Local Option League was to have waited upon the Colonial Treasurer yesterday, with reference to the inspection of liquors under the Trade Marks Act, but it did not put in an appearance, though the Treasurer had gone to great trouble and inconvenience to make arrangements for the interview.

The P. and O. steamer Valetta, on board of which Bishop Barry is a passenger, is expected to arrive in Port Jackson about 11 o'clock this forenoon. The arrangements for the reception of the Bishop are pretty much as originally announced. Members of the standing committee and the members of the chapter will proceed down the harbour to meet the Bishop, in Mr. Thomas A. Dibbs' steam yacht, which has been kindly lent for the purpose. The yacht will leave the North Shore Jetty at the Circular Quay at 8.45 this morning. The steamer Port Jackson will convey the clergy and members of the synod. She is to start at 9 o'clock from No. 2 Jetty. It is expected that the Bishop will go on board Mr. Dibbs' yacht, and proceed in her to Government House, where he will stay as the guest of his Excellency the Governor for some days. A thanksgiving service will be held in the cathedral, commencing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the programme for which is as follows:—The service will commence with hymn 46. The collects to be used are "Prevent us, O Lord," &c., collect for the day, the second for Good Friday, that for St. Simon and St. Jude's Day, and that for All Saints'; "Our Father," &c.; then the versicles, "O Lord, open Thou our lips," &c., and the "Gloria," &c.; special Psalm cviii.; special lesson, Isaiah liv.; then will follow the "Te Deum" (Smart, in F), "Nicene Creed" (Bliss), general thanksgiving, Prayer of St. Chrysostom, the grace, &c. In the general thanksgiving the following words will be introduced:—"Particularly to the Bishop of this diocese and his family, who now desire to offer up their praises and thanksgivings for Thy mercies vouchsafed to them in their voyage now happily ended, and to us Thy servants in sending him to preside over us and Thy flock entrusted to his oversight as bishop." In the evening a meeting will be held in the New Masonic Hall, Castlereagh-street, at which addresses from the clergy and from the laity will be presented to the Bishop. At the Sunday afternoon service at the cathedral the musical service will comprise "Magnificat" (Stainer's Gregorian Tones); "Nunc Dimittis" (Stainer's Gregorian Tones); anthem, Elvy's "Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me." It is expected that Bishop Barry will preach the sermon, in which he will allude to the death of Prince Leopold. We learn that the installation ceremony is postponed until the 24th instant.

The Hon. J. B. Watt, M.L.C., left yesterday for London, in the P. and O. Company's R.M.S. Ballarat. A large number of friends assembled on the wharf to bid him good-bye.

His Honor Sir William Manning was occupied nearly all yesterday dealing with business in three jurisdictions. His Honor had a long list of chamber matters in common law before he got to the equity business, and before he rose he had dealt with over 20 applications. Causes were fixed for hearing in a manner which shows that his Honor contemplates making an effort to overtake the arrears in the equity business as soon as possible.

Referring to the sub-leader in our issue of the 29th ultimo, drawing attention to the difficulties and inconvenience attending a journey from Nyngan to Girilambone by the contractors' train under the existing arrangements, we have been informed by the Commissioners for Railways that, with a view of affording the public every facility of travel, arrangements were made by him for sending on a carriage to convey passengers over the unopened line; but the contractors state that while they are desirous of obliging the public, they find they are unable to haul the carriage, owing to the trucks of material and water it is necessary to send over, the line being as much as their locomotives can take. We are also informed that the Railway Department did not make a charge for the conveyance of passengers on the unopened line under the existing circumstances.

Some interesting "Social Notes from Home," by Mr. Archibald Forbes, will be found in another column of to-day's Herald.

Our special correspondent, lately resident at Calcutta, has been on a tour through some of the provinces of India, and in his letter (which appears in another column) he describes some of the more interesting features of the places visited by him.

The appointment of Mr. Charles Bown as chairman of the Fire Brigades Board under the Fire Brigades Act was gazetted yesterday.

The first meeting of the new session of the New South Wales branch of the British Medical Association was held at the Royal Society's room, Elizabeth-street, last night. The chair was occupied by Sir Alfred Roberts, and there were present—Drs. J. Forman, MacLaurin, Knaggs, Lovell, O'Connor, Parker, M'Donagh, Quaife, Traill, Jones, Fiaschi, O'Connor, Manning, Ewan, Marano, Fortescue, Goode, Wright, Markey, Marshall, and Hoff. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A paper dealing with a certain surgical practice was read by Dr. J. Forman, after which Dr. O'Connor read a short paper on "Remarkable Cases of Suicide." The papers were briefly discussed, after which the meeting closed.

A public meeting, called for the purpose of condemning the proposed application of the principle of local option to the annual renewal of publicans' licenses, was held in the New Masonic Hall last night, and was attended by about 2500 persons. Very soon after the commencement of the proceedings it was evident that a large proportion of those present were advocates of local option, and immediately the first resolution had been moved and seconded, representative teetotalers and local optionists took possession of the platform, and moved an amendment, amid a great display of party feeling. Cheers and counter cheers, groans, hooting, and hissing at times filled the hall, and it was with considerable difficulty that the chairman managed to put the question to the meeting in order to get its decision. When he did so he put the amendment first, and immediately there was a great uplifting of hands. They were so numerous that the chairman seemed puzzled, and he directed that the supporters of the amendment should go to one side of the hall, while those who agreed with the resolution should go to the other. This, in the midst of much excitement, the opposing parties did, and immediately the division had taken place the cheering and waving of hats and handkerchiefs became quite enthusiastic. Each party mounted the chairs and claimed the victory, and the scene was rendered the more striking by the presence of a number of ladies in the gallery, every one of whom voted on the side of local option, and waved their handkerchiefs and scarfs above the hats of the men. In the midst of this display of feeling the chairman declared the resolution carried by a large majority, and the announcement being indistinctly heard each party thought it favourable, and cheer after cheer from either side rose from floor to roof. When, however, the local option advocates found the division had been declared against them they claimed that the result of the voting was in reality in favour of the amendment, and demanded that the resolution should be put to the vote. The resolution was not put, and the local optionists seizing the opportunity called for three cheers for the Queen, and though there were two other resolutions to be moved the meeting was almost immediately brought to a close with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

The regular monthly meeting of the committee of the School of Arts was held on Thursday evening, and satisfactory reports were presented as to the finances and progress of the institution. From the treasurer's report it appeared that there was a credit balance in the bank of £288 18s., in addition to which £673 18s. 9d. was due for rent and Government subsidy. The monthly and quarterly accounts would absorb £529 2s. 9d., leaving a balance of £433 11s. The house and lectures committee reported that the charge for admission to the Saturday evening lectures had produced sufficient to cover the expenses and to allow of the formation of a fund for the purchase of new slides for the lantern. A few sanitary improvements were recommended, partly arising from the present intermittent water supply. The library committee reported that 55 works had been added during the month; and, with a view to remove difficulties that had arisen, recommended that discretionary power be given to the secretary to relax the rule limiting the issue of books to one work at a time. The reports having been adopted, and the accounts passed for payment, it was agreed to abolish the dual sub-committee, and to hold in future a preliminary meeting of the general committee on the Friday preceding the monthly meeting for the discussion of the general business of the institution. The secretary was directed to obtain a return of the members of the debating club.

The Waverley branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society held its fifth annual meeting on Tuesday night in the Oddfellows' Hall. The meeting was thoroughly representative, and presided over by Mr. E. Vickery. The report, while very modest in tone, revealed the earnest, persevering efficiency of the officers and collectors. The Rev. W. Bourne urged the claims of the society because of the Divine authority and influence of the Bible. The Rev. Owens Mell spoke of the society's work during the past year, especially in Europe. The Rev. R. T. Hills, the district secretary, pressed the claims of the society because of its achievements for humanity. In passing the usual resolutions, the meeting was also addressed by Messrs. W. H. Simpson, J. H. Newman, and the Rev. J. Moss.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of members of the New South Wales Alliance for the Suppression of Intemperance, was held at the Temperance Hall last night. Mr. John Davies, C.M.G., occupied the chair, and there was a satisfactory attendance. The annual report and balance-sheet, which were of a very satisfactory character, were adopted. A new committee was elected for the ensuing year, and a resolution recommending the trustees to increase the accommodation in the building was adopted.

A special meeting of the stewards and cooks of the Australasian Union was held last night at the Lord Nelson Hotel, Miller's Point. Among those present were Mr. M'Farlane, Mr. M'Donald, Mr. Ferguson, and Mr. Allan. The secretary, Mr. Allen, said it was with pleasure that he had to announce that since Monday he had enrolled 136 members of the union. A committee was appointed to draft out the rules and submit the same to the general meeting next Monday night, with a view of getting them registered. After a vote of thanks had been passed to the chairman and vice-chairman, the meeting terminated.

A sale of useful and fancy articles, the proceeds of which are to be devoted towards liquidating the debt on Christ Church, Enmore-road, was opened in the Oddfellows' Hall, Newtown, on Thursday afternoon. The display of work is exceedingly attractive. It reflects credit upon the committee, consisting chiefly of a number of ladies, who must have worked most energetically and skilfully in order to produce such beneficial results. The work has been very judiciously arranged by means of stalls, which are tastefully trimmed and decorated, and are placed on each side of the hall. The attendance since the opening day has been good, and the financial results so far have been satisfactory. The sale was continued yesterday and last night, and will be resumed to-day. An additional attraction has been afforded each evening by the contribution of musical selections. To-night some members of the Sydney Liedertafel will take part in the proceedings. A large number of donations in the shape of fancy ware have been contributed by several of the leading firms in Sydney.

A lecture entitled "Bradlaugh and the Elements of Social Science" was delivered last night, by Mr. Picton, in the Christian Chapel, Elizabeth-street South. There was a large attendance, and the chair was occupied by Major Rowe. The lecture was delivered in a clear and distinct manner, and the lecturer was frequently applauded by those present.

A recent applicant for relief from his liabilities through the operation of the Insolvency Act accounted for his position, inter alia, by stating that he had a wife and five children dependent upon him, his means being 15s. a week and a single ration.

Some particulars of Mr. Lomax's claim upon the Government, by way of compensation for the destruction of sheep and properties occasioned by the recent outbreak of scab, are given in another column. The total claims amount to £24,651 12s. The Minister for Mines has declined to entertain the claim.

Mr. F. VILLENEUVE-SMITH, solicitor, has been appointed a commissioner of the Supreme Court of Victoria for taking affidavits, &c., in New South Wales.

We are requested to direct attention to an advertisement in our business columns, announcing that Mr. John Osborne will deliver an autobiographical and critical lecture, in the new Masonic Hall, Castlereagh-street, on Monday evening next, the subject being "Twenty Years in the Wesleyan Methodist Church." Mr. Osborne will descant on the relation of Methodism to modern thought.

An additional entrance examination to each department of the High school, Sydney, is to be held on Wednesday. Some particulars regarding it will be found in our advertising column.

The following is the order of Musical Service at St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow afternoon:—Magnificat, Stainer's Gregorian Tones; Nunc Dimittis, Stainer's Gregorian Tones; anthem, Elvey's "Daughters of Jerusalem weep not for me."

The new Congregational Church, Devonshire-street, is to be opened to-morrow by special services. On Tuesday evening a public meeting, to celebrate the opening, is to be held.

THE LATE PRINCE LEOPOLD.

LONDON, April 3.

The Prince of Wales, with the remains of the late Prince Leopold, embarked at Cherbourg to-day for England.

GREAT FIRE IN LONDON.

LONDON, April 3.

A great fire has occurred in Paternoster-row, close to St. Paul's Cathedral, which raged for five hours, and, despite the efforts of the firemen, several houses were destroyed. The damage to the surrounding property is very great, and the loss enormous.

April 4.

The following premises were burnt during the conflagration last night:—Benjamin Williams, music printer and publisher, new warehouse, 60, Paternoster-row; Pardon and Sons, printers, 1 to 3, Lovett's-court; and Faudel, Phillips, and Co., importers of Berlin wool, toys, and fancy goods, 36 to 40, Newgate-street, adjoining Queen's Head-passage. All of the above premises were more or less gutted.

THE M.M. CO.'S STEAMER SYDNEY.

LONDON, April 4.

The M.M. Company's steamer Sydney, which left Melbourne March 1, passed Port Said on Wednesday, homewards, four days in advance of contract time.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Owing to necessary changes in the allotment of Departments to members of the Government, it is probable that there will shortly be a complete redistribution of seats in the Cabinet. It is not unlikely that Mr. Service will abandon either the Department of Education or the Treasury, of both of which he is at present head. A portfolio will be required for the new Minister who is to sit in the Legislative Council, and Mr. Gillies will also have to be provided with a new Department. Mr. Deakin having accepted the Solicitor-Generalship, it is possible that Mr. Gillies may become Minister of Public Works.

An opinion given by Mr. Webb, Q.C., is to the effect that the Mayor of Melbourne, having been elected, is still a member of the Tramway Trust, and that the election of Councillor Carter in his place, because of the Mayor resigning, is invalid. The difficulty is creating great interest.

At a meeting of the Trust, to-day, the directors of the Tramway and Omnibus Company, and two offices of the company, who have been in Europe and America were present. It was reported that the cost of the cable tramway lines will be £21,000 per mile, and the horse tramway lines £18,000; but the public opinion is favourable towards the cable system.

In connection with the bursting of the locomotive boiler at Sunbury there is nothing new to add. A report presented from the locomotive superintendent's office says that it is clear that the boiler did not burst for want of water. The driver, Harris, is to-day a little better. The inquest on the fireman who was killed, will be opened to-morrow.

The young man Alfred Kirby who was dragged out of the Yarra, into which he had jumped, was brought up at the City Court to-day, and committed for trial for robbery under arms at Yarra Bank under the circumstances previously reported.

A subscription has been started here to help Mr. Frederick Marshall, the comedian, back to England, as his health has completely broken down.

Mr. Tatham, a clerk in the Education Department, has recovered from a debt collector £5 damages in the County Court for libel by means of a post card, which implied that he was a debtor who wanted to avoid paying his debts.

The police have now a fourth man in custody for assaulting and robbing Mr. Betts, of Tasmania, in a cab under extraordinary circumstances. A quantity of the plunder has been recovered.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Friday.

A notice appears in the Government Gazette appointing Mr. Foxton, M.L.A. for Carnarvon, captain of the Defence Force, with an honorary commission. He has hitherto held the position as captain, under the usual regulations, receiving a nominal pay. It is also specially provided that officers holding honorary commissions shall take rank with those holding ordinary commissions. It is supposed that this step has been taken to obviate any question against Mr. Foxton's right to a seat in the House of Assembly.

The Government schooner Pearl was sold to Messrs. Reckinson and Co., of Sydney, for £550.

The Brisbane Orchestral Society held a highly successful concert.

The Rev. Wyatt Gill, who is passing through to Sydney, reports that Matais and Pi, teachers who represent the London Missionary Society at the South Cape, New Guinea, have stated to him that Captain Nicholas, of Cooktown, shot three men at Defiance Island, Orangerie Bay, in February last. It appears that Captain Nicholas put aside some tobacco which he had in his hand to purchase food, when his attention being distracted for a second, the tobacco was stolen. Nicholas then shot one man through the chest, the bullet passing out at his back; the second bullet went through another's hand, and a third through the limb of another. It is believed that the injuries inflicted were not mortal. A similar report has been received from the teacher at Dinnes Island, which varies with the former only with respect to the man shot in the chest, who was said to have died, but this statement is not authenticated. The Rev. Mr. Gill is making a report of the matter to the Colonial Secretary. The Rev. Mr. Gill fears the attack will lead to reprisals on innocent men.

To-night in the theatre there was a fashionable and large audience, but the Governor was not present, in consequence of the death of Prince Leopold.

A proclamation has appeared in the Government Gazette rescinding certain crossing-places for sheep from New South Wales and substituting Mungindi and Currawillinghi.

Mr. Thos. Archer, Agent-General, has been recalled, and Mr. Hemmant has been requested to act until Mr. Archer's successor shall be appointed. The Hon. John Douglas and the Agent-General for the time being have been appointed Queensland Commissioners to the International Health Exhibition.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, FRIDAY.

The manager of the Cumberland Company, Heemskirk, reports that the turbine works well, and that the stuff from the rise during the past few days has been much better in quality.

Miss Crowther, who was thrown from a buggy some days ago at Longford, near Launceston, is still in a critical condition.

As president of the Southern Tasmania Agricultural and Pastoral Society, the Minister of Lands stated at a meeting last night that the settlement on the land was proceeding in a very satisfactory manner. The trade with the other colonies last year had increased by £160,000; the trade with the New South Wales Government had rapidly increased last year by nearly £68,000, and the trade with Victoria showing a very slight increase. The Agricultural Society was in a very flourishing condition. The revenue for the past quarter shows a decrease.

THE RAILWAY DISASTER IN VICTORIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

There is to-day not a great deal to report about the Little River catastrophe, which, up to the present has resulted in three deaths—the engine-drivers of the two colliding trains, and a Mrs. Johnson, a nurse, of South Melbourne, who was returning home from a visit to a relative at Horsham. The two injured persons now remaining in the Melbourne Hospital are doing well, and the same remark applies generally to those attended outside by the doctors. The most serious cases appear to be those of Mr. and Miss Dawes, who are laid up at Finlay's Hotel; M'Murtrie, the guard of the passenger train; Walker, fireman of the goods train; and Best, the guard of the goods. It has been arranged that what may be called the official inquiry into the unfortunate affair shall be conducted by County Court Judge Molesworth, and two assessors in the persons of Mr. W. W. Couche and Mr. John Blyth. The date of the inquiry, which is to be held under the Railway Management Act, is not fixed, but meanwhile the coronial inquiry has begun. Two of the deaths—viz., those of Kitchen, the driver of the goods train, and Mrs. Johnson, occurred at Little River, and their bodies were removed to Geelong, where the inquest was opened this afternoon before Mr. Heron, P.M. Evidence of identification merely was given, and the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday next. Dr. Youl, the Melbourne city Coroner, held an inquest this afternoon on the body of Craik, the driver of the passenger train, who died in the Melbourne Hospital. Mr. Youl explained to the jury that as the coronial inquiry was opened at Geelong it would only be necessary to give a formal verdict in this case, and the jury immediately found that Craik had died from injuries received in the collision. Further official reports have been issued from the Railway Department, but they furnish little additional information. These all agree in stating that the damage to the rolling stock was very considerable, and that Mr. Biddle, the stationmaster at Werribee, to whose absence from duty the accident is directly traceable, has the reputation of being a most careful, steady, and attentive man.

Now that the excitement about the accident is cooling down, people are asking how it was that such a long time should elapse before assistance was at hand for the sufferers, nearly four hours passing before the relief train reached the scene of the collision. On this subject a narrative furnished by Mr. Thornley, M.L.C., who was in the first-class compartment with Mr. T. F. Cumming, M.L.C., Mr. Woods, Under-Secretary of Mines, New South Wales, and others, is very instructive. He says:—"The first intimation I had of the collision was a violent vibration and jumping of the carriage, and Mr. Bradshaw, who sat opposite, was pitched against me with considerable force. We were all thrown violently backwards and forwards, and it seemed as if there were two collisions. Our carriage was bulged out of shape, so that we could not open the door, and Mr. Cumming got out through the window. Getting my back against the door, I managed to burst it open, and we all left the carriage. The cries and groans of the injured were most heartrending. The darkness of the night, with rain falling heavily, increased the wretchedness of the poor sufferers. All who had escaped without injury lent them what help was in their power, but little could be done to assuage their pain. When the collision took place nearly all the lights were blown out, and some little time elapsed before we could get the lamps re-lighted. Meanwhile, as may readily be imagined, the confusion was indescribable. Very soon after the accident a lamp was placed at the end of the train to stop any coming train. When the excitement had partially subsided, I set to work to get the cushioned seats out of the first-class carriages, and with these we improvised stretchers, on which we carried the injured into the guard's van. Soon after the accident I inquired if anyone had gone to the nearest station for assistance, and was told a messenger had been despatched to telegraph tidings of the disaster to Melbourne and elsewhere. The collision occurred at seven minutes to 10, and I confidently expected that a relief party, with medical assistance and requisites, would arrive by midnight: but hour after hour passed by, and no relief train appeared, and meanwhile the agony of the sufferers was fearful to behold, and their piteous moaning and wailing would have pierced the stoutest heart. Whether any satisfactory explanation can be given I know not, but the relief train was an unconscionably long time in coming; in fact, relief might have been sent by road from Melbourne sooner than it arrived by rail. Into this matter the most searching inquiry should be made. With information of the disaster telegraphed to Melbourne very shortly after its occurrence, it seems monstrous that within an hour's ride of town injured passengers should be left without relief for the space of four hours. The public will want to know why medical aid and necessaries were so long delayed, and whether it would not have been possible to have promptly despatched a relief party to attend the injured, to be followed as soon as arrangements could be made by a breakdown gang to clear the line. At a time like that prompt aid to the injured is of the utmost importance, and one cannot help feeling that the most awful responsibility rests on the shoulders of whoever is blamable for the avoidable delay. I would suggest that a relief carriage should be kept in constant readiness at Melbourne station, equipped with every requirement for the relief of the injured, and that the head official on duty should have authority to despatch a relief train as promptly as possible on receipt of intelligence of a disaster of this kind."

THE BATTLE OF EL TIB.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

By the Orient steamer Cuzco, which arrived yesterday, the following particulars have been received respecting the battle of El Tib, fought on the 29th February, between the British forces under General Graham and the insurgent Arabs. On Friday, February 29, General Sir Gerald Graham defeated the rebels between Trinkitat and Tokar, inflicting upon them great loss. Their strength was officially estimated at between 10,000 and 12,000, apparently under the command of one of Osman Digna's chiefs. Osman himself was not present. The position which the enemy occupied near the wells of El Tib was strongly held by a double line of entrenchments. The art of making these, which had seemingly been learnt from the Egyptian prisoners, was a new feature in the mode of fighting adopted by the desert Arabs. The fight lasted for three hours, and the enemy were completely repulsed. Our men fought with wonderful bravery. The enemy's use of the spear, which was so deadly against the armies of Baker and Hicks Pasha, was completely frustrated by our cavalry, whose splendid charges on the flank of the enemy paralysed them. The following is General Graham's official report to the Secretary of War:—

"TRINKITAT, via SUAKIM, MARCH 1.

"No reply having been received to the message sent to the rebel chiefs, I advanced this (Friday) morning from Fort Baker with the entire available force, consisting of 3000 infantry, 750 mounted troops, and 115 men of the Naval Brigade, with six machine guns and eight of the Royal Artillery seven-pounders. We found the rebels entrenched at El Tib with Krupp guns. We moved to the right, so as to turn the entrenchments, which were stormed and carried in the rear, two successive positions being taken. We captured four Krupp guns, two brass howitzers, and a Gatling, besides a quantity of arms and ammunition. The loss of the rebels was heavy, nearly 900 bodies being already counted in the positions captured. Irrespective of the cavalry operations, the action lasted three hours, the enemy showing desperate resolution and tenacity. Their force is reported to have been about 11,000 men. Our loss amounted to 28 killed, 2 missing, 142 wounded. The infantry moved at first in a hollow square, with the transport animals carrying the reserve ammunition and hospital equipment only inside, but we found some difficulty in attacking in that formation, which was accordingly altered. Our loss would have been far heavier had the entrenchment been attacked in front. The cavalry were very ably handled, and made some dashing charges, but I regret their heavy loss. Tents and every appliance for the wounded have been supplied from the base. I leave this post entrenched to-morrow, and push on to Tokar. There is a moderate water supply here. I have sent through some prisoners a summons to the chiefs at Tokar to make submission to-morrow, and have repeated the terms offered yesterday. The list of casualties is as follows:—Killed: Lieutenant Freeman, 10th Hussars; Major Slade, 19th Hussars; Lieutenant Probyn, 9th Bengal Cavalry; Quarter-master Wilkin, King's Royal Rifles; Gunner Angus, Royal Artillery; Corporal Hugh, 26th Company Royal Engineers; Private Brindley, Sergeant Cox, 10th Hussars; Private Cottis, Private Garrides, Corporal Hibbert, Private Hughes, Sergeant Gray, 19th Hussars, Private Boycott, Private Henderson, Private Row, Royal Highlanders, 12th Company Royal Marine Artillery, Gunner Jenkins 47th Company, Private Holder 5th Company, Anderson, Royal Marine Light Infantry, Lance-Sergeant Connor, Lance-Corporal Callanan, Privates Edwards, Hernaby, Hickey, Kirly, Burke, York, and Lancaster Regiment, A. B. Beard, and Marston Royal Navy. Officers wounded: General Baker Pasha, severely; Colonel Burnaby, severely; Colonel Barrow, 19th Hussars, dangerously; Lieutenant Boyd, Royal Navy, dangerously; Major Brabazon, 10th Hussars, slightly; Captain Kelly, Royal Artillery, slightly; Veterinary Surgeon Beech, slightly; Quarter-master Watkins, Irish Fusiliers, slightly; Surgeon Turner, slightly; Major Dalgetty, York and Lancaster Regiment, severely; Lieutenants Gordon and N. M'Leod, Royal Highlanders, slightly; Captain Green and Captain Wardrope, Staff, slightly; Captain and Adjutant Poe and Major Aila, Royal Marines, slightly; Staff-Surgeon Martin, Royal Navy, slightly. The garrison left at this place have orders to search Baker Pasha's battlefield and bury the European dead."

SUAKIM, MARCH 2.

The Tokar garrison has been relieved. The Arabs under Kader had been in possession since the 16th February, and had been oppressing the garrison and the inhabitants, who rejoiced greatly at their deliverance. There was no opposition from the Arabs, who have retired into the mountains.

LATER.

Private despatches state that Baker Pasha received a spear wound in the cheek, but was not seriously injured. Colonel Burnaby was shot through the arm. Colonel Barrow was the most severely wounded, his injury being in the side. All the wounded are doing well. The following was the march of the troops and the formation in which the attack was made:—The cavalry scouts in front and on the flanks, the 75th in front, the 89th on the right, the 65th on the left, the 42nd in the rear, the 6th, the Royal Marines, and the Royal Engineers in the centre; 3 Gatlings and three Gardiners on the flanks of the 75th, manned by the Naval Brigade; six 7-pounders, manned by the Royal Artillery, on the flanks of the 42nd; more cavalry and mounted infantry being in the rear of the column. Lieutenant-General Stephenson, commanding the forces in Egypt, in announcing the victory, says that the enemy fought with desperate bravery for three hours, but were defeated in every direction with heavy loss. The loss of the enemy is known to have been over 900 killed, and therefore cannot be reckoned at less than 3000 killed and wounded. The inhabitants of Tokar were first informed of the victory of the British force at El Tib by a boy, who rushed into the town and said that the white soldiers had thrashed the Arabs. As the advance guard came in sight of Tokar, one man was seen coming towards the town followed by the whole population and the Egyptian garrison, who manifested their great joy by waving flags, firing off guns in the air, and dancing. A number of them rushed up to General Graham and kissed his hands, the women in the meantime giving vent to their joy by shrill shouts. The scene then became one of the wildest excitement, it being difficult to preserve an accurate formation among the troops, owing to the crowd which rushed in among the ranks and signified their gratitude by embracing any soldiers they could get hold of. As General Graham returned along the line after his arrival at Tokar, he was greeted with lusty cheers by the force which he had so brilliantly led to victory. General Stephenson received the following message from the Queen:—"Pray convey my congratulations and deep sense of his service and of those under him to Sir G. Graham, as well as my sorrow for the loss of distinguished officers and men, and my anxiety for the wounded."

A subsequent telegram shows that Osman Digna camped eight miles from Suakim, in the direction of Sinkat, the position held all along by him. General Graham will probably return to Suakim and advance in that direction.

BATHURST AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BATHURST, FRIDAY.

The agricultural show to-day was fairly well attended. The sales of stock occupied the whole of the afternoon, and a quantity was sold at high prices. A concert was given to-night by the Public school children, under the management of Mr. Dettman and Miss Gooch, which formed an agreeable wind-up to the successful exhibition. The following awards were made in the machinery section:—G. Fish, a local manufacturer, took first prize for double-furrow ploughs, 2nd for two-horse plough, 1st and 2nd for set of harrows, 1st for horsehoe, second for broadcast seed-sower, and 1st for scarifier. A. and T. Pringle and Co., with Ritchie plough, 2nd for best plough, and 2nd for reaping-machine, back delivery. J. Godfrey, a Bathurst farmer, took 1st prize for best two-horse plough; 2nd for four-horse plough; and 1st for combined harvester. E. Webb and Co., 1st prize for four-horse plough; 1st for reaping-machine, back delivery; 2nd for mowing-machine; 2nd for wheat-dressing machine; and highly commended for non-competitive collection of dairy implements. James Martin and Co., Sydney, took 2nd prize for combined harvester; 1st for mowing-machine; 1st for horse rake; 1st for seed-drill for general purposes; and 1st for maizesheller. M'Lean Bros. and Rigg, of Sydney, took 1st prize for reaping-machine; 2nd for horse-rake; second for maizesheller; 2nd for chaffcutter; 2nd for broadcast seed-sower; 1st for windmill; and recommended for two-horse gear. Ruston, Proctor, and Co. recommended for threshing-machine with driving power; and recommended for prize for grubber. J. Honeyman, also recommended for threshing-machine with driving power. R. G. Sloman was awarded 1st prize for wheat-dressing machine; John Grist 2nd for horse-hoe; Joseph Godfrey recommended for prize for collection of dairy implements the bona-fide property of a farmer; and Edward Shanahan, a local wheelwright, a similar award for a hay press.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS OF VICTORIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The statistics of the agricultural returns of the colony for last season, 1883-4, show that the wheat produce greatly exceeded the estimate, the yield being 15,499,118 bushels, or an increase of 6,747,089 bushels over the previous year. The yield of oats was 4,735,298 bushels as against 4,446,027 bushels; barley, 1,060,106 bushels as against 758,477 bushels; hay, 434,192 tons, or an increase of 106,807 tons. The average yield of wheat was 14·09 bushels per acre as against 9·03 last year. Potatoes yielded 161,224 tons last season as against 129,605 tons the previous year. The average for the first-named period was 4·01 tons as against 3·78 tons the previous year.

COUNTRY NEWS.

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

A service of song was given last night in the Protestant Hall by the Blue Ribbon Army, in aid of the Sydney Home of Hope.

The Customs' revenue for the week was £2527 14s.

A public meeting of the friends of the Rev. John Evans, Baptist minister, was held last evening in the Protestant Hall, Alderman Creer, J.P., presiding. It was resolved that the services of the Rev. Mr. Evans, in the interests of religion, truth, and temperance, were deserving of public recognition; and a committee was appointed to carry out the resolution by affording facilities to the public to subscribe for this purpose.

Mary Thompson, 14 years of age, was arrested this morning by Detective Camphin, on a charge of stealing £37 from the office of Messrs. Brown's Colliery, New Lambton, on or about 28th ultimo. Upwards of £20 was found upon her. The case will be heard to-morrow.

GLEN INNES, FRIDAY.

Two thousand acres of land were conditionally selected here yesterday.

ALBURY, FRIDAY.

At the annual meeting of the Pastoral and Agricultural Society, held to-day, the following office-bearers were appointed:—President, Mr. W. Turner; vice-presidents, Messrs. C. J. Morton, John Grieve, and Dr. Andrews; treasurer, D. J. Abercrombie; committee, Messrs. C. H. Dight, R. B. M'Martin, C. H. Douglas, J. W. M'Kellar, W. J. Lyne, James Hayes, J. H. Turner, Joseph Dunn, James Day, W. G. King, William Kiddle, and G. H. Billson; secretary, George E. Mackay.

GRAFTON, FRIDAY.

A mutual improvement society and debating class have been started in connection with the Grafton School of Arts, and efforts are being made again to start other classes.

180 acres of land were selected on Thursday in three blocks, situated in the parishes of Dundoo and Calamia.

The water on the river is now brackish as high as Copmanhurst, which is more than 80 miles above Grafton, and all the tributaries of the Clarence are lower than they have been seen for the last 30 years.

GUNDAGAI, FRIDAY.

Only one selection of 94 acres at Nhungrove was taken up at the local lands office yesterday.

Over £200 was paid yesterday for scalps of noxious animals by the Inspector of Stock.

NOWRA, FRIDAY.

Last Tuesday was proclaimed a local public holiday and set apart for prayers for rain. All Protestant denominations worshipped in one church, there being morning and evening prayers. The church was crowded on both occasions.

M'Curlie, the drover who fell down a precipice 60 feet whilst following cattle, is convalescent.

TAMWORTH, FRIDAY.

Quite a commotion was occasioned in the Lands Office yesterday by persons desiring to select in the neighbourhood of Wallabadah on the reserve recently thrown open there. Several people wanted each available block, but only 12 selections in all were taken up.

Much disappointment was felt in town this morning at Judge Faucett not being here to open the court. There is a heavy calendar to be dealt with. Some 48 jurors and 150 witnesses and police constables from all parts of the district, legal gentlemen and others, have arrived in town 24 hours before they were wanted. The opening of the court was gazetted for the 4th instant, but it will not open till to-morrow.

Fever and a kind of red disease are very prevalent in the district.

Water is scarce, as we have not had half-an-inch of rain since the middle of last December.

WAGGA WAGGA, FRIDAY.

Early on Wednesday morning a fire broke out among some straw sacks and a quantity of bags of wheat at Crisp's farm, a short distance out of town, on the Tarcutta-road. The flames were eventually subdued, the damage done being said to be small.

WEST MAITLAND, FRIDAY.

In reference to the search for the missing clerk of Petty Sessions, Mr. Vidal, the Cassilis police telegraph that they returned with their search party last night after searching for seven days. They tracked Mr. Vidal 50 miles up to mid-day on Sunday into a stony creek, but could get no further trace of him since, although they have had the best trackers and bushmen in the district; and they have searched the surrounding country for many miles with the police from Coolah, Woolar, and Merriwa.

SAD CASE OF SUICIDE AT LITHGOW.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LITHGOW, FRIDAY.

A young girl named Bridget Kennedy, about 15 years of age, committed suicide here last evening in a most determined manner. The body was found in the fowlhouse, near the residence of her mother and stepfather, hanging from the roof by a rope round the neck, the feet being only two inches from the ground. The inquest on the body was held this afternoon at a neighbouring residence. The evidence was that the girl had an altercation with her mother, which took place about 3 p.m. yesterday. The deceased then disappeared, and was discovered about an hour and a-half later by some children hanging from one of the rafters in the fowlhouse, about 30 yards at the rear of her parents' residence. The suspicions of the girl's mother were not at first aroused by what the children said, though after a while she went to the spot and found her daughter in the position described, but was too unnerved to take any action. She called to a young miner who was passing, and he, too, was terrified, and did nothing. Another, named Henry Geddes, then came along, who immediately took out a knife, cut down the body, and took steps to ascertain whether the girl was dead. She was examined by several persons, and though the body was still warm there was no pulsation, and the heart's action had stopped. Half-an-hour later a constable arrived, who removed the noose from her neck, around which it was tightly fastened, and had the body conveyed to the cottage. Dr. Asher, who examined the body shortly afterwards, pronounced life extinct. The jury returned a verdict of suicide, no evidence having been elicited which would make it appear deceased had any motive beyond that arising out of the quarrel.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Theatre Royal "The Silver King," splendidly mounted and admirably acted, has been more popular this week than it was on the first week of its production. Last night the house was, as usual, crowded, and the piece went very smoothly.

This evening, at the Opera House, Mr. and Mrs. Polk and their clever Comedy Company will commence a farewell season, opening in that very amusing comedy "The Strategist." The piquant comedies which form the repertory of the Polks are a pleasant contrast to the emotional dramas of the Majeronis, and should be well patronised.

The Majeroni season at the Opera House closed last night. It opened brilliantly, and every successive production has so charmed theatre-goers that they have given the Majeronis constant and generous support, and would have been pleased had the season lasted for as many months as it has weeks. Signora Majeroni has especially won the admiration of the Sydney public. The power and finish of her acting have thrilled the audience night after night, and the elegance of her costume has delighted, and to a certain extent instructed, the ladies who have witnessed her performances. Signor Majeroni has shown us that the genius which shone so brightly during the Ristori season is undimmed. He has not had an opportunity of displaying his powers to their full extent, for the parts he plays are on a lower level than the heroic characters in which he first appeared before us, but that after a long term of retirement from the stage, forced upon him by a complaint which it was feared would have destroyed his voice for ever, he should have reassumed and reasserted all his old power to enchain the attention and sway the emotions of an audience proves that he could do better now than even seven years ago. "Camille" was the drama played last night, and Signora Majeroni in the name part and Signor Majeroni as Armand Duval gained round after round of applause, and enthusiastic encores from the audience. Her many friends lavished flowers upon the Signora, in wreaths, baskets, and bouquets, and she may be confident of a warm welcome when she returns to the Sydney stage. The Majeroni Company will open next in Brisbane.

Mr. Sam Howard had a benefit at the Academy of Music last night, which was well attended, and the performance of "Our Boys" and "Family Jars" was enjoyed by a large audience.

This evening Hiscock's Federal Minstrels will commence a season at the Academy, and as the band of mirth-makers, who have in past seasons provided Sydney people so liberally with food for laughter, has been strengthened, and novelties in the way of ballads, dances, and farces will be performed, the Minstrels should do well. The Academy has been fitted up comfortably, and the programme (advertised in another column) for this evening's entertainment is a very attractive one.

THE INTERCOLONIAL EIGHT-OAR CONTEST.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The seventh intercolonial eight-oared race between New South Wales and Victoria will take place to-morrow, at Melbourne. So far Victoria has won four against New South Wales' two races. A number of criticisms have been given of the crews which meet to-morrow, but none of the critics as yet have ventured upon expressing a more favourable opinion of the one than of the other. The styles of the crews are in direct contrast. The form of the Victorian is admittedly superior to that of the New South Wales crew, but the physique and splendid condition of the latter place them at a great advantage. A keen and exciting contest is therefore anticipated. The names and weights of the crews are as under:—New South Wales: N. Johnson (bow), 10st.; T. F. Walker, 10st. 12lb.; G. Seale, 10st. 12lb.; H. Pickering, 10st. 13lb.; R. Bourke, 11st. 4lb.; C. W. Gaden, 11st. 12lb.; J. D. Webster, 10st. 13lb.; S. H. Martin (stroke), 10st. 10lb.; S. Chase (coxswain), 5st. 5lb.; the average weight is 10st. 13lb. Victoria: J. F. Taylor (bow), 10st. 6lb.; W. W. Senior, 10st.; W. J. Leverett, 10st. 11lb.; F. A. Ankerson, 11st. 10lb.; W. Douglas, 12st.; W. Burnip, 11st. 2lb.; R. D. Booth (stroke), 12st.; W. Gray (cox.), 5st. 10lb.; average, 11st. 2½lb. Mr. G. Robertson is the emergency for New South Wales, and Mr. W. H. Tuckett for Victoria. The coaching of the former was done by Mr. Oatley whilst they were in Sydney, but unfortunately he was unable to follow his crew to Melbourne, and they were obliged to avail themselves of the professional services of Walter Greenland. Mr. G. E. Upward, the well-known "crack," has been indefatigable in his exertions to bring the Victorians as fit as possible to the post. The positions of starter, umpire, and judge are to be filled respectively by Messrs. P. O'Neil, E. Carlile, and J. B. Templeman. In the evening the banquet to the crews will take place at Gunsler's Café. Mr. Charles Smith, the Mayor of Melbourne, will preside.

INVERELL PICNIC RACE CLUB.

INVERELL, FRIDAY.

The sixth annual meeting of the Inverell Picnic Race Club was commenced to-day, and, considering the fearful drought this part of the colony is passing through, the attendance was enormous, there being visitors from all the colonies. The racing was of a high class, and the fields were very large, with the exception of the Hurdle Race, which was reduced to a match between two. The course, which is situated on Byron Run, was lined with buggies, occupied by large numbers of the fair sex. The arrangements were complete, and the different events carried out with commendable punctuality. Messrs. Gordon, of Gragein, were in great form with their stud, being first in two of the principal events. The results are as follows:—

MAIDEN PLATE.

Mr. E. P. Gordon's Talisman (Glennie)	1
Mr. Riley's Adam	2
Mr. M'Donald's Stelder	3

Eight started for this event, which was a ding-dong race from the fall of the flag, and Talisman won a fast race by a head.

HURDLE RACE.

Mr. A. S. Menzies' Butcher Boy (owner)	1
Mr. John Campbell's Ripple (owner)	2

Butcher Boy led throughout jumping in fine style. They raced together at the last hurdle very fast, and Mr. Campbell's mare came a cropper, giving him a nasty fall, when Butcher Boy cantered in.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S CUP.

Mr. Gordon's Rapid (Glennie)	1
Mr. Campbell's Banker (Body)	2
Mr. M'Donald's Dowager	3

Ten horses started for this race, which was the great event of the day, Trevlyn and The Serf being warm favourites. Banker and Dowager, with The Serf close up, carried on the running to the turn, when Mr. Gordon's slashing fine colt came through and won a splendid race by a neck. Time, 2 minutes 19 seconds. The race was a welter weight for age.

THE GUINEAS.

Mr. Gibson's Jonquil (Menzies)	1
Mr. M'Donald's Slender	2
Mr. Gordon's Talisman	3

Eight horses started. Jonquil went to the front, and kept that position to the finish. Time, 1 minute 51 seconds.

THE BRACELET.

Mr. J. Scott's Infant	1
Mr. Gordon's Lisette	2
Mr. Gibson's Juniper	3

Ten started. This was a capital race, and Infant won in very fast time by a length.

There are large entries for to-morrow's racing.

The race ball takes place to-night.

THE TURF.

Unless the welcome rain continues, the attendance at the Hawkesbury to-day promises to be very numerous, for the events which are set for decision are of a very interesting character. Tattersall's was crowded last evening, but very little outright wagering was done, and the meagre amount of speculation that took place upon the Autumn Handicap showed that the true running Sardonyx was most in favour at 3 to 1, while 6 to 1 was offered against either Empress or Archie, and 10 to 1 was accepted about Polestar. It is thought by many reputed good judges that if Sardonyx makes his effort in time, and be not too late in making his run, as has so frequently been the case, he will score a win for his popular owner. Empress will run a good mare should her party decide to send her, but there appears to be more than a doubt about her starting. Soldier Boy is in great form, and may stand in need of a deal of beating; and Stockdale, if as well as when he ran second to Calma for the Caulfield Cup, promises to give more trouble than most. The uncertain Archie will have a host of friends if his appearance at the post pleases the public, and the race has every indication of being a brilliant one from end to end. Maroney, Hypatia, Rataplan, and Emilius seem to be about the best in for the Shorts Handicap, and Bargo or Salvo should appropriate the Maiden Plate. Paul, Manfred, and Repeater may distinguish themselves in the Selling Race; and if she be reserved for it, Empress bids fair to occupy a forward position for the Sportsman's Handicap, and after her most danger may come from Aimee. Excursion trains will leave Redfern at 9.35 and 10.25, second-class carriages only; fare, 4s.; and a special will take its departure at 10.55—first-class carriages, fare 12s. The following is the programme:—

* Scratched.

Our Richmond correspondent telegraphs that the starters for the Hawkesbury Autumn Handicap to-day will be Sardonyx, Stockdale, Archie, Soldier Boy, Respite, Pole Star, Jessie, Lord Clifden, Maroney, Empress, Normanby, Strathmore, Phyllis, Aimee, and Mirabeau. A few light showers fell last night which has made the course very nice going, besides making the weather cooler than yesterday.

CRICKET.

In order to recognise the services of deserving professional cricketers, the custom prevails throughout the counties of England of giving them each a benefit at the termination of their active career. The benefit always takes the shape of a match between two popular teams, and as the beneficiary stands in the estimation of the public, so will his benefit be a bumper or otherwise. There have been several benefit matches played in the colonies, but for want of proper management they have not had the beneficial effect intended. Among our retired champion cricketers it is generally conceded that no one is more deserving of a complimentary benefit than the veteran Ned Gregory, custodian of the Association Cricket Ground, he having represented this colony 15 times against Victoria, besides taking part in many international contests. It has been decided to tender him a benefit, and for that purpose a most attractive match has been arranged for April 25 and 26, on the Association Ground, which has in the most generous manner been granted free of charge by the trustees. The contest will be between the old intercolonial players and the best eleven that can be chosen from the junior clubs competing for the Stedman Cup. There will be a novelty and interest attaching to this match which has been wanting in any engagement played so far, during this season; and no doubt hundreds will visit the ground to see how those lights of other days—Laurence, Cosstick, Nat. Thomson, A. Park, E. Gregory, Conway, and others—will comport themselves against our rising cricketers. The following is the old players' team:—J. Coates, H. M. Faithfull, W. Campbell, E. Gregory, C. Gregory, C. Laurence, A. Park, S. Cosstick, E. Tindall, N. Thomson, J. Toohey, and R. Fairweather.

ATHLETICS.

The sixth annual meeting of the Windsor Grammar School Athletic Club will be held on the Grammar School grounds, Windsor, on Saturday, April 26th. The following are the principal events of a good programme:—100 yards flat race, open to all schools; 300 yards strangers' race, and 2 miles bicycle race. The handicap events will close on 21st April.

WOOLLOOMOOLOO REGATTA.

Owing to the careless manner in which the time was taken on Saturday afternoon in the race for half-decked boats of 20 feet and under, it was decided to sail the race over again, only those boats which finished the course being allowed to compete. In accordance with this resolution the Wingadee and Ianthe will once more try conclusions this afternoon.

SYDNEY AMATEUR SAILING CLUB.

The final general monthly meeting for this season of the Sydney Amateur Sailing Club was held last night at Aarons' Exchange Hotel. There was a fair attendance of members. Messrs. F. D. Peel and S. Underwood were elected as members. The following prizes were handed over to their respective winners:—Mr. J. J. Richardson's prize of £5, won by C. G. Cameron's Sophia; club prize, half-deck boats over 20 feet, Mr. J. Newton's Petrel; club prize, half-deck boats, 20 feet and under, Mr. S. N. Newton's Ianthe; club prize, 16 feet dingies, Mr. A. R. Gall's Nereid. The closing of the season, as far as this club is concerned, has been fixed to take place on the 19th instant, when there will be a full muster of the boats which are to undergo several evolutions under the direction of the Commodore. Afterwards the boats will repair to one of the favourite camping grounds, where the members will be entertained by the Commodore. A club race is to come off this afternoon between the Lizzie, Lottie, Adelphi, and Victor. The former has time allowance of 10 minutes, the three latter starting at scratch.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

The usual quarterly prize meetings of the rifle club in connection with the 1st Regiment Volunteer Infantry were held during the quarter ending March 31. Undermentioned are the names of the prize winners and their scores. The prizes were presented by Lieutenant-Colonel Raymond after the last parade:—

	Score.	Allowance.	Total.
Private Ellis	112	14	126
Private Bamford	111	10	121
Private Hall	110	6	116
Private Harvey	112	2	114

Private Holt	84	24	108
Corporal Mair	107	0	107
Corporal Emberson	95	10	105
Private Anderson	84	20	104

A handicap light skiff race will take place this afternoon between the following boats:—W. Pittman, 30 seconds; W. Rollinson, 25 seconds; J. Kegan, 15 seconds; J. Stannard, 5 seconds; J. Glassbrook, 5 seconds; A. Webster, scratch.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that the Ballarat Coursing Trial Stakes were run for to-day, and ended in a division of the stakes between the kennel companions Morte and Miss Jean, belonging to Mr. Jundt.

COMMERCIAL.

WOOL, PRODUCE, AND STOCK REPORT.

WOOL.—The deliveries of wool have now become very much lessened. All the auctioneers have decided on holding fortnightly sales. The first of these was held this week. The catalogues numbered 1400 bales, and the sales comprised 1285 bales. Though further discouraging news has come to hand respecting the result of London sales, the market has been fairly active, and except where excessive reserves were placed on the wool, sales were made at prices supporting previous auction rates. The quantity of greasy wool now offering is small, and chiefly of low to medium quality, prices being from 6d. to 9½d. Some fleece sold to 17d., and scoured ranged from 11d. to 17½d.

SHEEPSKINS.—The auction catalogues this week comprised chiefly pelts and medium qualities. Quotations: Full-woolled, 5½d. to 6d.; medium, 3d. to 4d., and pelts from 1½d.

HIDES.—5860 hides were offered at yesterday's sales. Competition was brisk, and last week's rates were maintained; 5250 were disposed of. Extra heavies sold at 4d. to 4½d.; a few to 4¼d.; medium, 3½d. to 3¾d.; light from 3d. Horsehides, 2s. 6d. to 6s. 6d. Kangaroo skins sold well, at from 7s. to 41s. per dozen. Wallaby, 3s. to 5s. per dozen.

TALLOW.—252 packages were offered at yesterday's auction, and 180 were sold. The market was weaker in consequence of a fall in the English market. Trade lots suffered less than those taken for shipment. Best beef may be quoted at £30 10s. to £31 10s.; a very prime lot worth 5s. more. Best mutton, £32 to £33 5s.

LEATHER.—At the leather sales of the week, there was somewhat better competition for well-dressed goods, of which the supplies were not excessive, and good prices were paid. Sole also was better. The quotations are—Sole: Heavy, 11d. to 12d.; medium, 9d. to 10½d.; light, 8d. to 8½d. Kip, best, 13½d. to 16d.; medium, 11d. to 12½d.; cow tweed, best, 18d. to 21d.; medium, 14d. to 16d.; yearling tweed, 19d. to 24d.; calf tweed, 21d. to 27d.; mixed calf, 24d. to 30d.; harness, 10d. to 13d.; bag, 8s. to 10s.; bridle, 8s. to 11s. 6d.

HORNS AND BONES.—The market continues firm for all sound large horns, which are worth from 25s. to 33s. per 100; medium lots from 15s. to 20s., and tips from 3s. Bones command from £4 to £12 per ton.

HAIR.—A brisk demand is noted for hair. Horse tail commands from 18d. to 20d.; mane, from 9d. to 1s. Cow hair sells at from 4d. to 1s. 2d.

BEESWAX, 9d. to 11d.

STORE CATTLE.—Inquiry is noted for bullocks in the southern districts of the colony, but the difficulties of travelling in the present dry state of the country prevent the conclusion of negotiations. Quotations: 45s. to 65s. for bullocks; cows at proportionate rates.

STORE SHEEP.—Nothing is done in business in store sheep, owing to the drought. Ewes are nominally quoted at 2s. 6d. to 9s., wethers 4s. to 5s.

STATIONS.—Station properties are unsaleable in the present condition of the country and money market.

PRODUCE MARKET.

Owing to the unsettled state of the weather, the produce market yesterday was extremely dull at the railway and also on the wharfs. A good shipment of Victorian produce came to hand yesterday morning. The details of the auction sales at Darling Harbour will be found below:—

Wood.—Billet wood, 10s. to 12s. 6d. per ton, firm; bundle wood, 13s. to 15s. per ton, plentiful; cut wood, 11s. to 14s. per ton, dull.

Hay.—Medium oaten hay in bundles realised from 6s. 2d. to 7s. 4d. per cwt.; wheaten, from 5s. 6d. to 6s. per cwt. There was only one truck load of lucerne, which realised 6s. 6d. per cwt.

Pumpkins.—The pumpkins were small, and dull of sale. There were only two trucks sold, which realised from 2s. to 6s. 4d. per dozen.

Oaten Chaff.—In this line there were two trucks, which realised 5s. to 5s. 4d. per cwt. in bags.

Straw.—There was only a small supply of straw, which fetched from 3s. 6d. to 4s. 6d. per cwt.

Meat.—The Riverstone Meat Company sold bodies of beef 3d. to 4d. per lb.; mutton, 2d. to 2½d. per lb.

On the wharfs there was not much animation.

Maize.—Owing to the heavy sea running on the bars and the steamers being unable to get out, the quantity of maize forward this morning was small. A few prime lots sold at auction at 5s. 4d. per bushel; the price asked is 5s. to 5s. 3d. per bushel.

Oats.—Heavy feed, 3s. 3d. per bushel; medium, 3s.; Tartarian seed, 3s.

Barley.—Cape, 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. per bushel.

Peas.—Best blue boiling, 5s. 9d.; grey, 4s. per bushel.

Hay.—The hay sales were very dull, the prospect of rain causing an easier feeling. Best brown hay, £6 9s. to £6 12s. per ton; green lucerne, from £7 5s. to £7 10s. per ton.

Straw, in bundles, 3s. 9d. to 4s. per cwt.

Potatoes.—There was a shipment of Warrnambool came to hand, and realised from £3 15s. to £4 per ton. Firm.

Pumpkins, from 4s. to 6s. per dozen.

Butter.—Prime New South Wales scarce at 1s. 9d. per lb. A shipment of New Zealand butter sold by Tate Brothers realised from 1s. 5d. to 1s. 8½d. per lb.

Cheese scarce, from 6d. to 8d. per lb.

Bacon, from 11d. to 1s. per lb.

Honey, 4½d. to 5d. per lb.

Lard, 6d. to 8d. per lb.

Poultry.—Fowls, 3s. 6d. to 3s. 8d. per pair; ducks, 4s. to 4s. 6d. per pair; hen turkeys, 5s. to 7s. per pair; cock turkeys, 7s. to 10s. per pair; geese, 6s. to 7s. per pair.

Brooms, 8s. per dozen, if good, up to 10s.

Beeswax, 9d. to 10½d. per lb.

Eggs scarce, on account of non-arrivals of vessels, 2s. per dozen.

Fish.—The following are the prices realised for fish at the Eastern Market, Woolloomooloo:—Schnapper, 16s. to 40s. per dozen; squire, 3s. 6d. to 15s.; flathead, 3s. to 11s.; whiting, 3s. to 9s. 6d.; flounders, 3s. to 8s.; soles, 4s. to 8s.; kingfish, 4s. to 12s.; jew, 9s. to 42s.; salmon, 4s. to 5s.; mullet (sea), 5s. to 9s. 6d.; long toms, 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d.; rock cod, 2s. 6d. to 12s.; leather jacket, 1s. 6d. to 2s.; eels, 6s. to 12s.; bream (red), 6s. to 9s. per basket, 80 to 90lb.; ditto (black), 15s. to 21s.; garfish, 15s. to 34s.; pike, 10s. to 31s.; blackfish, 5s. to 26s.; mullet (sand), 9s. to 58s.; travally, 6s. to 15s.; yellowtail, 10s. to 35s.; tailers, 5s. 6d. to 11s.; crabs, 1s. to 5s. 6d. per dozen; prawns, 20s. to 35s. per bushel; oysters, 50s. per bag; dried fish, 2s. to 3s. per dozen.

MESSRS. BRUNKER AND WOLFE'S REPORT.

Fat Cattle: 2100 yarded for the week—850 were yarded on Monday, balance to-day (Thursday), a large proportion being in medium condition. The few prime pens yarded sold readily at late rates. Prime pens of bullocks made to £10 13s; ditto cows, to £5 8s, or equal to 26s per 100lb.; medium and inferior dull, and prices much lower than on Monday. We have sold during the week 678 head as follows:—30 bullocks (C. Keys) at £6 9s to £8 12, average £7 7s; 15 cows at £5 1s 5d, 140 bullocks (G. Loder) at £6 to £8 4s, average £7 11s; by road—64 bullocks (Miss Keys) at £4 12s to £7 1s, average £6 3s 4d; 20 cows at £4 1s to £5 17s, average £5; 24 bullocks (Southern agents), at £5 15s, 21 cows (ditto) at £4 14s 6d, 61 bullocks (C. Keys) at £5 4s to £8, average £6 9s 4d, 18 cows at £3 5s to £5 5s, average £4 18s 7d. Maitland: Bonnie's bullocks at £7 15s to £8 15s, Walter's cows at £3 18s to £4 5s, M'Donald's bullocks to £6 8s, Conner's bullocks at £5 7s to £8 14s, Dillon's bullocks at £8 1s to £4 10s, Bowman's bullocks to £5 1s, Yeoman's at £4 1s, Jurd's bullocks at £4 9s to £7 9s; cows, at £4 to £5 1s; Doyle's bullocks at £6 to £7 14s, cows to £4 15s, Rose's bullocks at £6 10s to £8 10s, Dangar's at £7 2s to £10 6s; cows, £5 6s; Pike's bullocks at £5; 40 mixed, various owners, to £6. Fat Sheep: 15,060 penned for the week. On Monday market was dull for everything excepting prime quality. To-day (Thursday) some fine lots of sheep were forward, and prices improved fully 1s for all descriptions. We sold as follows:—R. S. Smith's at 6s 1d to 6s 6d, Jenkin's at 6s 6d, Hall's at 9s 6d, Loder's at 10s to 10s 6d, Seivl's at 5s 10d to 6s 1d, Brown's ewes at 6s to 6s 6d, M'Master's to 7s 6d, Raworth's at 7s 10d to 8s 6d, Campbell's at 6s 9d to 9s. Fat Lambs: Market lightly supplied, prime quality scarce, and good prices ruling. We sold 123 at 9s 6d to 10s. Fat Calves: Market fairly supplied. Prime vealers made to 42s. We sold 10 (Loder's) at 28s, 40 (Keys's) at 30s, 10 (Wilson's) to 31s, Elliott's to £1 4s. Fat Pigs: Large supply forward, and prices easier. We sold 250 for various owners to 67s. Farm Produce: Business during the week has been fairly brisk, and a good business done at the improved values noted in our previous report. Lucerne Hay: The supply arriving is ample for all requirements. The sudden increase in values which took place last week has had the effect of stopping the demand, for the country values receded 10s to 15s on all qualities. The following range of prices were taken at our sales—Green lucerne, 148s to 164s; good brown, 130s to 155s; medium qualities from 120s; and inferior ditto from 110s per ton. Maize: The market is firm and prices are improving. We have sold our consignments at 5s to 5s 6d per bushel. Wheat: Good milling grain is scarce. Prices ranged from 5s 6d to 5s 9d per bushel. Bran and pollard selling freely at 13d to 14d per bushel. Potatoes: Prime eating bulbs are in good supply, and worth 4s 3d to 4s 6d per cwt.; Early Rose and other varieties for seed are now unsaleable. Onions: Imported are worth £4 15s to £5 5s for best sound samples. Poultry: The market has been over supplied, and low prices ruled. We have sold fowls at 3s 6d to 4s 6d; ducks, 4s to 5s 6d; geese 4s to 7s; turkey cocks, 7s to 14s; turkey hens, 5s 6d to 9s per couple. Eggs: Case eggs sold at 1s 6d to 1s 10d; a large supply forward. Honey: Fair demand, at 4d to 4½d per lb. Wax, worth 9½d to 10½d per lb. Millet brooms, in demand, from 7s 6d to 9s per dozen. Lucerne seed selling at 8d to 8½d per lb. Wool and sheepskins: All descriptions and qualities were in brisk demand. Greasy wool brought 7½d to 8½d per lb. Tallow: Beef brought £29 5s to £32, and mutton £32 15s to £34 10s per ton. Hides: Heavies, salted, 60lb. and over, worth 4d to 4½d; light and medium weights from 3½d per lb.; calf and yearling skins, 1s to 6s 6d each. Horsehides sold at 3s to 9s each. Hair: Horsemanes and tails, 14d to 19d; cowtails, washed, 10d to 14d; dirty, 5d to 8d per lb.; horns, large, 23s to 33s; medium from 15s, and small from 3s per 100. Bones, shanks very saleable £5 to 10s per cwt.—April 3.—[ADVT.]

HORSE MARKET.

T. COSONOVA.—The market full of horses this week, and prices easier than last. We sold heavy draught for £23 10s to £40; active ditto £19 15s to £32; stylish buggy and sociable horses, from £21 to £36 10s; useful cab and brougham horses, from £10 to £20. A scarcity in the latter class, and we have a good many inquiries for them; town hacks sold up to £27; useful light harness and saddle horses, up to £21 10s. The usual rush of town and used-up horses, which sold from £2 to £7 10s. In vehicles a very large business done at late quotations.—April 3.

WILLIAM INGLIS AND CO.—Market poorly supplied the past week, and the demand limited to active draught, cart, and useful harness horses, for which about same rates as ruled last week were obtained. Heavy draught horses are not so much looked after as they have been, but we are aware that as soon as the drought breaks up the demand will again revive, and prices stiffen in this class. The following is a summary of our sales:—20 heavy draught horses from £28 to £40, 30 active cart horses from £18 to £25, 20 useful harness horses from £10 to £20, 40 light harness and saddle horses from £5 to £10.—April 4.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

(RICHARD GIBSON AND CO.'S REPORT.)

MELBOURNE, APRIL 2.

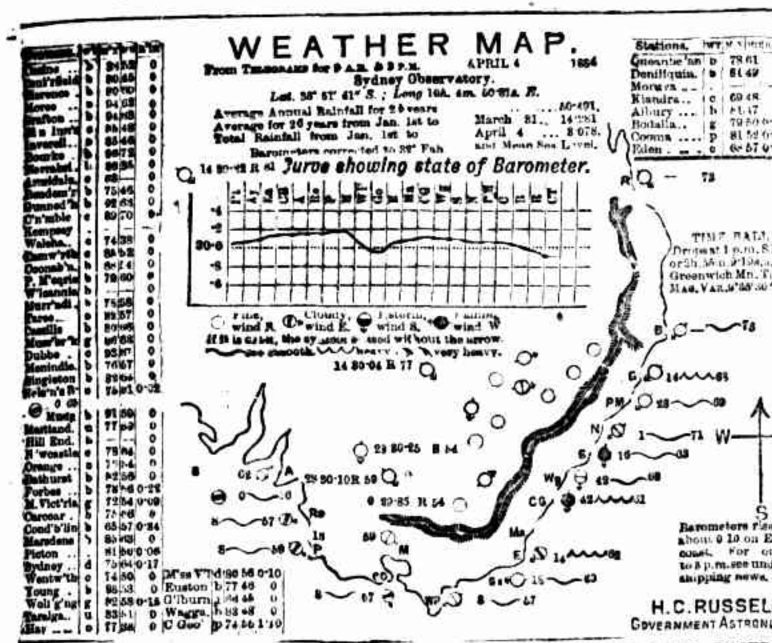

Fat Cattle.—Only a moderate supply came to hand, viz., 1890 head. Prime qualities were poorly represented, and sold fully 10s a head higher, whilst inferior and medium sorts remain unaltered. The bulk of the supply came from Upper Murray and Goulburn districts, most of the latter having travelled in. We quote—Best pens of bullocks, £10 10s to £13; good, £8 10s to £10; second, £5 10s to £7 10s; inferior, from £5; best cows, £6 10s to £8. We sold—72 cows and bullocks for executors of late Mr. John Bon, Wappan, to £12 17s 6d, the former averaging £6 7s, the latter £10 6s 3d; 51 cows and bullocks for Mr. David Mitchell, Mooroolbark, to £9 10s, averaging £5 18s 6d and £7 10s 6d respectively; 46 bullocks for Mr. Alex. M'Millan, Caldermeade, to £11 10s, averaging £9 16s 8d; and 10 cows and bullocks for Mr. John M'Millan, Hazlewood, at £6 17s 6d and £11 5s respectively.

Fat Calves.—140 were penned, mostly good quality. Sales were brisk at advanced rates. Best sold at from 50s to 70s; good, 35s to 45s; second, 25s to 30s; inferior, from 20s. We sold—Small drafts for executors late Mr. John Bon, Wappan, and Messrs. P. and J. Dunn, Woodlea. Prices ranging up to £3 11s 6d per head.

Fat Sheep.—12,120 yarded, consisting chiefly of medium and inferior qualities, and sales show no material alteration from last week's low rates, with the exception that primest descriptions met a readier sale, and a clearance of all sorts was effected. We quote prime merino wethers, 12s to 13s.; good, 10s. to 11s.; others, 8s. upwards; best cross-bred wether, 14s. to 15s. (extra higher); good, 12s. to 13s.; others, 10s. upwards. We sold 579 ewes and wethers for Mr. David Gorman, Beveridge, to 16s.; 464 wethers for Mr. M'Cleland, Kyneton, at 10s. 6d.; 216 wethers for Messrs. J. and J. M'Gregor, Gisborne, to 12s.; 140 ewes and wethers for Mr. James M'Lellan, Kialla West, to 11s; 133 ewes, for Mrs. E. M. Coghlan, Dollar Burn, at 7s; 99 ewes and wethers, for Mr. W. Henry, Romsey; 24 ewes and wethers, for Mr. A. M'Edward, Burnek, to 10s; and a small draft of wethers for Mr. E. Wright, Beveridge, at 13s.

Fat Lambs.—1850 came forward, with very few prime, and a ready sale was made at an advance on last rates. We quote—Best, 8s 6d to 9s 6d (extra higher); seconds, 7s 6d to 8s 6d; others, 6s upwards. We sold—188, for Mr. David Gorman, Beveridge, to 8s; 119, for Mr. E. Wright, Beveridge, at 8s; 74 for Mr. A. M'Edward, Burnek, at 8s.

THE WEATHER.

The hopes entertained by most people that the rain which commenced on Thursday evening would continue were somewhat disappointed yesterday, as, though there were two or three showers, and the sky had a watery look all day, the quantity of rain that fell was very small: in fact, it will not make the slightest difference with regard to the proposed intermittent supply of water to the city. From several of the country towns telegrams were received yesterday indicating that, so far, what little rain has fallen has been confined to the coast districts, and that the drought still continues.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

BROUGHTON CREEK, FRIDAY.
Heavy rain fell all last night. The drought appears to be breaking up.

GUNNEDAH, FRIDAY.
The weather is still warm, and no sign of the long looked-for rain. Water is very scarce, stock low in condition, and sickness is very prevalent owing to the protracted summer and impure water.

LITHGOW, FRIDAY.
The weather is dull, cloudy, and very close.

WAGGA WAGGA, FRIDAY.
The weather is clear, fine, and warm.

NOWRA, FRIDAY.
Splendid showers fell here last night, which have done much good. The sky is still cloudy, and the rain continues to fall on the high ground.

WALGETT, FRIDAY.
The thermometer registered 97° this morning in the shade, and the nights very close and muggy. There are no signs of rain or of a break in the weather, beyond some fleecy clouds which are flying about.

WEST MAITLAND, FRIDAY.
Rain set in here early this morning, and the weather has been showery all day, with a prospect of continuance.

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.
Rain began to fall this morning about 11 o'clock, and continued at intervals all day.

TAMWORTH, FRIDAY.
There are no signs of rain, though it is badly wanted.

INVERELL, FRIDAY.
Rain is threatening, and was never more wanted.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH. CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 13, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in cough, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution: None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s. Agents, Sydney, ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

ARNOLD'S BALSAM OF HOREHOUND, A PURE VEGETABLE EXTRACT.—Nothing so quickly cures Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Loss of Voice, Influenza, Hoarseness, and Weak Chest as this BALSAM. Where children have Whooping Cough, or are liable to Croup, always keep it. A single dose quietens and gives relief. A small bottle often cures. This is the best expectorant now in use; rapidly relieves Bronchial Tubes by dissolving the congealed phlegm. Ask for "Arnold's," and get it. Spurious imitations are sometimes offered. Sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers throughout Australasia.

NERVOUS DEBILITY. A CURE GUARANTEED. Dr. E. C. WEST'S NERVE and BRAIN TREATMENT.
A guaranteed specific for hysteria, dizziness, convulsions, fits, nervous neuralgia, headache, nervous prostration caused by the use of alcohol or tobacco, wakefulness, mental depression, softening of the brain, resulting in insanity and leading to misery, decay, and death; premature old age, caused by over-exertion of the brain or over indulgence. Each box contains one month's treatment. 5s a box, or 6 boxes for 25s. Sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received for six boxes, accompanied with 25s, the purchaser will receive the manufacturer's written guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. Guarantees issued by all chemists and druggists in Australia.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An External Means of CURING SKIN DISEASES. There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine," and commence to take away in a few days. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic, while old, enduring skin disorders that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists, and ELLIOTT BROTHERS, Sydney. Bottles, 2s 9d. Made only by J. PEPPER and CO., London.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—This fluid combination, as a stimulant to disordered liver, is safer than calomel, blue pill, or destructive antibilious medicines. In all cases of congestion or liver complaint, Taraxacum and Podophyllin sets the sluggish liver in action, moves the stomach very gently indeed, giving a sense of clearness and comfort within a few hours. The symptoms of liver derangement—headache, torpidity, costiveness, flatulence, heartburn, sense of over-repletion, shoulder pains, repugnance to food, general discomfort and depression—are quickly dispelled by Taraxacum and Podophyllin. Prepared solely by J. PEPPER and CO., London. Insist on having the correct preparation. Bottles, 2s 9d and 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere.

PEPPER'S QUININE AND IRON TONIC possesses all the powers of these valuable tonics in banishing diseases and symptoms traceable to weakness. It rouses and develops the nervous energies, causes increased action of all the nerve centres, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels languor and depression.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC strengthens the nerves and muscular system, improves digestion, animates the spirits, thoroughly recruits the health and strength. Bottles (32 doses), 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere. Insist on having Pepper's Tonic. Made only by J. Pepper and Co., London.

LIVER COMPLAINTS.—Dr. KING'S DANDELION and QUININE LIVER PILLS (without mercury).
THE BEST REMEDY FOR BILIOUSNESS, STOMACH DERANGEMENT, FLATULENCE, PAINS BETWEEN THE SHOULDERS, BAD APPETITE, INDIGESTION, ACIDITY, HEADACHE, HEARTBURN, and all other symptoms of disordered liver and dyspepsia. The safest and mildest pills for every constitution.
In boxes at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, sold everywhere.
Prepared by Jas. Rooke, London.

SARSAPARILLA.—Dr. S. P. TOWNSEND'S is now manufactured under the direction of Dr. James R. Chilton, of New York, whose certificate will be found in every wrapper of bottles of the genuine article.

DERMATOLOGY. JAMES H. ADGER, Dermatologist, Office: 131, Elizabeth-st., Sydney, treats successfully all diseases of the skin and scalp, loss of hair, premature blanching, and general cultivation and growth of the hair; and, as a result of this experience, he may point to his flattering success during several years' practice in this city, without reference to the many special cures he has effected, as the best proof of the general efficiency of his system of treatment.
Mr. Adger may be consulted at his office, 131, Elizabeth-street, where letters and testimonials are open to inspection, which must satisfy the most sceptical, signed as they are by persons of the highest positions in society. It will be obvious that no person could have obtained such names as an endorsement of his professional ability without constant proof of merit.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THE Greatest Success ever experienced in the annals of Pianoforte Selling has been achieved by Messrs. Nicholson and Co. by the introduction of the MIGNON PIANO.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THIS Model is the ONLY ONE yet made bearing the name "The MIGNON PIANO," and we beg to caution our friends and the public not to be deluded by other houses who may attempt to foist on them an instrument as being a MIGNON. There is but one MIGNON PIANO, and in Melbourne can only be had at our warehouse.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

WE invite the strictest examination possible of our MIGNON PIANO, and we assert, without fear of contradiction, that NO OTHER HOUSE CAN OFFER AN INSTRUMENT TO APPROACH THE MIGNON, either as regards price or quality.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THIS model was constructed especially for us, and CONTAINS MANY VALUABLE IMPROVEMENTS not to be found in any similar priced instruments, and were it not that we placed a very large and continuous contract the instrument could not be manufactured at the price.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THIS model has already obtained so great a hold on the public that we have no fear for its future. Its name is now a "household word" throughout Australia. We are constantly receiving letters from purchasers expressing their unbounded confidence in the instrument.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THIS model excels all others, and would-be imitators. The vastly-improved iron frame prevents the possibility of atmospheric influences to a great extent, and ensures a most remarkable steadiness and retention of the quality of the tone. Larger results are obtained in power and purity of tone, and the instrument thus becomes adapted for use in any climate.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THIS model is most solidly built, being overstrung, double oblique. Thus is secured (on account of the extra length of string) a greater fulness, soundness, and richness of tone not found even in pianos of much greater pretensions.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

WHAT makes the MIGNON PIANO adapted to any climate is the admirable materials used and grandness of its construction—no flimsiness is perceptible in any part of the instrument. It is specially suitable for the country, as it requires but little or no tuning.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THE maker of the MIGNON PIANO manufactures but the one model; hence the vast superiority obtained over other houses who offer about a dozen different models by the same maker. Therefore it is impossible for any manufacturer to turn out a piano equal to the MIGNON.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THERE is no wonder that our competitors are jealous of the success we have met with by the MIGNON PIANO. All who have seen and heard the instrument agree that it is the prettiest designed piano ever brought to Australia, that it has better and richer tone than any similar value piano, that the touch is most delicious, and is really a superb instrument.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

THERE can be no question as to the durability of the Mignon Piano. We stake our reputation on this, whether for the School, the Parlour, or the Drawing-room—The Mignon Piano is the best.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

WE have always had credit given us by our friends and the musical public of Australia for the introduction of Novelties. We never copy our competitors. We lead the way; let them follow. The Mignon Piano will always be found to bear out all that we say in its favour.

THE MIGNON PIANO.

BLOCK OF COAL LAND FOR SALE.
TENDERS are invited up to the 1st APRIL for the PURCHASE of 36½ ACRES VALE of CLWYDD COAL LAND. The adit where first coal for Exhibition and Government Trial was obtained is on this block. The 11-feet seam of marketable coal can be seen, and could be worked with half the expense of shaft-sinking. A chance like it will never occur again, this being the only part of the original holding that can be sold. There is nothing equal to it in the Lithgow district. The company (Vale of Clwydd) working a part of the same seam, are paying the handsome dividend of 20 per cent. per annum on the whole capital. The enormous increase of traffic over the Zigzag will very shortly require a loop line, which must pass close by this block, and that will at once more than double its value.
Easy terms can be arranged, and all particulars obtained from DUNN and LYONS, 162, King-street, Solicitors for the Vendor.

BERKSHIRE PARK.

A highly improved Agricultural and Grazing Estate, situated on the main road from PARRAMATTA to WINDSOR, midway between the railway stations at
RIVERSTONE and WINDSOR.
Also, a small Farm adjoining, containing about 200 acres.

FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.

By order of Geo. Rouse, Esq., as surviving Trustee of the Will of the late Richard Rouse, Esq.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions as above, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, 21st APRIL, at 11 o'clock,
The above improved Agricultural and Grazing Estate, of which the following are a few of the particulars, viz.:—

LOT 1.
BERKSHIRE PARK, contains an area of about 878 acres, and is made up of the undermentioned grants, viz.:—
310 acres, Richard Rouse
320 acres, Richard Rouse
50 acres, James Sherrard
40 acres, J. Normans, and the southern portion, estimated at 150 acres, of M. Mason's 300 acres—together 878 acres, more or less, but by survey would no doubt much exceed that area.

The Estate commences at its eastern end at the bridge crossing South Creek on the main road from Parramatta to Windsor, and has a frontage to permanent water of about one and a half miles; its northerly boundary extends along the main road to the reserve for the Windsor Common, a distance of about one and a half miles, and is bounded on the northwest by that reserve running down to M'Alpin's 100-acre grant, and then by that grant to the waters of South Creek. The outside lines of the estate, except on the short side of M'Alpin's grant, are securely enclosed with fencing, consisting principally of two rails and two wires, and its area is subdivided, chiefly by old fencing, into seven paddocks. A large quantity of the land has been cleared, and many years since was under cultivation, and yielded heavy crops, but for some years cultivation has been restricted to a small paddock near the homestead, leaving the residue of the cleared land to rest and recuperate. Outside the cleared land the country is open forest, with a large number of well-grown ironbark trees. The timber having all along been strictly preserved is now of great value, and alone would meet the cost of clearing the whole of the estate.

The homestead, which is built on a gentle rise within sight of the main road from Parramatta to Windsor, is of the old-fashioned comfortable order of residences, and is substantially built throughout of the best materials and workmanship. It contains flagged verandahs (back and front), a very wide hall, extending through the building, capable of being arranged as front and back halls and dining-hall. On the right and left are drawing-room and dining-room, 4 other large rooms, and 2 smaller ones with large attic over the central hall, and large dry cellars under the front part of the house. The range of outhouses comprise large kitchen, servant's room, store and buggy house with large granary over all. This block of buildings is built of brick with shingled roof, and is in every respect in as good order as though it had only been erected a few years. The brickwork is as neat as if it had just left the builder's hands, and all the internal fittings of the residence are of fine cedar. The outbuildings are numerous, and adapted for a large establishment. Amongst them is a substantially brick-built barn, with cart verandahs back and front, and two stables for working horses; wooden stable, containing four stalls and large loose box, harness-room, &c.; brick-built laundry, with rooms attached, men's huts, &c., &c.; large open cattle shed, with bails, calfpen, killing and meat-house, &c., with granary over. The orchard, which contains about an acre of rich land, lies between the house and the creek, and is securely enclosed with a good paling fence. The trees are well grown, and include a large number of healthy oranges, apples, and all sorts of stone fruits. The vines are of good age, and even in this dry season are now heavily laden with huge bunches of grapes.

LOT 2.
Block of about 200 acres, M'Alpine's and Dennison's grants, adjoining the above, having a long frontage to South Creek. Part of this land is cleared. These grants are only sold separate from the rest of the estate in consequence of certain interests being directly connected with them.

Carts, agricultural implements, and other similar effects may be taken by the purchaser at a valuation, or will be removed by the Trustee of the Estate.
The above Estate is for imperative sale, and the attention of gentlemen seeking a country residence within two hours' journey from Sydney, or a depot for stock within a short distance of a railway station is specially directed to it, and inspection invited.

Terms, liberal.

Plan on view at the Rooms.

MITTAGONG,
the most accessible
SANATORIUM OF THE SOUTH,

2060 feet above sea level.

HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE SALE BY AUCTION.

ON THE GROUND.

All that valuable and desirable property on both sides of and surrounding the MITTAGONG RAILWAY STATION, once well-known as the
FITZROY IRON MINES ESTATE, and now the property of the MITTAGONG LAND COMPANY, Limited, with a Certificate of Title under the
REAL PROPERTY ACT

DAY OF SALE,
26th APRIL, 1884.
TIME, 2 o'clock p.m.

This valuable Estate has been carefully subdivided into ELIGIBLE BUSINESS ALLOTMENTS, CHOICE VILLA SITES, and GARDEN and ORCHARD AREAS,
the latter varying in size from 3 acres upwards.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the Directors of the Mittagong Land Company, Limited, to sell by public auction, on the ground, adjoining the Mittagong Railway Station, on SATURDAY, the 26th APRIL, 1884, at 2 o'clock p.m.

The above sterling property which for many years was withheld from the public held by the Court of Chancery, but is
AT LAST SET FREE.

BANKERS,
STOREKEEPERS,
CAPITALISTS,
and all in search of a country home have now an opportunity of securing what they desire in one of THE MOST BEAUTIFUL, ELEVATED, AND HEALTHY SPOTS
on the
FAMOUS SOUTHERN LINE.

The township lots embrace many choice business sites, fronting Main-street, on the Great Southern Road and Station-street, leading to the Railway Station, together with several GRAND CORNER BLOCKS, suitable for BANKS, HOTELS, first-class stores, specially the lots—
Nos. 23, 24, 25 of section 2, having frontages to Station-street between the station and the Church of England grounds. And Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 of section 3, having frontages to Main and Station streets, No. 3 being the corner on the Great Southern Road.

THE VILLA SITES extend along the railway on both sides, with wide street frontages, those on the southern side possessing lovely gentle slopes rising toward the picturesque green hills and towering Gib, while those on the town side in the vicinity of the Church of England grounds have frontages to Church-street, Main-street, and the Bowral-road.
The rest of the land has been judiciously apportioned in blocks according to its position, and so arranged that a buyer may obtain a large area without intersecting streets. Amongst the lots to be offered will be included some of the unsold lots of the old township of New Sheffield, particulars of which, as well as of all the lots to be brought to the hammer, are fully set out on the plan, now open for inspection at the Rooms of the Auctioneers, where copies in lithograph may be obtained on application.

Adjoining the township on the western side is situated the BEST IRON MINE YET DISCOVERED IN AUSTRALIA,
on which vigorous operations are sure to be resumed at no distant date, and towards which negotiations are already in progress.

A FIRST-CLASS ROAD will be immediately opened from the Railway to Loseby's property, on the BONG BONG ROAD, thus opening direct and easy communication between the adjacent rich farm lands and the town, supplying a want long felt both by the farmers and residents of Mittagong.

This sale offers great advantages to investors for the immediate future, and why?
MITTAGONG is principally of good soil and admirably adapted for fruit-growing, many large orchards in the neighbourhood being a great success.

In MITTAGONG all the English and many tropical fruits flourish in abundance.

MITTAGONG and its environs enjoy, without doubt, the most delightful climate under the Southern Cross.

In MITTAGONG the mosquito is a stranger.

Around MITTAGONG the roads are in good order, with pleasant rides and drives in every direction. The FITZROY and MERYLA FALLS, and the grand spectacle of the MACQUARIE PASS within easy access.

MITTAGONG is only 77 miles distant from the metropolis, and no less than FOUR PASSENGER TRAINS to and from Sydney pass DAILY, with an additional one on Saturdays.

MITTAGONG passengers on arrival are home at once, while those bound for stations only a few minutes distance have to wait a weary 20 minutes while long-distance travellers take refreshments.

MITTAGONG'S atmosphere is health-restoring, invigorating—its elevation is 2069 feet above the sea, and for beauty of scenery, both bold and peaceful, can hardly be surpassed within the limits of New South Wales.

LOCKED up for about a quarter of a century, MITTAGONG land is now thrown open to Public Selection; the price per foot and per acre to be determined by competition on the 26th of April next.

Arrangements have already been concluded for a
to convey intending purchasers to the ground on the day of sale, for which tickets will be issued by the auctioneers in due time.

TERMS VERY LIBERAL, viz.:—10 per cent. cash deposit, 15 per cent. cash in three months without interest, and the balance by three promissory-notes at 1, 2, and 3 years' date bearing interest at the rate of 6 per centum per annum, no mortgage being required.

To purchasers of amounts of £500 and upwards arrangements will be made, if desired, to allow two-thirds of the purchase money to remain on mortgage for a term of 5 years, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly.

Refreshments will be provided on the ground.

Solicitors to the estate, Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Scarvell, Pitt-street.
Surveyors, Messrs. Atchison and Schleicher, 92, Pitt-street.

WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS.—The original genuine brand.

CHOICE SUGAR LAND, TWEED RIVER.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions from H. B. Montgomery, Esq., to sell by auction, AT THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, SYDNEY, on WEDNESDAY, the 9th APRIL, at 2.30 p.m.
1280 ACRES of PRODUCTIVE SCRUB LAND,
on the
Terranora Branch of the Tweed River.

This magnificent block of land has extensive frontage to the river, comprises rich volcanic soil, and is suitable for growing sugar cane, cereals, and fruit.
Particular attention is directed to the sale of this estate, as it is rarely possible to secure a block of such valuable land in a district which is justly termed
THE GARDEN OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The property is about four miles from the Tweed Heads, and not far from the well-known "Cudgen Estate."
There are several cottages on the land, and about 50 acres have been prepared, and are ready for planting with cane.
TERMS AT SALE.

BRUNKER and WOLFE, Auctioneers,
31, Hunter-street, Sydney; and High-street, West Maitland.

TO SMALL CAPITALISTS.

Compact New England Station,
BENDEMEER,
Embracing an Area of 10,000 Acres, more or less, of Well-grassed and Permanently-watered Land, together with 2680 mixed Sheep, 150 head of mixed Cattle, 20 head of Horses, Stores, and Working Plant.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEES.

BRUNKER and WOLFE have received instructions to sell by auction, at the Hall of Commerce, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 9th APRIL, 1884, at 2.30 p.m.,
All the right, title, and interest of the vendor to the Bendemeer Station, situate in the New England district, containing an area of about 10,000 acres of Crown land, together with 2680 mixed sheep
150 head quiet, well-bred cattle
20 head of horses, stores, and working plant.

The improvements consist of Dwelling-house, Outhouses, Yards, Paddocks, &c.

This compact little property is splendidly situated, well grassed, and permanently watered by the M'Donald River and other sources. The advantages which appertain to working fattening stations on the plains, in conjunction with New England properties, have been fully realised during the recent drought, and as Bendemeer is very lightly stocked, occupies a central position, and possesses many other qualifications which cannot be fairly described in an advertisement, it would certainly prove a valuable acquisition to the proprietor of a fattening station, and a sound investment to a small capitalist in quest of an easily-managed estate.

Terms at Sale.

Further particulars can be obtained on application to the auctioneers,

THE HELSARMEL ESTATE, LEICHHARDT.

Title, Torrens'.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions to sell by public auction, on the ground, SATURDAY, 19th APRIL,
The balance of the unsold lots in the Helsarmel Estate, Leichhardt.

Terms—10 per cent., and the balance extending over 3 years, at 6 per cent. interest.

BY ORDER of William Jones, Esq., of Bowral.

To GENTLEMEN desirous of securing an INEXPENSIVE COUNTRY RESIDENCE, together with healthy, invigorating, and profitable agricultural pursuits.

BOWRAL,
only three miles from the BOWRAL RAILWAY STATION, along a MACADAMISED ROAD.

A MOST COMPACT RESIDENTIAL ESTATE, known as MARY VALE, comprising a FIRST-CLASS FAMILY RESIDENCE, and 414 ACRES of RICH AGRICULTURAL LAND.

The Grass Lands throw off an abundance of sweet feeding grasses, whilst the arable, easily worked at all seasons, is most prolific.

THE RESIDENCE containing the following accommodation:—HALL 17 x 6, DRAWING-ROOM 22 x 18, DINING-ROOM 18 x 16, both fitted with fireplaces, ATTACHED BREAKFAST ROOM 15 x 13, Wine Closet and Pantry, FIVE GOOD BEDROOMS, Kitchen, Two Servant's Rooms, Scullery, Pantry, Ironing-room and Washhouse; a Verandah entirely surrounds the house. There is an OVERSEER'S COTTAGE of 4 rooms. THE FARM BUILDINGS comprise Fine Barn and Sheds, 14 Milking Bales, with Troughs, a 4-stall Stable with Loft over; also a Trainer's or Harness Room, Fowl, Duck, and Pig Houses, all covered with iron; Boiling-down, Dairy, Washing-up Room with copper, milk-cooler; a capital Well, 60 feet deep, supplied with a never-failing spring; force-pump, and every convenience for supplying the F. F. and Ice Company; Horseyard, with Bolt for branding cattle or catching colts, &c. There is also a most prolific Orchard, stocked with the choicest of Fruit Trees.

The LAND itself is of the richest possible character, the flats are black soil, over 16 feet in depth, the hills red loam, yielding to proper cultivation and in ordinary seasons 5 and 6 tons of potatoes to the acre; 200 acres are ready and fit for the plough. The permanent pasture is, generally speaking, good, and includes a considerable area of highly valuable meadow lands, producing herbage of a rich feeding character. There is an excellent supply of water from a creek, still running after six months' drought.

For situation, quality of land, and a combination of features essentially necessary to give character and value to a residential property, MARY VALE stands out as offering unusual attractions.

Take the property as a whole, it very strongly recommends itself as an investment for profitable occupation by a gentleman fond of farming and agricultural pursuits.

BATT, RODD, and PURVES have received instructions to sell the above estate by public auction, at their Rooms, 105, Pitt-street,
THIS (SATURDAY) AFTERNOON, 5th April, at 2 p.m.
TANNER'S GRANT is situated on the MAIN LIVERPOOL ROAD at BANKSTOWN, on the high land, commanding some of the loveliest views in the district.
It contains an area of about 50 ACRES, which has been subdivided on a liberal scale into 142 BLOCKS, none of which are less than a quarter of an acre, and having frontages to the Main LIVERPOOL ROAD and the AVENUE (80 feet wide).

The proposed RAILWAY Line from ST. PETERS to LIVERPOOL is surveyed RIGHT THROUGH THE PROPERTY.

TITLE, TORRENS' ACT.

Those who have saved or can spare a few pounds cannot do better than invest in an allotment on TANNER'S GRANT!
Just fancy what it will be worth when the RAILWAY is sanctioned!
Everyone will envy the FORTUNATE BUYERS THEN.

PLANS on APPLICATION to the Auctioneers.

SALE THIS AFTERNOON, at the Rooms, at 2 p.m.

NEXT TUESDAY, at 11.30 a.m.

NEXT TUESDAY, at 11.30 a.m.

POTTS POINT. POTTS POINT.

BIJOU VILLA RESIDENCE, with large DEEP WATER frontage.

BATT, RODD, and PURVES have been instructed by Edward French, Esq., who is about leaving for Europe, to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, 105, Pitt-street,
NEXT TUESDAY, 8th April, at 11.30 a.m.,
PRETTY detached WATER FRONTAGE villa residence, known as "GRANTHAMVILLE", containing hall, dining and drawing rooms, five bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen, servant's room, and numerous outoffices, verandah and enclosed balconies, VENETIAN BLINDS throughout, GAS and WATER LAID ON.
The LAND has a frontage of about 126 feet to the waters of WOOLLOOMOOLOO BAY, about half of which is reclaimed. The other half is beautiful SANDY BEACH. BOATHOUSE, with two docks for yachts, boats, &c.

The GROUNDS are well laid out in lawns, shrubbery, &c.; all the paths are asphalted, and the property has, moreover, a frontage to Grantham-street at rear.
TITLE FREEHOLD.
The PROPERTY will be sold without the furniture, which may, however, be taken at valuation; it is nearly new, and of the best and most tasteful description throughout.

YACHTS, BOATS, &c., all of which are of the most modern kind and well-selected, can be taken at valuation.

It is seldom an opportunity occurs for a gentleman to secure such a really valuable WATERSIDE RESIDENCE so close to the city, and in the immediate neighbourhood of the mansions of our wealthy citizens. The auctioneers have every confidence in recommending those in search of such a home to view the property prior to the sale.
Cards to view obtainable only from the auctioneers. (B. 138.)

TAMBAROORA.

SALE ON THE GROUND, THE HARGRAVES HOTEL, MUDGEE-ROAD, and other Freehold Property on the Mudgee-road, as below.

THOMAS PATEN has received instructions to sell by public auction, on the premises, on TUESDAY, 15th April, at 12 o'clock sharp,
THE HARGRAVES HOTEL, in the township of Tambaroora.
This valuable property is in one compact block containing 3 roods 29½ perches, having a frontage of 322½ links to the Mudgee-road, and bounded on the south by Bent-street 564½ links, and on the north by M'Manon-street 357¾ links, possessing the advantage of a great frontage to these three streets.
The HARGRAVES HOTEL contains a commodious bar and bar-parlour, a large public parlour, 12 bedrooms, kitchen, and two storerooms. Detached from the main building, a BRICK BILLIARD-ROOM with galvanised iron roof; a THREE-STALLED STABLE with loose box, built of slabs with bark roof; a Cart Shed and a Pigstye; also one Slab Cottage, with galvanised iron roof and verandah, containing 5 rooms.
Part of the land is laid out as a kitchen garden, in which there are also some choice fruit trees, the whole premises being enclosed by a substantial close fence 8 feet high, with one pair of gates.
These valuable premises were formerly the property of the late Lewis Clarke, and are now under lease to Mr. James Dagger at the very low rental of £26 per annum; but this lease expires about the 31st August next.

Immediately after the above will be sold Allotments 17 and 18 of section 8, containing 1 rood 19 perches, in the township of Tambaroora.
These two valuable lots are also in one block, having a frontage of 156½ links to Sofala-street and 126 links to the Mudgee-road, in the centre of the township. On these allotments are erected a slab and boarded front house with shingle roof, formerly a public-house, about 37 feet by 26 feet, containing 5 rooms, with bar and fittings, floored with pine and hardwood boards.

Detached are:—One long room, 17 feet by 35 feet, 9 feet high, with butcher's shop attached, 14 feet by 19 feet, shingle roof; one slab building, 30 feet by 13 feet, shingle roof, used as kitchen; one slab building, 35 feet by 13 feet, bark roof, formerly used as a bedroom, but now out of repair; one three-stall stable, with loose-box, 30 feet by 16 feet, 9 feet high, with loft—this is a very substantial building, built of sawn timber, red gum, with the exception of the corner and middle posts, front, back, ends, and divisions are of planking 2 x 8, 9 feet high, galvanised iron roof; one brick underground tank, 9 feet in diameter and 14 feet deep, in sound condition, with pump attached; also very substantial brick cottage, about 35 feet by 20 feet walls, 11 feet high, with 5 feet 6 inches verandah and galvanised iron roof containing 4 rooms, floor and ceiling of pine boards, walls plastered—this is a very substantial building, and is let at the low rent of 8s per month to Mr. Walpole, subject to a month's notice.
The whole premises are enclosed by a substantial close fence 9 feet high, with two pairs substantial gates. Title, Torrens' Act. Terms: Half cash, balance at 12 months, secured by mortgage of property, interest at 7 per cent.

MAGNIFICENT FATTENING STATION known as KIENGAL and WIELMORINGLE, Warrego District, New South Wales, with 45,000 Sheep
11,000 Cattle
Horses, Stores, &c.

GRIFFITHS and WEAVER have received instructions from the mortgagee to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 9th APRIL, 1884, at half-past 2 o'clock,
The Kiengal and Wielmoringle Stations, comprising about 437,000 acres of magnificent fattening country, consisting of rich saltbush plains and thickly grassed ridges.
The runs are intersected and permanently watered by the Culgoa, Birrie, and Barbur Creeks, and also fine springs.
These stations adjoin, and contain the same description of first-class country as Milroy, Talawanta, Bundabulla, Gnomery, and Brenda.
This magnificent property is situated within 50 miles of Brewarrina, but off the line of travelling stock to and from Queensland, and will be sold with the well-known choice herd of cattle numbering about 11,000 head, and 45,000 sheep, of which about 24,000 ewes will lamb April-May next.
The carrying capabilities of Kiengal and Wielmoringle are estimated at fully 250,000 to 300,000 sheep.
The improvements comprise two complete homesteads, stockyards, &c., &c., also about 168 miles of six and seven wire fencing, woolshed, large wool room, &c.
Capitalists in search of a sound remunerative investment are invited to have these properties inspected at once, as they are for positive and bona-fide sale, and offer unusual advantages, being absolutely free from encroachment by selectors, very lightly stocked, first-class country, well and permanently watered, and capable of almost unlimited development.
For plans and further particulars, apply to GRIFFITHS and WEAVER, Sydney.

W A R E H O U S E,
To LET,
with or without Option of Purchase, or for SALE,
COLLINS-STREET WEST,
MELBOURNE.

To Wool Warehousemen, Agency Companies, Grain Merchants, Syndicates, and Others.

The undersigned is instructed
To LET
that extensive property now in the occupation of the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, consisting of
OFFICES and DETACHED BUILDINGS, and embracing an area of over HALF AN ACRE OF LAND.

The premises consist of a massive two-story bluestone building in the very best part of Collins-street West, within a short distance of Spencer-street and Flinders-street railway-stations, and comprise a large warehouse, wool sorting and pressing rooms, auction room, counting-house, private offices, skin sheds, stables, outoffices, and all the appurtenances requisite for carrying on a most extensive business.

The facilities for the reception and delivery of wool, grain, and other merchandise are complete.

The land has a frontage of 66 feet to Collins-street by a depth right through to Little Collins-street, taking in also adjoining allotments, which open into lanes on both sides.

About one-quarter acre is unbuilt on, and is so situated that with a very small outlay a large amount of additional accommodation could be acquired.

Further particulars can be obtained from the undersigned, who will also receive applications.
